DEAR DAD, FRID: I am a sophomore majoring in architecture. Our college has just completed another building. Yesterday, after examining the blueprints, I was forced to discover the base was not flat at all. June 3, 1964. I have taken my calculations to the dean of the architecture, to the president of the college. No one will pay any attention to me. What do I do to save disaster?

DEAR FRANKIE: We've been writing poems to a certain girl for about six months. Yesterday I found the girl was going to get together to read my poems and laugh at them. Do you think I should tell her the truth?

DEAR DAD, FRID: I have been writing a couple of poems for a certain young lady and have some trouble with them. I would appreciate it if you could look them over. I am enclosing them with this letter.
