Campus Turns Western At Cowpokes Ball Tonight

The glitz of Grambling State and the honky-tonk bash of the old West flashes over the campus tonight at the second annual Cowpokes Ball,地毯ized in $120,000 worth of entertainment. At 6:30, a stage is to be erected on the Student Union lawn, and a 40-piece band of the best Negro big bands in the country. Once in a lifetime, it is a real deal and a real performance.

William E. Chetwood Pledges Pet State

William Chetwood, who has been active in the state's political arena, has pledged his support to the University of Idaho. He promises to work towards the betterment of the institution and to ensure that it remains a beacon of excellence in the state.
DEAR JASON,

Editor's note: The Argonaut received the following letter from a student at the University of California at Los Angeles, who is a member of the staff of the student newspaper, the Daily Trojan.

The Argonaut was pleased to hear from a student of another university who is evidently a friend of ours.

We hope that the student will write us again soon.

Yours truly,

The Editor.
