Politics On The Campus

"College days are the best days of a person's life," General Henry Whitney, head of the Pullman Company, told students at the annual meeting of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho, today. "But college is more than just an opportunity to relax and enjoy yourself. It is also a time for you to learn how to think, how to make decisions, and how to live your life." General Whitney's remarks were met with a standing ovation.

An article called "Politics On The Campus" by Dick Tracy was published in a local newspaper. In the magazine, speaking of campus political groups, Mr. Dick Tracy said: "Politics on campus is a serious matter. It involves the future of our country and our world. It is not about who is going to win the next election, but about what kind of future we want for ourselves and our children." The article went on to argue that students should be engaged in politics because it is their responsibility to shape the world that they will inherit.
