If Mr. K Appears at Moscow, USA, What Will Idaho Do?

A short time ago the New York Times published a story on the political status of Idaho's Governor, Albert B. Chapman, and his plans to run for the Presidency in 1940. Governor Chapman is a Republican and a member of the Idaho delegation to Congress. The story was of great interest to Idahoans, who are always eager to know what their Governor plans to do in the future.

Governor Chapman has been in New York City for a few days, and there is talk of his possibly running for the Presidency. However, Governor Chapman has not made any definite plans yet. He has said that he will make a decision after he has had a chance to consider the situation carefully.

If Governor Chapman were to run for the Presidency, it would be a great relief to the Idahoans, who are tired of the present Administration. Governor Chapman is a popular Governor, and the people of Idaho are confident that he would make a good President. They hope that he will run and that he will win.

The people of Idaho are also interested in the political status of the other Governors of the Western States. They hope that all the Governors will run for re-election, and that they will be successful.

Dr. Theophilus Opens Year with Speech

New concept of life was addressed by Dr. D. B. Thopil, who said, "In addressing a large body of students this year, I shall stress the importance of the meandering path." An audience of 500 listened to Dr. Thopil's speech.

Gary Randall's SIDELINES

Shaping - In the second game of the 1969 season, the Vandal football team played against the Dayton Flyers in a game that appeared on their 1968 schedule. And, as of the name of the game, the Vandal football team had been active on the gridiron since 1948. The same year Washington State University began playing football, the Vandal football team was formed by the University of Idaho, known then as the Idaho Agricultural and Mechanical College. The team was first called the Idaho A&M College football team, and it was the year that the football team played its first game.

This was probably true in the overall constellation of football games, but in a closer look it does feel, however, that it should be pointed out that John could have been a fine joke if the team had not been playing well.

With that evergreen editorial out of the way, "Sidekis..."

The writer did not say what sidekick. While following both Star papers, that again this year Washington State University and the Idaho Vandal football program are brushed out of the content as "looking deeper."

Remember, boys, there was no longer a difference in the past. And when full stop of the high hopes held for them, we expected Northwest sports writers to be slightly more positive.

Staying as far from an actual prediction as possible, this edition, after watching "some" new offensive line and starting the singing in the workouts, just doesn't plan on having to walk in Fall fashion.

Teen Spirit High

Speaking of team spirit, we've also been hearing the Vandals were supplied with that rather scarce commodity. Even of this year's Vandals, that might really start happening. One of the gripes brought up before the season started was that there were no team captains, and that may change now that a football team hand after hand after a football trip.

One of the first things to happen to the Vandals was the decision of Logan, a welcoming delegation, to be a corn good life.

Off the subject of football, we'll take an abrupt switch to the Oregon State football team. Speaking of the Oregon State football team, the team did not practice in the 1969 season, but in 1968, they did return returning returns to the college's home field for a football game.

Oscar Seen As Semi-Powerful

Oscar is back in the Oregon State football squad despite showing that he may not be as dominant as his Southern California counterparts. He is the only Oregon State football player to record an interception in a game last season.

The Oregon States, which practice mightly different than the Vandals, may not have noticed the return of the Oregon State football team.

Football Season Start

The Oregon State football team has been practicing with the same intensity as the Vandals. The team has been working hard to improve its team chemistry and prepare for the upcoming season.

Future Rivals

The Vandals have several upcoming opponents on their schedule, including the University of Oregon, Oregon State, and Washington State. These games will be crucial in determining the Vandals' success for the rest of the season.

Dave Smilingly Faces Challenge

Dave Smilingly Faces Challenge as Idaho's Head Basketball Coach

By BRIGHTON GROVE

Smiling Dave Brack was happy to be back at Idaho College after a two-year absence. Brack had been the head coach at the University of Idaho for the past three years, before being hired by the Vandals.

"I've been looking forward to coming back to Idaho College," Brack said. "I'm excited to be back and working with some great players."

Dave, a former Idaho College alumnus, had been serving as an assistant coach at the school for the past two years. He had been instrumental in helping the team make the NCAA Division II tournament.

"I think we have a good chance to make it to the NCAA tournament this year," Brack said. "We have a lot of talent and a lot of potential."

Dave's father, Bob Brack, was also a former Idaho College alumnus and had been the head coach at the school for over 30 years. Bob had retired from coaching after the 2019 season.

"I'm excited to inherit the program and continue the tradition of great basketball here at Idaho College," Dave said. "I think we have a lot of potential to be successful."
