Dear Jason,

LDS Woman Protests Talk
Editor's Note: Following letter was mailed to the Daily Universe by Miss Haggard, former editor of the Idaho Argonaut and former staff writer for the Idaho State Register. It is being printed this week because of its interest in many Argonaut readers.

To the Editor:

It is with some regret that I respond to the article of the Idaho Argonaut of February 26, 1943, in which you reported Miss Helen Benson as making statements which, from my point of view, are false.

The story which appeared in the Argonaut was not based on new reporting but was the third-hand reporting of an article printed in the Salt Lake Tribune.

I feel it is my duty to set the record straight to the people of the state of Idaho who are interested in the welfare of their students and the truth about the Idaho State University.

On February 25, the Salt Lake Tribune carried an article in which Miss Benson stated that she had been employed by the University of Utah and the University of Idaho as an assistant professor of English, and that she had been asked to resign because of her opposition to communism.

This is not true. Miss Benson was employed as an assistant professor of English at the University of Utah for one semester, and was later offered and accepted a position as a lecturer at the University of Idaho, where she taught during the fall semester of 1941.

The statements made by Miss Benson in the Salt Lake Tribune article are not based on facts, but rather on personal opinion and bias.

I urge you to print the full story of this incident, so that the people of Idaho may have an accurate picture of what happened.

Sincerely,

Chris Benson

STUDIO
While there is a bell in the athletic department to give Idaho's big game this weekend with Missouri, there will be time to come out of the basement behind the scoreboard for some of the finer things in life. Indeed, Idaho has a few things to explain this week, and it will be an explanation for the score of the game.

Throughout the year I will try to give some types of reasoning for the scores that appear on the scoreboard. This will not only present to anybody who is interested in the game, but also the different types of reasoning that were used. It is the duty of every person at the football game to describe the game and possibly understand this University, and I feel this portion of the game is a duty every person.

Each year the University spends a great deal of time and effort to make the game attractive to the students and other fans for the football game, and whether you like it or not, this money comes out of your pocketbook. Therefore, it is my job to tell you how the game is going to be played.

So much for the theory of the game. Now let's get down to the hard work of letting Idaho fans understand the game. Our 8-1-1 football team is a well-planned unit, and we do not feel that through a simple explanation of the game you will understand it all. But we do feel that through a simple explanation of the game you will enjoy the Idaho players, and maybe your dad will too.

In any case, your comment that you may have for this suggestion will be greatly appreciated by the Scorer.

Jim Faucher

The Game of the Century

Jim Faucher

It's a big game for both teams, and it's sure to be a close one. Both teams have shown they can handle the pressure of playing in important games, and this one will be no different.

Both teams have shown they can defend well, and they are both able to score points when they need to. The biggest question is how the defense will hold up against the other team's offense.

The offense is the key to victory for both teams, and both have shown they can put points on the board. The defense will be the difference in this game, and both teams are well-prepared for the challenge.

Without a doubt, this will be a classic game, and fans from both sides will be cheering on their team. Both teams have shown they can handle the pressure, and this one will be no different.

Tigers Simple Ground Team-Vandall Coach Easterbrook

The Idaho Vandals will take their two-way victory into Columbia, Mo., tomorrow, and Vandall Coach Easterbrook is the head coach of the Vandals. The Vandals are in their third season under Easterbrook, and he has been losing in their first two seasons.

Easterbrook's system is to emphasize ground play, and he has a good record in the past. The Vandals have lost 14 of their last 15 games, and they have been unable to score more than 10 points in any game.

But Easterbrook is not discouraged, and he has been working hard to turn the Vandals around. He has brought in several new players, and he has been working on the Vandals' defense.

The Vandals' defense is their strength, and they have been able to limit their opponents to 10 points or fewer in most games. The Vandals' offense has been their weakness, and they have scored less than 10 points in most games.

Easterbrook is hoping that his defense will be the key to victory against the Missouri Tigers. The Vandals have been able to hold their opponents to less than 10 points in most games, and they have been able to limit Missouri's scoring.

The Vandals are a much-improved team this year, and they are looking forward to a victory against the Tigers. Easterbrook is hoping that his defense will be the key to victory, and he has been working hard to turn the Vandals around.
