E-Board Revising Post Rule Regulation

The ASU Executive Board, in conference with and of the recommendations of the Student Senate, has decided to make the following changes in the ASU Post Rule Regulation.

- Posters:
  - The current campaign has limited space for presenting political posters. The ASU Post Regulation includes restrictions on political campaign posters.
  - The new regulations are designed to prevent the overcrowding of campus areas with political advertisements. The reduced space is intended to ensure a balanced distribution of campus information.

- Mechanics:
  - The current rules on mechanics have been relaxed. The ASU Post Regulation now allows for the use of mechanics in certain circumstances, providing a more flexible approach to managing campus posters.

The changes are intended to balance the needs of the student body with the operational requirements of the campus. The ASU Post Regulation will continue to be reviewed and updated as necessary.
More Than Fun

The campus mock election that took place today is unlike any other I can remember. It was organized by the Student Government Association, and it was a great success. The turnout was high, and the atmosphere was electric. The candidates were all very engaged, and the issues they discussed were very important.

The election was held in the Student Union Building, and it was open to all students. The candidates were all very passionate about their causes, and they did a great job of making their points. The issues they discussed were very relevant, and it was clear that the candidates were very interested in the issues.

The election was a great success, and it was a great way to get people involved in the political process. I highly recommend that you attend the next election, and I hope that it will be just as successful as this one was. It was a great opportunity to learn more about the political process, and it was a great way to meet new people. Overall, it was a great experience, and I hope that you will all consider getting involved in the political process in the future.
The fourth dimension: \textit{TIME}

...still a mysterious concept to science. To us of today, it is only a way of life, an abstraction, an illusion of space, speculation and surprise.

Gary used to fiddle awful soufgmt.

How do you persuade a reluctant youngster that music is not "for sissies"?

1. \textbf{Classroom teachers of the West.}

2. Alaska and Hawaii do so with the help of our Standard School Broadcast, which, by dramatizing music from programs shown on television, has been a valuable dimension to bring music to teachers.

3. Gary and 2½ million other boys and girls hear this weekly radio program in their classrooms.

Did you know that children have discovered an exciting new world through this public service program? It has just started its 35th consecutive year, so we have served quite satisfactorily to the schoolchild throughout the elementary grades.

Handling ahead to serve you better

Oh, man, you've been cheap, what with going to church, doing your homework, eating salad, getting a cold, and watching too much television. Sometimes I wonder if we'll ever be able to break the cycle. But I guess we'll just have to keep trying.

But I don't think there's much hope. I mean, if we're not going to be able to break the cycle, how are we going to get anywhere? I mean, if we're not going to be able to break the cycle, how are we going to get anywhere?

Baker-Burke Passing Game Big Idaho Wave

The Idaho Vandals, riding a win and hoping to score four straight victories, will try to make a move in the Mountain West Conference as they host Oregon State Saturday. The win would give Idaho its first conference victory.

Both teams possess the potential for an explosive offense. Oregon State has had a great balance of passing and running with a high-powered running game. Idaho has a potent offense, but has no experienced passers. The team's success will depend on the game plan against Oregon State.

Quarterback Gary Greacen leads the attack with his passing ability. Dwayne Hoyt is a strong running threat. Cox and Lopez are also key players for the Vandal offense.

The Oregon State defense is one of the best in the conference. The Vandal offense will have to find its way against a tough defense. The game will be a test of offensive skills.

The Vandal defense will have to stand up against the Oregon State attack. The defense will need to stop the Oregon State running game and put pressure on the quarterback.

The Vandal offense will be led by Baker, who has had a strong season. The offensive line is solid, and the team has a chance to win.

In conclusion, the game will be a good one. Idaho has a chance to win, but Oregon State is the better team. The game will be a test of offensive skills.

University of Idaho

White Declared Ineligible

The University of Idaho football team announced that senior quarterback Brian White has been declared ineligible for the remainder of the season due to an injury. White was the team's starting quarterback for most of the season and was expected to return to the starting lineup.

The team's offense will have to adjust to a new quarterback. The team will have to rely on its running game and defense to win the next few games.

The team is hopeful that White will be able to return in the future. The team is also looking forward to its upcoming games and the possibility of a bowl bid.

White had a great season, leading the team in passing yards and touchdowns. The team is grateful for his contributions and wishes him well in his recovery.

The team will continue to work hard and prepare for the next few games. The team is looking forward to its upcoming games and the possibility of a bowl bid.

Arizona Contest Different Story This Season - Hartley

By TOM HARTLEY

A funny thing happened to the Idaho Vandals Saturday afternoon as they met the University of Washington at the Horseshoe Stadium in Seattle. The Vandals had been expected by the newspapers and most football experts to lose, but Saturday afternoon they went down to defeat the University of Washington by a score of 19-14.

It was another step forward for the Vandals in their second year under the direction of Coach John. It was the first time in the five-year history of the team that the Vandals had won a game at the University of Washington. Baton Twirling Is Difficult, Says Buell

By JOE FISCHER

Argonaut Staff Writer

The question of whether or not baton twirling is difficult is open to debate. Some believe that it is a difficult skill to master, while others argue that it is simply a matter of practice and dedication. The question is one that has been debated for many years, and there is no clear consensus on the matter.

The authors of the article mentioned in the citation below have written extensively on the topic of baton twirling. They have explored the history and development of the sport, as well as the physical and mental demands placed on performers. Their work provides valuable insights into the world of baton twirling and the challenges faced by performers in this field.

The citation is as follows:

In his book "Baton Twirling: An Inside Look," author John Smith provides a comprehensive overview of the sport, including its history, techniques, and performance elements. Smith's work is widely regarded as a definitive resource for those interested in the field of baton twirling.

The article in the Argonaut suggests that baton twirling is a difficult skill to master, but it also acknowledges that with practice and dedication, it is possible to achieve high levels of proficiency in the sport. The article provides a balanced perspective on the question of difficulty, and encourages readers to consider the factors that contribute to their own success in this challenging discipline.
Busy People This Weekend:

Queen Jeanne,

... Parade Marshals,

... And Carpenters

BOY/LET — Homecoming Queen Jeanne Marshall takes a break from bowing to her royal duties this weekend by attending her bowling game at the new Student Union Building today.

... FLOAT BUILDER — Queen Jeanne finds time from her numerous other activities to do her part in the annual Homecoming Parade tomorrow.

... AND MODEL SUPER — Jeanne Marshall rides on the gown in which she’ll be crowned Homecoming Queen of the annual Homecoming Dance tomorrow night.

DOUBLE DUTY — Football Coach Don Anderson (left) and Basketball Coach Joe Cipriano will have plenty to keep them busy this weekend. The popular pair have been selected as Homecoming Parade marshals for the event tomorrow. In addition, Cipriano will have to work on redesigning the 1962-63 Vandals basketball team for play, and Anderson will have to design the Idaho-Oregon State football game tomorrow.

NEARLY DONE — The $2 million Student Union Building addition, with its multi-colored tile wall panels, presents a contrast to the red brick of the old structure. Several basement rooms of the addition will be completed in January. (Kappeller photo)

PILARS AND TRIANGLES — The three-sided, altered University Information Center, topped by a revolving triangular sign, is nearing completion by the north entrance to the campus. It is expected to be completed in approximately three weeks. (Kappeller photo)
