Dear Dean

North Park

This week was Forestry week and the Forestry Club was busier than usual. With the effort to bring the importance of the use of natural resources to the people of the state, the club carried out a series of programs. It was interesting to note that the forests and their management were the focus of many of the programs. The club also conducted a large number of programs for the public.

A forest resource yield model study was conducted in the state. This model helps in the estimation of the yield of the forest. It is a valuable tool for forest managers.

Sikorski, who teaches at the Idaho State University, mentioned that the model was developed by the Forest Service.

In the future, the club plans to continue to promote the importance of natural resources and the role of forests in our lives.

Sincerely,

Dean

Yellow Jacket' Ratham Barry

Last weekend's AEMU production was a huge success. The play was performed by the AEMU production team and the cast did an excellent job. The play was a reminder of the beauty of Chinese dance and music.

The play was directed by Jerry Yee, who is an expert in Chinese dance and music. Yee's direction was excellent and the cast performed with great skill.

A special thanks to the AEMU production team for their hard work and dedication.

Sincerely,

Barry

Thinclds Win Over OSC 67-64

Three Meet Records Fall In Neale Stadium Saturday

The University of Idaho track squad, featuring one of the nation’s top relays, captured its fifth straight win of the season. The team achieved this victory last Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Oregon State Beavers 67-64 in a match meet held at Neale Stadium.

The win, which completed the university’s regular season, was flavored also by the fact that three meet records fell. This was an impressive feat considering the high level of competition.
