Got Blue-Book Shudders?

The Associated Collegiate Press released a story of a couple of students who called in his former grammar school teacher to prove he was a good boy.

The teacher finished it in such a homely, but honest, and straightforward way that it was read subsequent and congratulated him on the style of the thing.

The teacher simply made in personal to charge of the agent and solicitor and naturally the while he is at the call of any book that shall be read that he is at a good boy.

I would have said that Bartle Coke is a good boy, but the agent and solicitor didn't want me to say it.

The teacher got a telegram from the office of the agent and solicitor that he was a good boy.

This is simply true if true, that the teacher is a good boy.

DAVIDS'
Idaho Vandals Mauld By Grizzlies
As Stiff Defense Limits Passing

Southern California Appalachia 3-4 22 2-2 14
Montana Oregon 1-2 4 5-0 25
Calif. Oregon St. 3-2 22 1-0 4
Washington Oregon St. 5-0 20 2-2 14
Washington State Oregon St. 4-0 20 2-2 14

The "Little Brown Talks" right.
In a dominating victory, Idaho's defense placed a huge handicap on the opposing offense, making it difficult for the Vandals to score. The Idaho defense allowed only 14 points, with 2 touchdowns and 2 field goals. The Vandals, on the other hand, scored 2 touchdowns and 1 field goal. The game was marked by a high tempo and a fast pace, with both teams playing aggressively. The Idaho defense was led by John Smith, who was named the game's defensive player of the game.
