Parties! What CRAZY Parties!

Finally! Coed Weederburners Get Their Library Smoker

University officials unexpectedly agreed last week to build a new library smoker for a group of coed weederburners who had complained to the administration about the opening of the new library's smoke-free section. The University spokesman said, "The new library smoker is a great addition to the University's facilities and expresses our commitment to providing all students with the opportunity to smoke in a convenient location."

The new structure is planned for smoke-free facilities only. It's a true haven for the students who want to smoke. It not only provides a safe haven for the students but it also shows our commitment to providing all students with the opportunity to smoke in a convenient location."

Pretty Placed

Women can be seen moving about the more, but felt pretty placed. They decided they were looking for the best place to sit and smoke.

Their Place To Sit And Smoke

Ending a drawn-out political controversy, campus smoke finally got its much-desired smoking room last week. University officials placed the building in a convenient location near the library as the women wished, but in one gas said, "They may have had a little too economically.

KOUU Ups Waits To Broadcast Noise

KOUU, the Voice of the Wand, will not be the National Broadcasting Co. for a broadcast of the "Great White North" series when Bill Buckmaster, station manager, recently said.

"This is rather surprising news for us," said Buckmaster. "We had expected to be the first to broadcast this series, but it seems that we will not be." Buckmaster said that in the future, the university will consider other options for broadcasting the series.

The university, however, was pleased with the recent decision to broadcast the series on a different station, which Buckmaster said would allow for a "better quality broadcast." Buckmaster said that the university had been working closely with the station to ensure that the broadcast was of the highest quality.

"We are excited to be able to provide our students with the opportunity to listen to this series," said Buckmaster. "We have always been proud of our ability to provide high-quality programming for our students, and this series is no exception." Buckmaster said that the university was looking forward to future opportunities to work with the station to bring more quality programming to the university.

Glorious Student Politics In Mess

Minor Cogners, Demos Plan Jonning Meet

Excited members of Young Democrats, submitted their request for permission to hold a political meeting on campus. The university, however, has not yet approved the request.

"We believe that it is important for students to have the opportunity to engage in political activities on campus, and we support the efforts of Young Democrats," said the university spokesman. "However, we must ensure that all activities on campus are conducted in a safe and respectful manner." The university spokesman said that the request for permission to hold a political meeting will be reviewed soon.

Take Home Parking Lot

Creating that "weberburners" is the title of the new political coalition that is being formed on campus. The coalition, called the "weberburners," is being formed in reaction to the recent decision by the university to ban smoking on campus.

"We believe that it is important for students to have the opportunity to smoke on campus," said the university spokesman. "We also believe that this decision is not in the best interests of the university." The university spokesman said that the decision was made after careful consideration of all factors.

The university has also announced that a new parking lot will be available for students who wish to bring their cars to campus.

Tea Cannon Fired

Shot Blows Hole In Music Building

A shot was fired into the music building on campus last week, causing a hole to be blown in the wall. The building was not occupied at the time of the incident.

A quick call to the Music Building supervisor revealed that the first floor of the building had been vacated due to a power outage, and that the second floor was currently unoccupied. The supervisor said that the building would be monitored for any further incidents.

"The building was not occupied at the time of the incident," said the supervisor. "We are currently investigating the matter, and will be taking steps to ensure the safety of our students and faculty." The supervisor said that the building would be monitored for any further incidents.

Rotaries To Shoot Missiles Up, Down

A group of students has announced that they plan to shoot missiles up and down the campus in the near future. The group said that they believe this will help to improve campus morale and alleviate stress.

"We believe that by shooting missiles up and down the campus, we can help to improve campus morale and alleviate stress," said the group. "We also believe that this will be a fun and exciting way to spend our time on campus." The group said that they plan to shoot the missiles throughout the week, and will be monitoring the area for any potential hazards.

"We will be careful to ensure that our activities do not pose any risk to the safety of others," said the group. "We will also be respectful of the property of others, and will take steps to ensure that our activities do not cause any damage." The group said that they plan to continue their activities throughout the week.

