400 Dads Brave Chilly Weather

Approximately 400 dads drove from as far away as New Jersey on cars parked at the annual Dad's Day festivities, reported Bill Hill, father of Todd, a member of Beta Theta Pi. In addition to being a huge community service event, Dad's Day preceded the annual University-wide Chili Cook-Off, sponsored by the Interfraternity Council.

The two events were chaired by a team of volunteer dads, who were responsible for setting up the entire event. The volunteers were also assisted by the student volunteers, who helped to prepare the food and set up the tents.

The event was held at the University's Powerhouse, where the food was served. The food was an array of chili dishes, including bean, vegetable, and beef varieties. The dishes were judged by a panel of judges, who were assisted by the volunteers.

The event was well-attended, with more than 400 dads, including students and alumni, attending. The event was a great success, and the volunteers were praised for their hard work and dedication.

The clinic provided free medical care to anyone who needed it, regardless of their ability to pay.

The American Heart Association sponsored the clinic, which was held in conjunction with National Heart Health Month.

The clinic was a success, and the organizers were pleased with the turnout.

The next clinic is scheduled for March 5th, and the organizers are hoping to see even more patients.

A Look At Winter

It was a while coming, but winter has arrived at Idaho. And from the looks of things, it may stay as long as 1956, pay only a brief visit as it usually does.

For anyone who attended the Idaho-Idaho State football game in Moscow last fall, the weather will likely be a surprise. The game was supposed to be a trueDino Winter, but that didn't happen. The weather was more like a mild spring day, with temperatures in the upper 50s.

Winter will bring its own set of challenges, but for now, it's time to enjoy the traditional winter activities.

The Skyline View

The curriculum in the final quarter of the 1950 football season Saturday afternoon in Moscow Stadium when the University of Idaho Vandalies closed the year with a second place finish in the Great Northern Conference.

But there's still time remaining on the pigskin throne as to what the Pacific Coast Conference or any other league has to offer the school in the coming years. As it stands now, Idaho is losing the PCC and could be starting at the start of next year's season.

We find it interesting how the Vandalies finished the season with the PCC. It could have been the Skyline Conference.

In past years, the team has had a good record compared with the University of Idaho. However, they have gained a national reputation in the PCC and could be in the Skyline Conference.

Their job wouldn't be easy though. Their record has been excellent. But this is what we're used to seeing at the University of Idaho. These are the results:

- A group of 237 students—roughly 10 percent of the student body—have received a statement that they will be required to attend supplements of their meals because of the meal plan system.

Dad's Day Fills Weekend Schedule; ATO's Plan Dance

by Shamon Lance

The campus, too, was blooming this weekend. Dad's Day on Saturday and Mother's Day on Sunday brought a festival of flowers, music, and special events to the campus.

On Saturday, the annual Dad's Day celebration was held, featuring a variety of events and performances. The day kicked off with a breakfast served by the ATO fraternity. The event was well-attended, with many groups vying for seating.

Luncheon was served at 12:30 p.m., and the ATO members then gathered for a dance in the evening at 8 p.m. The dance was held in the Tabor Union and featured music by the campus band.

For Mother's Day, the campus was bustling with activity. In the morning, there was a special service at the campus chapel, followed by a brunch served by the campus dining halls. Afternoon events included a garden tour and a workshop on flower arranging.

In the evening, the campus orchestra performed a concert in the Tabor Union, featuring a variety of classical music. The concert was well-received by the audience, who showed their appreciation with a standing ovation.

The weekend concluded with a Sunday morning service at the campus chapel, followed by a special breakfast for all the mothers on campus. The event was a touching way to celebrate the contributions of moms everywhere.

Vandals Romp To Win; Norton Runs 99 Yards

Christmas came early for Idaho fans last weekend as quick-hitting Vandals posted a 29-13 victory over the Mountain West Conference's most successful team, Utah State, to improve to 6-1-1, 3-0 in the conference.

Clipping onto Utah State's coat tails, the Vandals ran all over the Aggies, who entered the game with more yardage and points than any other team in the conference. The Aggies had scored all but one touchdown last week, but today the Vandals limited Aggie yardage to 209, and missed 10 points.

Norton's most impressive run was of 99 yards. He got the ball at the Idaho 40 and spun off the end to the Idaho 29. From there he ran hard, breaking four tackles, and put six on his hip before being taken down at the Idaho 3, 99 yards from the end zone. Norton's total for the day was 114 yards on 16 carries.

Cromer, the Vandals' fullback, was outstanding in the running game, gaining 91 yards on 10 carries, and scoring a touchdown on a 17-yard run.

The Vandals' defense was well disciplined and well coached, keeping Utah State's young quarterback in check. The Aggies were unable to get their star running back, Charlie Beck, out of the backfield, and he was limited to 73 yards on 23 carries.

The Vandals' next game is at home against California, who is 8-3 for the season, and is currently ranked 14th in the national polls.

Fast Duck Team Distance Outruns Vandals Harriers

While Idaho's defense was dominating, its offense was just as impressive. The Vandals scored 29 points, led by Norton's 99-yard run, and finished with 291 total yards on 34 carries. Utah State, on the other hand, managed only 67 yards on 15 carries.

The Vandals' quarterback, Kyle Olin, had a field day against the Aggies' defense, completing 17 of 24 passes for 200 yards and two touchdowns. His backup, Gary Glander, was equally effective, completing 4 of 7 passes for 171 yards and a touchdown.

The Vandals' defense was led by Norton, who had 11 tackles, and Cromer, who had 10 tackles. The Aggies were held to just 250 yards of total offense, and were forced to punt three times.

The Vandals' next game is against California, who is 8-3 for the season, and is currently ranked 14th in the national polls.
