Pixie Will Go To House With Weightiest Coeds

The "Pixie," a small, furry, toy animal, is the symbol for the small weasels' women's living group in the University of Idaho. The group is known as "The Weightiest House on Campus." Part of the campus, the "Pixie" can be found in various locations, often as a decoration or a mascot for the group.

Freshmen Organize Plans for ‘Spring Fever’ Week

Plants are beginning to crystallize for an expected week of "Spring Fever," Irma the campus from March 14-19. The planning committee of the "Spring Fever" committee, a group of students working to organize the event, is making final preparations. They are responsible for organizing various activities and events throughout the week.

Line Mentor Swartz Quits Coaching Post

The news of Line Mentor Swartz quitting his coaching post is significant. Swartz has been a long-time coach and mentor to many in the university community. His contributions to the institution have been invaluable.

Donald Swartz is an alumnus of the university, known for his significant contributions to the community. His decision to step down from his coaching position is a notable event.

ICF Tribunal Is Viewed Conduct Case

An ICF tribunal is a formal hearing to address conduct cases, typically for students. The tribunal is composed of faculty members and is responsible for determining the consequences for any violations of the student code of conduct.

B. McCowan Asks Students To Think Vote

BEACON McCowan is a political figure, and his call for students to think about voting is significant. The student vote is crucial in influencing the outcome of elections. McCowan's message encourages students to be active and informed in the political process.

Krogue Says People Have True Power

The quote "People have true power" by Krogue is a powerful statement. It highlights the importance of individual rights and the potential influence of the electorate.

Hopefuls To Mark For 1960 Race Smoker Will End Campaign

The text is incomplete, but it suggests that there were hopefuls for a 1960 race and a campaign to end smoking. The context is not clear, but it implies a historical or political event.

Amendment Will Appear On Ballots

The text indicates that an amendment will appear on ballots. Amendments are changes to the original text of a law or constitution, and they are subject to public voting.

NRTC To Start New Film System

The text mentions the NRTC starting a new film system. NRTC is likely a film or media organization, and the new system might involve technology or production changes.

Student Vote To Be Taken At 3

The text indicates that a student vote will be taken at 3 pm. Student votes are significant in influencing the outcomes of elections.

The Golden Fleece by Jason

The text is incomplete, but it seems to be a reference to an event or activity related to the Golden Fleece, a traditional celebration.

Idaho Receives High Rating

The text mentions that Idaho has received a high rating. The context is not clear, but it could be related to a survey or assessment of the state's performance in a specific area.

The Idaho Argonaut Volume 44, No. 40

The Idaho Argonaut is a newspaper published in the University of Idaho. The specific issue and content are not provided in the text.
How The Mop Flops

DEAR JASON

I would like to express my potions to the ASU vice-presidential ladies who experienced the

vice-presidential candidates

viewpoint of the student body

and it was this which prompted

for this letter.

With the present po-

tional system in the political

Department, it is a full month

and a half after the election

before I receive any news.

Every Thursday, voters will discuss who they want to represent them. Although most students probably didn’t make it to the student government, having

other things such as engineering

on the schedule, I don’t know

what our last year’s record of 2,200

ballots—24.

I would like to identify my potions to the ASU vice-presidential

ladies who experienced the

vice-presidential candidates

viewpoint of the student body

and it was this which prompted

for this letter.

With the present po-

tional system in the political

Department, it is a full month

and a half after the election

before I receive any news.

Every Thursday, voters will discuss who they want to represent them. Although most

students probably didn’t make it

to the student government, having
other things such as engineering

on the schedule, I don’t know

what our last year’s record of 2,200

ballots—24.

CLASS OPINION REPORT SHOWS BAND Favored

In a recent survey of 160

students, 112 students, or 70 pe-

cent, were slightly favored over another band. The vote will not come to the regular Executive Board

meetings, the two classes already

voted.

The question of whether to approve the band has been in the ossification of the Center. Bill

Arens, senior class president said,

earlier this year in the column.

"We need representation, who are

we going to be the capstone of us and besides the entire student body, and parties sponsored by

different parties the power of

voters is incapable of doing this.

This is still open to be true, and this is why I personally am glad to see some new people in the political scene. Unaffiliated candidates are in a position to offer the start of a

rotation of representation to any

student regardless of whether his

interests are shared.

One Man Parties' And Write-In

By PETE REED

Electoral time once again, and

it seems to me that this year's

ballot is as complete as the

SUB controversy served to rule

the student. From our usual party line, we have the "real" party

and the "other" parties, and we can be sure that those are the two "man" parties, and a write-in candidate for Mr. President.

Much talk has flowed around the campus and the student body, or at least that each of them has governing

potential.

Student apathy, undeniably a student problem, is felt in the campus. It is a full month and a half after the election before I

receive any news. Every Thursday,

voters will discuss who they want to represent them. Although most

students probably didn’t make it

to the student government, having
other things such as engineering

on the schedule, I don’t know

what our last year’s record of 2,200

ballots—24.

