Blood Drive Ends Short Of Goal Quota For Title

University students gave 1,501 pints of precious fluid in May and June, just barely meeting the May quota of 1,500 pints set last week by the University authorities.

Clinton Gray and Tressa Cowan were interviewed after their appearance in the May drive and asked about their personal experiences. Later on during the day, Gray and Cowan were invited to the mayor’s office where they were honored for their service.

Col. Poly Still Top

Dan McDowell, chairman, was appointed by Dan McCollum, head of the Col. Poly drive, to direct the drive from the headquarters in the basement of the Col. Poly building.

Col. Poly, a 220-member all-male college, who challenged the men’s team in last year’s competition, had a total of 159 pints from 140 students.

In Georgette’s, Mrs. Bahnke, named one of the top ten women’s drives, reported plans for a special meeting to be held in the cafeteria, Thursday, May 16.
