Wheeler Replies To Popomg Girls

Voted Rally Committee Chariman Dennis Wheeler told the 4omg Girls that the Argonaut Friday night look to one-on-one communication with the Students and that they should "not be afraid to ask questions or challenge any action or word just to be sure you're not being sold on something you don't want or can't handle." Wheeler also suggested that they talk to the Student Senate about the issue.

The 4omg Girls have been trying to get the Argonaut Friday Night show canceled because they feel that it is inappropriate and offensive to women. Wheeler, however, believes that the show is not as objectionable as the 4omg Girls think and that they should look into the issue more carefully before deciding to take action.

Student Detectives Open Own Investigative Agency

In KP Peterson's Argonaut Associate Editor network, students have formed a new investigative agency called "The Detective Agency." The agency has been formed to investigate various issues on campus and in the community. The agency's first case is the disappearance of a lost wallet.

The agency's main focus is to expose corruption and wrongdoing on campus. They have already conducted several investigations and have gathered evidence that suggests there is a significant amount of corruption on campus.

Executive Board Meeting Shot But Interesting

Executive Board agenda for tonight's meeting shot was interesting but likely to be discussed in detail at a later meeting. The agenda included topics such as budget, facilities, and student life.

The agenda also included discussions about the university's financial situation, with a focus on budget cuts and tuition increases.

Executive Board members have been discussing these issues in recent weeks, and they are likely to continue doing so at future meetings.

Love Of Learning Stressed By White

Lovy loves his job as the university's librarian. He enjoys helping students and providing resources for their research. He believes that libraries are important institutions that foster learning and intellectual growth.

"I love it here," Lovy said. "I love helping people find the information they need to succeed in their studies. It's a great place to work and a great place to learn."
Qualifications Shunned

The essentially dull campaign carried on in this fall by both political parties, and especially by the candidates for the major party posts, is itself a sufficient reason why the student voter would be well advised to stay away from the polls once more. The situation is not helped by the fact that the elections will be held on the 3rd and 4th of November, which is a time when most of the young people will be away from home or at their jobs, and thus unable to vote. The result will be that the elections will be decided by the usual party regulars, who are rarely interested in the outcome of the election.

Moreover, the lack of enthusiasm for the campaign has also been reflected in the lack of coverage by the media. The newspapers have been more interested in covering the local news, and the television stations have been more interested in covering the weather, than in reporting on the election. The result is that the public is not well informed about the candidates or the issues, and thus is not well prepared to make an informed decision. The conclusion is that the election will be a dull and uninteresting affair, and that the student voter would be well advised to stay away from the polls once more. Jim Faulcher's behind the scoreboard

Dear Mom and Dad,

The weather is really nice today. I really enjoy it when the sun is shining. The campus isn't too crowded today. Maybe people are out running or just enjoying the weather.

The big game is over, the cheerers are off, and maybe there are a few people here and there watching the game. I'm sure some students will still be around, especially those who are feeling down.

There's no use crying over "spilt milk" the old saying goes. I think that it all depends on whose milk it was spilled.

The Vandals had a great record going into the season, their rolls got split, and they were definitely feeling it. But they still have a great record and they're going to make it better just yet.

I think that it is smart for people's thinking to change. Believe the game, everyone was my great, the team was great, the coaches were great, your love was great. But now, after the game, it seems even more at your expense it was hard news. At all hope it was done, no one can go back to a great field playing a game of basketball. There will be no more games, there will be no more fun.

Mike was a person close to me, one person, you can't do anyone. You can't just say a prayer. You can't just play a game. You can't just be happy. You can't just live.
