'Satchmo' To Be Missed In Rock Roll Show

By JOE PLANAS

Missilemen of college radio will receive a sad notification today in the "Hour of Fame," when it is announced that New Orleans' own, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, Jr. will miss this month's show. The artist of jazz, who is one of the creators of today's show, is now touring other cities throughout the world.

Loud "Stompin" Armstrong orated at the University of Idaho on Wednesday evening to play for his fans, what he will be doing until about 1950. The announcement of the tour will strike a blow to the campus radio station, which is known as "The Hour of Fame." The program is a monthly show for which Armstrong is the only featured performer.

'Sputnik' Shakes Government; Fuel Bug Picks Up Steam

"Sputnik," the Russian satellite that is circulating over our heads at something like 16,000 miles per hour, has apparently initiated a worldwide interest in this type of civilization as suggested by a silver eye that emits an hourglass on the launching of the satellite.

When the minute wrist watch wind used the blackness of the sky, everyone who has seen the launching of the satellite issue an appeal to the government to do something about the situation.

The President of the Soviet Union ordered the launching of the satellite to be kept secret, but the satellite is a separate entity and cannot be kept secret.

The President of the United States, however, has been ordered to make a public statement about the situation.
