Stifle Marked Idaho’s Birth

"Idaho was created in strife and turmoil," Dr. Siegried Stallman told an audience during yesterday's 100th anniversary commemoration of the creation of the University of Idaho. Stallman, a professor in the History Department, was elected to the 1924-25 class, their season most remembered in Seattle.

Quarters, Not Semesters?

Debate Begins Conflicts

Pros and Cons Weighted, Regents To Get Report

A possibility of changing to the quarter system is being investigated. But the study directed by the University of Idaho will change from the semester system, it is anticipated, in as many as 20 years of time. The study will be conducted by the University of Idaho and will be completed by 1975.

Good, But No Money

The Idaho Legislature bought a few items on credit this year, but last week it decided not to do any more for the time being.

After giving university status to Idaho State College and granting itself a 1958-59 appropriation of $43,745,000 to liquidate 1957-58 legal expenses and a $5,000,000 tax bill, the legislators voted down the proposed sales tax in the Senate Friday, thus changing the only ballot-raising means of paying for their shopping spree until next year.

No doubt some legislators voted against the sales tax because they hoped by doing so to win the battle of raising money until next year. It is figured that if the state's inadequate educational funds were overburdened still further with the cost of Idaho State College, the money tax would have to be approved.

Governor Smythe hasn't signed the sales-tax bill yet, but he said if it wasn't being held up by the legislature he would sign it in a heartbeat. If the bill is sent to him for approval after next year, he said he would probably sign it, but not this year.

The sales rate is 3 per cent on all commodities and services.

The only other amendment that would be the bill was passed, so the sales tax would now have to be voted on by the electorate next year.

Modernization Constitution

Three amendments will be on the ballot Thursday. Two are minor changes, and one is a major one.

The, third is the constitutional amendment that is the most controversial. Students should gladly approve the amendments that propose to promote more efficiency in the university's administration.

One change the time candidates have to file for ASU elections is reduced to three weeks prior to the election date.

The change would allow the students more time to study the issues of the candidates and their platforms, which would prevent the students from being unduly prevented the election of a senator if he was not familiar with the candidates and the platforms.

There are 800 members of these three students. Students will have to make sure that the amendments are understood before voting on them.

The prelab examination for these three exams will be held at 7 p.m. The new ballots will be in the hands of the students by 8 p.m. The ballots will be taken out of the labs and at 8 p.m. the voting will begin.

The ballots will be examined at 9 p.m. The results will be tabulated at 9:30 p.m.

Sales Resumes at Bookstore Tomorrow

The business, temporarily suspended during the Christmas holiday, will reopen at 10 a.m. tomorrow under the management of Jim Metcalf.

Self service is back with a 30-cent charge for the service. The store stocks the usual variety of reading material, including books, magazines, and newspapers.

MUSICAL CONCERTS

The Idaho State College band will play in the Grand Ballroom, Fri. at 9 p.m. and Sun. at 7:30 p.m., the following concerts will be held under the direction of Dr. J. M. Gibbs:

* Thursday, Jan. 3: Symphony Orchestra (22) under the direction of Dr. J. M. Gibbs.
* Friday, Jan. 4: Symphony Orchestra (87) under the direction of Dr. J. M. Gibbs.
* Saturday, Jan. 5: Symphony Orchestra (38) under the direction of Dr. J. M. Gibbs.

The Idaho Argonaut

The Golden Fleece by Jason

I am at my typewriter this Friday night and thoughts of the past few days are uppermost in my mind. In the past few days we have been attending many general meetings. We have been discussing many topics and issues, and we have been working on a variety of projects.

In a large conference room, we have been considering the possibilities of new technologies and their potential impact on our society. We have been discussing the importance of education and the need for continued investment in research and development.

The atmosphere is upbeat and充满活力. We are all excited about the future and the opportunities that lie ahead. We believe that by working together, we can create a better future for all of us.

Test Board Now Carrying Out Ideas Inspired Last Year

By JOHN PANICH

Assistant Staff Writer for Education

In the spring of 1962, the Test Board decided to undertake a number of studies of college and university enrollment. Among those studies was a survey of the enrollment in the four-year colleges in the state of Arizona. The results of this study were published in the fall of 1962 and were widely publicized.

White Sets New Mark; Vandals Keep Rolling

The Idaho Vandals, paced by the running of Chuck Baker and Bob Steffens, held off Boise State 83-61 Sunday afternoon, as the Vandals maintained their hold on first place in the Mountain States Conference.

Baker, Von Tagen Lead Finmen To Fourth Place Finish In Far West Meet

Bob Tagen and Chuck Baker, two of Idaho's most consistent scorers, scored a combined 33 points in the Vandals' 83-61 win over Boise State. The Vandals' 83-61 win over Boise State was their third in a row and raised their record to 11-11 overall, and 8-7 in conference play.

Baker set new meet records on both the 200 and 400 medley relays, and accumulated 45 points in the meet. Tagen, who scored 33 points in the meet, also set a new meet record in the 200 individual medley.

Lindley Smashes LCA For Crown

Not aborting Lindley's season was a 3-0 shutout of 15-ranked Idaho, 8-3. The Vandals, who had never lost to Idaho in the season, won 8-3. The Vandals also won the meet for the first time in 12 years.

It's amazing what eleven men, a dedicated coach and a little hard work can do. I'm thinking about the job that the Idaho staff has done throughout the season, and at the recent Far West Championships, to make this season a success.

How did they do it? Perhaps only those close to it, but those who followed Idaho's season will know how hard they worked. The Vandals went after victory after victory and were almost unstoppable by the waves created by the opposition.

Idaho seldom finds itself under the Vandals' strong attack. The Vandals scored 81 points on 11 of 13 shooting attempts, with the last three baskets being a made goal on the last second. The Vandals won the victory with a 21-7 record and are now 15-7 overall.

Did they give up then? No, The Vandals secured an important three-game sweep over Eastern Washington and Central Washington to set the stage for the Pac-12 action and a performance that probably exceeded Mitchell's wildest expectations.

During the course of the season, Mitchell's Vandals have been able to win games against teams that were outstanding in the conference. The University of Idaho basketball team won its third game of the season, beating Gonzaga 81-61 in the conference tournament.

The Vandals were out-rebounded 52-30, but they dominated the paint and scored 21 points off of Gonzaga's turnovers. The Vandals shot 54 percent from the field, and were 11 of 23 from three-point range.

The Vandals' 81-61 win against Gonzaga was their third in a row, and raised their record to 11-11 overall, and 8-7 in conference play.

The Vandals held the lead for the entire game, building a 14-point lead by the 4th quarter.
