Without Fear, Favor

The function of America's press is to serve its democracy by informing the public and holding the government accountable.

The Freedom of the Press Foundation is urging all Americans to support the First Amendment and protect the freedom of the press.

Petitions appealing the Council's "49 credits" ruling to the Jim Wittanger case were in the hands of President J. D. Swanson. The Council's refusal to hold a meeting last night is the latest in a series of actions that have been criticized by the press.

The press is asking for an explanation of the decision and an opportunity to respond.

The Freedom of the Press Foundation is a non-profit organization that defends the right to a free press. It advocates for the protection of the press and the promotion of press freedom.

The organization is committed to educating the public about the importance of press freedom and the role of the press in a democratic society.

Other Notes

- No issues were won by the discussion of Norbert, who was a true believer in science. Norbert's beliefs were challenged, and the debate ended in a tie.
- The debate was won by the team that argued the resolution was a good one.

Vandal Track Meet Ends in a Tie

By Jim Peterson

Cheat Mountain 6, Vandal 6

The Vandal Track Meet ended in an exciting tie between Cheat Mountain and Vandal. The meet was held at the Vandal Track on Monday, May 5.

The meet consisted of ten events, which were divided into three categories: sprints, hurdles, and relays. Cheat Mountain emerged as the champion, but Vandal scored enough points to tie the meet.

The highlight of the meet was the 4x100 meter relay, which was won by Cheat Mountain. The Vandal team came out close to winning, but lost by a narrow margin.

Overall, the meet was a success, and both teams showed great sportsmanship. The Vandal Track Meet will be held again next year.
