E-Board recommends student-revaluation of Bill of Rights

by CLIFF EDWARDS

Executive Board recommended to Faculty Council Tuesday night that the Student Bill of Rights be re-evaluated by the student government committee in charge of the present Student Bill of Rights and that all student government representatives be given the opportunity to attend committee meetings in order to inform the representatives of the vote of the Senate.

The resolution was moved by Board President Ken Craig, sponsored by Bill Combs, and was adopted 13-2, with Jim Baverstock and Steve Pimpl voting no.

In other student government business, the Board heard reports from Paul Roper, president of the Student Senate, and Bill Combs, chairman of the Judicial Council. Both men stated that recommendations for the new Student Bill of Rights would be presented to the Student Senate Monday night. The Judicial Council would meet on the same night to discuss the Student Senate's recommendations, and both groups would meet again Wednesday night to discuss the results of the meetings.

Student Senate President Paul Roper said that the Senate would present a new Student Bill of Rights to the Student Senate Monday night. The new bill would be based on the suggestions of the Student Senate, and the students would be given the opportunity to attend all meetings of the Student Senate in order to inform the representatives of the vote of the Senate.

New Revenue Approaches

by Wayne Fox

One important issue which has been discussed recently is the way in which the university can find new sources of revenue. It is clear that if we are to maintain our current level of educational services, we must explore new and innovative ways to generate additional funds. There are several possibilities for increasing revenue, and I would like to discuss a few of them.

Firstly, we could consider charging a fee for parking. This would be a convenient way to generate revenue, and it would also encourage students and faculty to find alternative modes of transportation. Additionally, we could also consider charging for admission to certain events, such as concerts or athletic games. This would help to offset the costs of running these events and could also serve as a way to raise funds for scholarships or other programs.

Another possibility is to explore partnerships with local businesses. For example, we could offer businesses the opportunity to sponsor events or provide services on campus in exchange for promotional opportunities. This could be a win-win situation for both parties, as the university would receive additional revenue, and businesses would have access to a large and captive audience.

Finally, we could consider exploring alternative funding opportunities, such as grants or federal funding. This would require additional research and planning, but it could be a valuable way to secure additional revenue for the university.

Overall, there are many possibilities for increasing revenue, and it is important that we continue to explore these options in order to ensure the long-term sustainability of our university.

FROM UNDER THE ROCK

by Houghton Whibred

A devastating flood hit the town yesterday, causing widespread damage and forcing many residents to evacuate their homes. The Red Cross is currently providing assistance to those affected, and the city is working to restore services as quickly as possible.

In addition to the physical damage, the flood also caused significant economic losses. Many businesses were forced to close, and local industries suffered setbacks.

The community is coming together to support those affected, and there are several ways that people can help. Donations can be made to the Red Cross, and volunteers are needed to help with the clean-up and recovery efforts.

The city is also working to improve measures to prevent future floods. This includes increasing flood control measures and improving infrastructure to better handle heavy rain events.

In the meantime, we encourage everyone to stay safe and to follow any instructions from emergency officials. The community is resilient, and we will overcome this challenge together.

The Darn Thing

Writing a book can be a lonely and isolating experience. Just ask anyone who’s ever pulled all-nighters over a pounding keyboard. The struggle is real, but for a writer, it’s the moments of triumph that make it all worth it. The feeling of seeing your work come to life on the page, that’s the high point.

But not everyone feels this way. Some writers, like myself, find the process to be grueling and frustrating. It’s a constant battle of doubt and determination. Will anyone want to read it? Will it be any good? The pressure can be overwhelming.

But for those who persevere, the rewards are immense. The satisfaction of creating something that didn’t exist before, that’s a feeling like no other. So if you’re a writer, don’t give up. Keep pushing forward, even when the going gets tough. Because the truth is, everyone has a story to tell, and the world needs to hear it.

Idaho Frosh lose second to Spartans

by John Nelson

The Idaho Frosh lost their second game of the season to the Michigan State Spartans. The Frosh were defeated by a score of 17-14 in a hard-fought battle.

The Frosh, who had been playing well in recent games, were unable to contain the Spartans' offense. Michigan State put together a strong ground game and was able to control the ball for much of the game. The Frosh defense managed to hold the Spartans to just one touchdown, but the offense was unable to capitalize on their chances.

The game was marked by a series of turnovers, with both teams committing mistakes. Michigan State was able to take advantage of these turnovers, scoring touchdowns on two of them.

The Frosh are now 1-2 for the season and will face a tough challenge in their next game against the University of Washington.
