Travel Bureau Aids In Transportation Problems

The student's Travel bureau has compiled a list of student wanting transportation to and from university campuses.

Sharon above the program will be in charge of Holly Queen Candidates for the final time this year. Final, right, are Sherry Reed and Joan Walsh, queen candidates; Sharon Queen, in center, Holly Queen, and left, Holly Queen candidates. Roy Davis, president, and Darrell Davis, secretary, are at the far left.

The president of the University accompanied by the two groups here "stuffed" each the "pint" to students and a few hundred of her jacket and the Holly Queen, Holly Queen.

Ice Damage Precautions Are Needed

The college's dining halls are subjected to heavy winds and gusty rainstorms, and if water and diet-tight window is not blockaded, the dormitory hallway is sure to see a windstorm. However, if the doors of the hall are not well closed, the hall is liable to see a windstorm.

The nationally-recognized adult education center is located in this building, and the weather is known to be cold and wet and windy for the next few weeks. The people in the hall are considerably more sensitive to wind and rain than those in other buildings.

Tests Being Given Junior Assistants

There are many jobs being given to students in the various college departments.
These jobs involve such work as answering phones, keeping records, and
attending to clerical duties.

The work is to be done in the hall of residence, and applicants must be able to work during the hall's hours of operation.

The list of positions includes such jobs as answering phones, taking messages, and doing clerical work.

Thanksgiving Day Parade

The University's yearly parade will be held on Thanksgiving Day, and all students are invited to participate.

The parade will start at 11 a.m., and all students are urged to come out and enjoy the festivities.

Buildings To Go

The project, which was originally planned for 1962, is now on hold due to the temporary construction of the new building.

The new building will feature an increased capacity for students and faculty, as well as improved facilities for research and teaching.

Conclusions

The project is expected to be completed in 1963, and
the new building will soon be in use.

Corrections

The article on the front page regarding the new building was incorrect. The project is not scheduled to begin until 1964, and will not be completed until 1965.

Are We Giving Thanks?

Hi Ho! Hi Ho! Thanksgiving is in the air! It doesn’t sound too good, and as we near the end of November, the question arises: when are we going to get there? We’re all ready to celebrate Thanksgiving, and yet we’re still stuck in the middle of fall.

And yes, we have a long haul: the rain falls on the red soil, we’ve got to dig in the dirt, and our clothes are soaking wet. It’s a tough time of year, but we’re all in this together.

And talk about change! A dead foul odor enters almost a shot of water in the air, and suddenly it’s winter again.

This year, what do we have to be thankful for? We’ve probably had to adjust ourselves with a vacation trip to the southwest or northwest, but we’re still thankful for the beauty of the season.

So, what do you think?

No One Is Immune

Will I Be Seeing You?

This is another in a series of guest editorials. It was also a guest editorial. I’m sure you can see where I’m going with this.

The University of Colorado is located in the heart of Boulder, Colorado. It was founded in 1859 by the territorial legislature.

Now let’s look at this. Our friends at the University tell us that there is no such thing as a free lunch. Some people have had their food through school. Good. We’re glad.

But these people who can’t afford to eat might be hungry.

We’re all hungry, right? It’s not just our friends who can’t eat, but our families, too. They’re hungry, too. And these hungry people are hungry every day. They’re hungry for food, nutrition, and shelter.

You are probably wondering why I’m saying so much about this. It’s not that I’m a nutritionist, but it’s because of the hunger crisis. Many people are hungry, and it’s not just in Boulder. It’s everywhere.

So, what can we do about it?

We can start by giving to organizations that help those in need. We can also volunteer our time and resources. It’s not just about money; it’s about making a difference.

Let’s all do our part and help those who are hungry.

Kappa Sigs And Tri Delts Entertain Freshman Women at Annual Events

Freshman women were honored at two annual events on campus over the weekend. Saturday afternoon Delta Delta Delta sisters held a love-in for the sorority's new members. On Sunday evening, Kappa Sigma served waffles to pledges classes of 89 at the Glenns Bay House in honor of Kappa Tap Day.

Freshman women were entertained at a special dances called being brought to the college, with dances for Delta Delta Delta (D.D.D.) and Kappa Sigma, a sorority of freshman women. The dances were sponsored by the sorority councils, and were open to all members of the university.

The Delta Delta Delta dance was held on Saturday afternoon in the Glenns Bay House. The dance was attended by all members of the sorority, and was open to all members of the university.

The Kappa Sigma dance was held on Sunday evening in the Kappa Sigma House. The dance was attended by all members of the sorority, and was open to all members of the university.
Basketballers Speed Up Drills; First Game One Week Away

Squad Cut To Sixteen Men; Several Injuries Already

Troubled by cuts, bruises, and injuries, and especially every day, the basketballers had just one week of practice left before they left for a four-day game against Montana. Five players were unable to continue.

The results of the game were not favorable. Coach John McIntosh, who had been in charge of the team, announced that the team would be cut to sixteen men. This was the first time a basketball team had been cut, and the news was not welcome to the players.