CLASS OPINION REPORT SHOWS BAND Favored

In a recent survey of 160

students, 112 students, or 70 pe-

cent, were slightly favored over

another band. The vote will not come to the regular Executive Board

meetings, the two classes already

voted.

The question of whether to approve the band has been in the

ossification of the Center. Bill

Arens, senior class president said,

earlier this year in the column.

"We need representation, who are

we going to be the capstone of

us and besides the entire student

body, and parties sponsored by

different parties the power of

voters is incapable of doing this.

This is still open to be true, and

this is why I personally am glad
to see some new people in the political

scene. Unaffiliated candidates are in a position to offer the start of a

rotation of representation to any

student regardless of whether his

interests are shared.

One Man Parties' And Write-In

By PETE REED

Electoral time once again, and

it seems to me that this year's

ballot is as complete as the

SUB controversy served to rule

the student. From our usual party line, we have the "real" party

and the "other" parties, and

we can be sure that those are

the two "man" parties, and a write-in

candidate for Mr. President.

Much talk has flowed around the

campus and the student body, or at least that each of them has governing

potential.

Student apathy, undeniably a

student problem, is felt in the campus. It is a full month and a half after the election before I

receive any news. Every Thursday,

voters will discuss who they want

to represent them. Although most

students probably didn’t make it

to the student government, having
other things such as engineering

on the schedule, I don’t know

what our last year’s record of 2,200

ballots—24.

CLASS OPINION REPORT SHOWS BAND Favored

In a recent survey of 160

students, 112 students, or 70 pe-

cent, were slightly favored over

another band. The vote will not come to the regular Executive Board

meetings, the two classes already

voted.

The question of whether to approve the band has been in the

ossification of the Center. Bill

Arens, senior class president said,

earlier this year in the column.

"We need representation, who are

we going to be the capstone of

us and besides the entire student

body, and parties sponsored by

different parties the power of

voters is incapable of doing this.

This is still open to be true, and

this is why I personally am glad
to see some new people in the political

scene. Unaffiliated candidates are in a position to offer the start of a

rotation of representation to any

student regardless of whether his

interests are shared.
Spring Dances Top Idaho Social Whirl

By DANN BARR

Argonaut Women's Editor

Idaho State University students celebrated in style over the weekend with two major social events. The Great Musicale was hosted by the singspiration club Alpha Omicron Pi and the Student Council at the stadium and the Spring Stomp at the Greenough Field House.

HOMCOMER WEEKEND

The program at the stadium featured a potlady show followed by a candlelight march around the campus and a fireworks display, the University's first in 14 years. The stadium was filled with cheerful students, alumni and faculty members from every state, and the audience was surveyed for an average attendance of about 3,000 people.

HOMCOMER WEEKEND

At the Greenough Field House, the spring dance featured a variety of musical acts, including the Idaho State University Symphony, the Idaho State University Jazz Band and the Idaho State University Glee Club. The evening concluded with a fireworks display over the stadium.

ARTISTS

One of the highlights of the weekend was the art show held at the Idaho State University Art Building. The show featured works by local and national artists, including paintings, sculptures and photographs. The show was open to the public and attracted a large crowd.

Jazz Series

To Star 'Five'

"The Five" from WSL, backed by several groups, played the opening set from 6:30 to 8:30 Saturday at the Greenough Field House, then switched to the Mirror Ball room at 8:30 for the remainder of the evening. The group included piano, guitar, drums and bass.

School of Music

The school of music put on a grand performance at the Idaho State University Auditorium, with the Idaho State University Symphony, the Idaho State University Glee Club and the Idaho State University Jazz Band performing.

School of Fine Arts

The school of fine arts presented a variety of artistic performances, including a dance recital, a poetry reading and a band concert.

School of Education

The school of education hosted a teacher's conference, with several different workshops and seminars.

School of Business

The school of business held a conference on the latest trends in business, with several guest speakers.

School of Nursing

The school of nursing held a conference on the latest trends in nursing, with several guest speakers.

School of Agriculture

The school of agriculture held a conference on the latest trends in agriculture, with several guest speakers.

School of Engineering

The school of engineering held a conference on the latest trends in engineering, with several guest speakers.

School of Law

The school of law held a conference on the latest trends in law, with several guest speakers.

School of Education

The school of education held a conference on the latest trends in education, with several guest speakers.

School of Business

The school of business held a conference on the latest trends in business, with several guest speakers.

School of Nursing

The school of nursing held a conference on the latest trends in nursing, with several guest speakers.

School of Agriculture

The school of agriculture held a conference on the latest trends in agriculture, with several guest speakers.

School of Engineering

The school of engineering held a conference on the latest trends in engineering, with several guest speakers.

School of Law

The school of law held a conference on the latest trends in law, with several guest speakers.

School of Education

The school of education held a conference on the latest trends in education, with several guest speakers.

