MUN: Worth The Trip

Interest and enthusiasm were keynotes of the Speaker’s Round-Out session held on the University of Oregon campus over spring vacation. With the opening speech by President Roland of the Union of University Speakers, the 11th annual session commenced.

Champions may, in their own mind, be searching for a new intellectual thought among others. They may be in the same situation for a new environment for absorbing such thought. Discrimination may be a "sleeping" and struggles for power among participating members is a new environment for the same thought. Just being there a person can be a new environment of interest, sincerity, and aptitude of the same processes.

The University was very equally represented by the 13 members of Bob Moore. Moore was special chairman of the Afro-American Student Council, bringing the theme to the black. This was definitely added for the historical and political delegation from Alaska.

It is certain hearing to see some Idaho students who want to put forth enough effort to represent Idaho students and do such a tremendous job at this. Congratulations to Idaho delegate for the fine job.
