Construction on the university's $14 million After building program is progressing rapidly toward the completion of a new basketball court and a new Academic Auditorium. The court, which will be the largest in the country, is scheduled to be completed in time for the first basketball season in 1963-64.

The Academic Auditorium, which will be the largest in the west, is expected to open in time for the fall semester. The building will be located on the west side of the campus, and will be used primarily for lectures and concerts.

The project is being financed through a combination of state and federal funds, as well as through private donations. The total cost of the project is estimated to be around $14 million.

The construction is expected to be completed in time for the first basketball season in 1963-64, and the Academic Auditorium is expected to open in time for the fall semester in 1963.

Idaho, ISC Ready To Clash Tomorrow

Vandals Hold 2-0 Edge; Tough Match Expected

The Idaho Vandals, trying to rebound from a 4-5 defeat at the hands of Utah State, host Idaho State College tonight in the final game of the 1972 season.

The Vandals and the Bengals have met twice, with Idaho winning both. However, each match was decided by a single goal, and the Vandals were defeated by ISC in the first game of the season.

According to Coach Garry Aizawa, the Vandals have a 2-0 edge on the Bengals. "They have a lot to gain and we have a lot to lose," he said. "They are a very good team and we will have to be at our best to win."

Aizawa expects a tough match, but he is confident in his team's ability to come out on top.

Idaho Harriers Looking Toward Improved Year

The University of Idaho cross country team began workouts this week, in anticipation of the upcoming season. The team is led by Coach Dave Burkett, who guided the Vandal cross country team to a sixth-place finish in the NCAA Championships last fall.

Burkett said his team is looking forward to the challenge of the upcoming season, and he is confident that they will be able to improve on last year's performance.

Don't Regard ISC Lightly

The Idaho State Bengals come to town tomorrow, but they will be very foolish to think that they will be a soft touch. With the exception of University of Idaho for the semi-final to come up against the Legislature finals, it is hoped to ensure that the Vandals win this game in the interest of demonstrating their claim to such status, if nothing else.

Contrary to popular opinion, Idaho State is not moving into major competition for the first time. Brigham Young, U. S. Air Force Academy, Wymington and Montana State University are easily classified as "big leagues." The Bengals have played all of these teams at some time in the past.

Winning football at ISC is historical. The Bungs dominated the Rocky Mountain Conference for years and did it well enough to lead the league in total conference play for many years.

The ISC-MCC series dates back to 1944. Idaho State coach Bob Cain is the only coach in ISC history, Cain has won 62 games, lost 25 and tied 1 for an amazing .750 average. Losing football just isn't part of the Bung's way of life. However, you can be sure that the Vandals want to win this one just as much. "We have to win this game," says Bob Aizawa. The game is a big potential matter for both schools.

Bill Loehr, Gary Aizawa To Lead ISC Against Vandals

Lack of letters and_Positions_vain

Aizawa's knowledge of the game comes to him from a football coaching background. This is the football coach of the Idaho State University.

Bill Loehr is expected to make his mark as a defensive line coach. He has been a defensive line coach at several universities, including Idaho State University.

Loehr is a former Idaho State football player and has been with the team for several years. He is expected to bring a wealth of knowledge and experience to the team.

Idaho's defensive line coach, Gary Aizawa, is expected to be a key figure in the Vandals' success.