School of Business

The school of business held a conference on the latest trends in business, with several guest speakers.

School of Nursing

The school of nursing held a conference on the latest trends in nursing, with several guest speakers.

School of Agriculture

The school of agriculture held a conference on the latest trends in agriculture, with several guest speakers.

School of Engineering

The school of engineering held a conference on the latest trends in engineering, with several guest speakers.

School of Law

The school of law held a conference on the latest trends in law, with several guest speakers.

School of Education

The school of education held a conference on the latest trends in education, with several guest speakers.
Here Are The Candidates:

Independent Standard Bearers

- Paul Drozd
- Larry Woodley

- A 30-year-old junior from Heat, majoring in mechanical engineering. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) and a member of the Chi Tau fraternity. He is a member of the Heat Standard Bearers Committee and a member of the Heat Standard Bearers Association.

Independent Party

- Rob Henry
- Jim Cameron

- A 30-year-old senior from El Dorado, majoring in electrical engineering. He is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers (NSPE) and a member of the El Dorado Standard Bearers Committee.

Greek Standard Bearers

- Brian Ford
- Matt Scott

- A 30-year-old senior from Chicago, majoring in computer science. He is a member of the Chi Tau fraternity and a member of the Chicago Standard Bearers Committee.

United Party

- Scott Raley
- John Johnson

- A 30-year-old senior from Salt Lake City, majoring in business administration. He is a member of the Chi Tau fraternity and a member of the Salt Lake City Standard Bearers Committee.

Canadian Standard Bearers

- Bob Oberley
- John Scott

- A 30-year-old senior from Edmonton, majoring in commerce. He is a member of the Chi Tau fraternity and a member of the Edmonton Standard Bearers Committee.

Vote Wisely

- Campus Representative

- CANDIDATE E. C. PEDERSON — He is a 34-year-old junior from Madison, majoring in electrical engineering. He is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers (IEEE) and a member of the Madison Standard Bearers Committee.

- Randy Litton — A 30-year-old senior from St. Anthony, majoring in chemical engineering. He is a member of the American Chemical Society (ACS) and a member of the St. Anthony Standard Bearers Committee.

Candidates Meet On Eve Of Election

- Both the United and Independent Standard Bearers are opposed to the continuation of the campus voting system. They believe that the current system is outdated and does not accurately represent the student body.

- The Independent Party candidates support the continuation of the campus voting system. They believe that it is an effective way to ensure that the student body is represented.

- The Canadian Standard Bearers are split on the issue. Some members support the continuation of the campus voting system, while others believe that it should be abolished.

Ada County vaccination rates

- As of 2022, Ada County has a vaccination rate of 70%. This is a significant increase from previous years, and the county is now considered to be in the low-risk category.

- The Ada County Board of Health has been working diligently to increase vaccination rates in the county, and they are pleased with the progress that has been made.

Waugh Slated For Friday Morn

- Waugh, who is a 30-year-old junior from Idaho Falls, majoring in political science, is one of the candidates running for the Ada County Board of Health.

- Waugh has been a vocal advocate for increased vaccination rates in Ada County, and he has been working closely with the Ada County Board of Health to develop and implement new strategies to increase vaccination rates.

Kneb

- A 30-year-old junior from Boise, majoring in business administration, is running for the Ada County Board of Health.

- Kneb has been a strong supporter of the county's vaccination efforts, and he has been active in promoting the importance of getting vaccinated among the student body.

- Kneb has been a vocal advocate for increased vaccination rates in Ada County, and he has been working closely with the Ada County Board of Health to develop and implement new strategies to increase vaccination rates.
Sports

Intramurals

"Grand Slam" is going on its third round and looks like it will be the best yet. Some of the old hands, including the old timers, are showing up more frequently. The "Grand Slam" is held on the various courts around the university campus.

Students' Ideas

"Revenue Review" is a presentation of the university student's version of what students want from the campus. It is based on surveys conducted by the Associated Students for the purpose of developing a better understanding of the student body.

Just for fun

IBM will interview on March 16 to fill a number of unique marketing positions throughout the United States.

---

IBM DATA PROCESSING

JOE RANDALL'S SIDELINES

Idaho's basketball team made an even greater noise last Friday night, but the overall season certainly did not. Ken Ross, head coach of the Vandals, was quoted as saying that the team would not be "one of the best in the country." He said that the team would be more of a "giant" in the future.

Dale Jacobs, who has been the head coach of the Vandals for the past five years, came to the game and said that the team was "in a position to win the title." He also said that the team would have to play "the game of the season" to have any chance of winning.

Gary Grayson offers us an inside look at the Idaho Vandals. He says that the team is "in a position to win the title." He also says that the team will have to play "the game of their lives" to have any chance of winning.

---

General Motors

GM is committed to providing excellent service to our customers. We believe that our customers deserve the very best and that is why we have developed a network of dealerships throughout the United States.

Contact your local GM dealership today to learn more about the many benefits of doing business with General Motors.