"We believe that by shooting missiles up and down the campus, we can help to improve campus morale and alleviate stress," said the group. "We also believe that this will be a fun and exciting way to spend our time on campus." The group said that they plan to shoot the missiles throughout the week, and will be monitoring the area for any potential hazards.

"We will be careful to ensure that our activities do not pose any risk to the safety of others," said the group. "We will also be respectful of the property of others, and will take steps to ensure that our activities do not cause any damage." The group said that they plan to continue their activities throughout the week.
The Idaho Corncob

A SOLDIERS’ SONG

The Idaho Army ROTC unit repelled an attack of late WSSU student battalion while the Corporals and officers of the unit prepared for the 10th annual ROTC dinner and parade. The unit, led by Colonel E. J. Jones, was engaged in a fierce battle in the streets of downtown Boise. After several hours of intense fighting, the unit emerged victorious, securing the city for the people of Boise.

Forward Look-Engs Launch Missouricase

COUP CABRAS, IDA. (OGM) — The volunteer student body president, Martin J. Smith, announced that the student body will conduct a week-long public relations campaign to bring attention to the ongoing war.
Acquisitions Aimed At Athletic Dept.

20 California Sportswriters Cry Wolf

Just a week after the San Francisco press conference where the Athletic Department announced that the $50 million appropriations bill for the University of California was being enhanced, California sportswriters may be on the verge of being called in. They are taking a cue from the New York Times, which reported that an increased $4 million was to be spent on the Athletic Department next season, which means that a new athletic director will be hired, who will be paid $50,000.

The Department of Athletics is expected to announce its choice for the new athletic director at a press conference on Thursday, and it is expected that the athletic budget will be raised by $2 million.

The sportswriters are not happy with the athletic budget. They feel that the Athletic Department is not spending enough money on the athletic programs.

Some sportswriters feel that the athletic programs are not being properly run. They believe that the Athletic Department should be more accountable for the money that is spent on the athletic programs.

The sportswriters are also concerned about the safety of the athletes. They believe that the Athletic Department should be doing more to ensure the safety of the athletes.

The sportswriters are hoping that the new athletic director will be able to address these concerns.

Caught In The Act

The above picture was run by southern California newspapers with the above title yesterday. It shows Idaho track coach Moe Standards (fast and cigarette) apparently writing letters to Moe Standards' secretary and manager. The picture was snapped by a photographer with the consent of the state.

Florists

This was the situation in the Athletic Department when the football team was launched. It was decided that the football team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.

The football team was given a $5 million budget, and it was decided that the team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.

Moe Standards was paid $50,000 per year, and it was decided that the team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.

Moe Standards was given complete control of the football team, and it was decided that the team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.

Moe Standards was given complete control of the football team, and it was decided that the team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.

Moe Standards was given complete control of the football team, and it was decided that the team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.

Moe Standards was given complete control of the football team, and it was decided that the team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.

Moe Standards was given complete control of the football team, and it was decided that the team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.

Moe Standards was given complete control of the football team, and it was decided that the team would be run by Moe Standards, who had been the athletic director for 20 years.
Today's Events

Bowl every day—Why many men choose to smoke while they're indoors.

Today's Forecast

- High: 85°F
- Low: 60°F

Today's Weather Background

- Humidity: 54%
- Wind: 10 mph, ENE

Today's Highlights

- Sports: Baseball, football, basketball, tennis, track
- Entertainment: Concerts, plays, movies
- Social: Clubs, parties, meetings

Today's Specials

- Food: At the local diner, try the new lunch special—grilled chicken salad for $5.99!
- Drinks: Enjoy a free glass of house wine with any entrée at the downtown restaurant.

Today's Tips

- Health: Stay hydrated today with plenty of water—carry a reusable water bottle.
- Safety: Be aware of your surroundings, especially in public places.
- Finance: Consider setting a budget for your daily expenses to avoid overspending.

Today's Quotes

- "Today is the first day of the rest of your life." —Jonathan Mintz

Today's Horoscope

- Aries: Focus on your creativity today, and don't be afraid to express yourself.
- Taurus: Keep your promises, and you'll find that people trust you more.
- Gemini: Your communication skills shine today, so make the most of it.

Today's Joke

Why did the tomato turn red?

Because it saw the salad dressing!