The Arg Was There

Editorially Speaking...

To a newspaperman, there are three types of editors: the "Boy Scout," the "Buenish," and the "card-carrying." The Boy Scout is the one who knows all the rules. The Buenish is the one who never breaks any rules. And the card-carrying is the one who breaks the rules occasionally, but always in a way that contrives to enlighten the reader. It is the card-carrying editor that produces the best writing, for it is the only type that is free to be amusing. The Buenish editor is the one who writes the most boring copy, for he is the one who is most conscious of his craft. The Boy Scout is the one who writes the most dull copy, for he is the one who is most concerned with getting the story in on time.

The card-carrying editor is the one who is free to be creative, and it is the one who is most likely to produce the best writing. The Buenish editor is the one who is most likely to produce the least interesting writing, for he is the one who is most concerned with following the rules. The Boy Scout editor is the one who is most likely to produce the most dull writing, for he is the one who is most concerned with getting the story in on time.

Red Headed Carolan Argonaut Athlete Of Year

By LARRY ROYCE

Anchorage, Alaska, Oct. 22, 1945

Red Carolan, the big railroad man from Sackville, New Brunswick, is backing a very worthy individual for the year in Vandalia Land. The Argonaut sports staff selected this person as representing the year's best in the three major intercollegiate sports of football, basketball, and track.

Three-Way Tie In League I Softball

After the first meeting in late August, it was not expected that the Tartans would have a chance to win the championship this year. But they did, and in doing so they became the first team to win the championship.

The Tartans won the championship with a 6-0 victory over the Stingers in the final game of the season. This was the first time in the history of the team that they had won the championship.

The Tartans dominated the entire season, scoring 27 runs in their last five games. They also had the best batting average in the league, hitting .325. The Stingers finished second in the league, but they were unable to keep up with the Tartans in the final game.

The Tartans' victory in the final game was the result of a strong performance by their starting pitcher, who allowed only one run in seven innings. The Stingers' pitcher was able to keep the game close, but the Tartans' offensive performance was too much for them to overcome.

The championship game was played in front of a packed crowd, with many fans coming from around the region to witness the historic moment. The Tartans' victory was met with cheers and applause from the crowd, who were thrilled to see their team win the championship.

The Tartans' win was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the team, who had worked hard throughout the season to prepare for this moment. Their coaches were also praised for their role in helping the team reach this level of success.

The Tartans are now looking forward to the upcoming season, where they hope to build on their success and continue to improve. They are excited to see what the future holds and are ready to tackle the challenges that lie ahead.
Vandal Sports Can Be Brighter Than Usual With Improvement Seen In Many Areas In 1961-1962

By BRENT WESTPHAL,
Argonaut News Editor

Vandal sports will be brighter than usual this year when two key areas, football and basketball, will come back stronger than ever before.

Football was the old team, spoiled by a coaching change and a new attitude. The new team coached under two former Argonaut writers, Dick Johnson and Bob Blackwelder, is expected to do big things.

Basketball, dormant for several years, is expected to do well in the upcoming season with a new coach, a new attitude and a new player, Dick Johnson.

The Vandal women's basketball team, coached by Argonaut writer Mary Hattan, is expected to do well in the upcoming season with a new coach, a new attitude and a new player, Dick Johnson.

Activity GPA Still Undecided

As evidenced by a letter to Jason this week, there had been activities for a day a couple weeks ago that the ARSO Executive Board felt were not included in the report. The Board's practice is to keep track of the results of activities reported to it. We must point out that the results of the poll which ARSO conducted are considered tentative, and it may not have had an effect on the votes of all 135 students who were included in the survey.

The Board's next meeting will be at 3:30 p.m. in the Student Center, and the voting will be held at that time. The Board is also asking for nominations for the 1970-1971 Board of Directors, and it will meet on the second Thursday of each month.

The Interlopers

Montgomery, Alabama, threw itself into the headlines this week end by taking the United States by storm. This is not the first time that the Confederacy has given us a glimpse of how it can do this. The South, with its large population and the vast resources of its land, has always been a formidable opponent. The Interlopers, now led by Robert E. Lee, are making a valiant effort to stem the tide of the United States' advance. They have already taken several key cities, including Atlanta and Richmond. The Union forces are outnumbered and outgunned, but they are not without hope. The Interlopers are not only fighting for territory, they are fighting for the soul of the Confederacy. The future of the South hangs in the balance.

The Waste Land

For a decade the Federal Commission on Communication has been fighting to eliminate the "violence" from our airwaves. But the battle is far from over. The issue is not as simple as it seems. The Federal Commission on Communication has been criticized for its lack of effectiveness. It is argued that the Commission has not been able to put an end to the violence that is on our airwaves. The Commission has been criticized for not having enough power to regulate the airwaves. The Commission has been criticized for not being able to enforce its rules. Vandals Have Spoiler's Role In Mind As They Meet WSU

Coach Wayne Anderson's winning streak is tied to the field this afternoon and tomorrow as they round out their 1961-62 campaign against the Northwest Washington State Congress.

This afternoon's contest will begin at 7 at McLean's Stadium. Tomorrow the Vandals move across the line to La Grande's Northwestern, which will be the last DC selection.

The Vandals will be seeking their fifth consecutive win and a berth in the conference final. They have had good success against the Cougars in recent years, having won five of the last six games between the two. This year's contest is expected to be close, with the Vandals favored to win.

The game will be played in front of a record crowd, expected to exceed 10,000 fans.

Exams?

Here's the easy and safe way to keep mentally alert:

It's the so-called "smoke symbol"—a light bulb with a smoking cigarette in it. And it's especially helpful when you must keep your brain in gear for an extended period of time. It helps to keep mental alertness in situations where you need to maintain a high level of concentration.

The key to keeping your mind sharp is to take regular breaks and to avoid reading too much information at once. It's important to take breaks often, as this will help you stay focused.
