Ted Kara Was Idaho’s Best Boxer; Led USA’s 1936 Olympic Mitt Team

By Don Thompson, Jr.

It all started in a Cleveland basement.

Two differences of opinion. Punching and arms windmilling, they went at it. A small boy, Dan, was crying his way home. Another, a smaller Italian known as "Kid." They both had been to the same gymnasium, and had both been trained by the same coach. The Kid had won a few matches, but Dan had been the favorite. It was a good match, and the outcome was uncertain.

The Kid held on to his lead, but Dan was gaining. The Kid slipped and fell, but he got back up. They were tied. The Kid slugged home a great left, but Dan countered with a right, and the Kid went down. He got up, but was dazed. He was defeated by a fall in the third round.

The Kid was the champ, but Dan was the new champion. He had won a great match. He had proved his worth. He had earned his place in the ring.

The next day, Dan was declared the champion of the world. He had proved his worth. He had earned his place in the ring.

Ski Season Opening; Show Well Over Weekend

In their last meet of the season, Idaho’s skiers placed fifth in every event and ran off with the second place title in the Whitman meet at Toledo ski area (near Walla Walla, Wash.).

Kari Kanervi, the Whitman jumper, headed down and battered his way to first place in the jump, including a height of 135 feet. Following close behind Kari was his teammate, Ed Kalimo, who finished second with a height of 130 feet. The third place finisher was Jack Sharp, who hit his mark at 120 feet.

Kari Kanervi’s jump was combined with three other Whitman jumpers’ efforts to win the meet. In addition to Kari, the Whitman team made a combined score of 120 points, which was enough to win the meet.

The meet was held at the Whitman ski area, and the Whitman team made a combined score of 120 points, which was enough to win the meet.

Gym Squad Ties At Pullman

Kahi’s Gynecostic club took the first place in the gym meet, but was held off by a strong new third place finisher.

Winning the first place was easy. The Kahi team was the best. But the new team, the Gynecostic, was a strong one. They had a lot of good students, and they were determined to win.

The match was held at the Kahi gym, and the Kahi team won by a score of 30-20. The Gynecostic team was a close second, with a score of 25-25.

The games were played with enthusiasm. The Kahi team was very strong, and they played well. The Gynecostic team was new, and they were learning. But they played well, and they were determined.
