EDGAR GOODWIN, Tribune Staff, said that the University of Idaho in Moscow, Idaho, is one of the main centers of excellence in the state. The University has a strong reputation in agriculture, forestry, and related fields, as well as in the arts and sciences. The campus is located on the banks of the Snake River, providing a picturesque setting for students and faculty alike. The University offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs, and is known for its commitment to research and teaching excellence. The University community is diverse, with students from all over the world, and the University is proud of its strong partnerships with local and national organizations. In conclusion, the University of Idaho is a vibrant and dynamic community, with a rich history and a promising future.
The Golden Fleece By Jason

The University of Idaho campus is lined with statues similar to those that will come in this summer. President George W. Hartzler, former vice president of the University of Rhode Island, was officially inaugurated as the 12th president of the University of Idaho.

Representatives of 125 universities and colleges and 10 national learned and professional societies (WU) was represented — representing the academic and professional interests of state officials, family members, students and friends — to express, as did William C. Barth, representing the faculty, "We are multiplicity of his abilities and our good fortune."

We, too, would like to express our best wishes to a fine admiral.

Dear Jason,
DANCES, INITIATIONS Still Topping Events

Fledge dances, full initiations and pledges and freshmen exchanges remained the order of the day in Idaho campus social news this week and apparently will continue for some time. Homecoming Bride Beta also added its variation to full social activity. Topping for various honors, including Housewives, Blue Key, Alpha Lambda Delta and others, has been the large all-campus social event, which will be followed by Thanksgiving vacation, a social activity on its own. Sewing Answer For Coeds

Sewing is the only answer for girls who wear full fashion outfits on a less than adequate allowance, according to good overlooks at Dorothy's, 325 South Main. One semi-formal party dress that might have been perfect for the social round in high school simply won't make the grade on the college campus.

The party-looking coat can now interestingly make over use of a cocktail dress, semi-formal party dress, better gowns and so forth. Versatility is the key says Dorothy, and the currently popular "granny dress" pattern can serve in every situation.

A versatile "coat" is California, the soft-made fabric made from the Call's patterns 588 and 590. Both are available to sizes W-32. Jacket is the strictly wearable pattern not only very functional but it is a fashion-different print. The long hem line, modestly high-collared skirts are by most needs.

Colorful polka-dots, roses, quills, jacquards, print, and ruffles are "or" says Dorothy. Gowny pastel glee campus agitation then quickly when suited, hem curb, or a new国籍e material is used.

Fall fabrics for every need are also on hand at Dorothy's. She suggests a white silk skirt lined in blue rayon and a blue silk dress with the same rayon and black. For evening formal dinners and home dances.

The "bare-shoulder look" as exciting innovation in fall's fine fashion is perfect in most any color. Crepe, the popular all-eyed material pattern in most altering shears. In the bottom of this look, the back of the dress can be shoulder cocktail dress. The dress is just perfect with a matching skin-pinked high on the knee sheath with a dash of false eyelashes,\n
