Bills Application To U. Indefinite

Application of the faculty at the University of Idaho, recently passed by the Idaho legislature, is pending before the public hearing department of the state senate. The application was referred to the Senate committee on Education, which is expected to take action early next week.

The university is requesting an increase in the number of faculty and staff positions, as well as an increase in the state's contribution to the university's operating budget. The application also seeks funding for new academic programs and facilities.

The university has been facing budget constraints due to the state's economic downturn and the increasing costs of higher education. The application is expected to receive strong support from both the faculty and the state legislature.

Women Get Late Hours To Dance And Carol

Extended hours for women on Sunday evening and Saturday morning were marked by a busy Christmas crowd at the university's Student Union Building. Women's groups would have to begin their November 19th, 9 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. with women's hours extended until 1:00 a.m. The extended hours were due to the increased demand for late-night entertainment.

A parade through the halls of the Student Union Building was held by the university's Women's Council as part of the Christmas celebration. The parade featured floats, music, and dancing, and ended with a Christmas tree lighting ceremony.

The extended hours were well-received by the women's groups, who were able to attract larger crowds and raise more money for their causes.

Christmas has found itself in the thoughts and preparations of all. In every corner, one finds evidence of the holiday season. The Alpha Phi pledges have been busy preparing for their Christmas party. They have decorated the house and are looking forward to a night of fun and festivities.

St. Nicholas

Santa Claus has arrived! He was welcomed with open arms by the Alpha Phi members, who set up a cozy fireside area decorated with mistletoe and candles. The atmosphere was warm and festive, as Santa shared stories and songs with the guests.

Church Groups Celebrate Christmas With Many Events

Church groups all over the area are celebrating Christmas with joyous events. These groups are dedicating themselves to spreading the message of love and peace during the holiday season.

Christmas Eve Dinner

The traditional Christmas Eve dinner was held in the Alpha Phi house. Family and friends gathered around the table, enjoying delicious food and laughter. Everyone participated in the annual game of "Pledge Puzzles," which added an element of fun and competition to the evening.

Christmas Party

Holly Hill held their traditional Christmas party. The decorations were stunning, with a snowy winter theme. The party featured caroling, games, and a delicious spread of food. The highlight of the evening was the announcement of the Alpha Phi pledges as the winners of the "Pledge Puzzles" game. The prizes included a bouquet of flowers and a gift certificate to a local store.

Christmas Eve Service

A Christmas Eve service was held at the local church. The service was attended by a large crowd, who singing Christmas carols and listening to the holiday message. The service ended with a special presentation of the Christmas story, which moved many in attendance.

Christmas Tree Lighting

The annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony took place in the Alpha Phi front yard. The tree was beautifully adorned with lights and ornaments, and it was illuminated by a festive red light. The ceremony was attended by many, who sang carols and enjoyed the festive atmosphere.

Christmas Concert

A holiday concert was held at the local high school. The concert featured a variety of musical talents, including student choirs, instrumentalists, and soloists. The audience was captivated by the beautiful renditions of Christmas classics, such as "Silent Night" and "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."
Panelists Answer: Who Wields Power Over Women's Regs?

Women's regulations and the way in which the police enforce or change them have been subject of much controversy, and several women's rights groups are fighting against the enforcement of these laws.

Several women's rights groups have been formed to protest against the enforcement of these laws. These groups have held rallies and demonstrated in front of the city hall and the state capital. They have also held meetings with the police to discuss the enforcement of these laws.

Some of the issues that these groups have been fighting against include the enforcement of laws that require women to wear specific clothing, the enforcement of laws that prohibit women from working in certain occupations, and the enforcement of laws that restrict women's movement.
