Paul Engle, poet, to speak at 11:00

Paul Engle, Iowa City, Iowa, award-winning poet and educator, will discuss poetry and people at 11 a.m. this morning in the University of Idaho's Memorial Gymnasium. Engle, who is being sponsored by the University's Poetry Events Committee and the College of Liberal Arts, will also deliver an afternoon seminar at 3 p.m. in room 306 of the University Classroom Center Building.

Morning classes have been shortened to leave the regular fourth hour free for Public Events activities. The University continues its policy of offering an afternoon seminar for community writers at 3 p.m. in room 306 of the University Classroom Center Building.

First period
9:00 to 9:35 a.m.
Second period
9:35 to 10:40 a.m.
Third period
10:40 to 11:45 a.m.
Fourth period
11:45 a.m. to 12:40 p.m.

Paul Engle — poet, critic, teacher, and serving as interim director of the Iowa Writers' Workshop — is the first poet to be named a laureate of the National Institute of Arts and Letters. He will be the first poet to preside over all the activities of the United States Poetry Institute, which was created in 1987 by the National Endowment for the Arts to promote poetry and poetry reading on a nationwide basis.

"Goody Dave"

Dave Peterson's resignation is in my desk. In some ways, it was the sport's version of the Editor's Desk. He has done a good job and I'm sorry to see him leave. But his decision is his and I respect it.

Dave joined the Argonaut staff seven years ago, working first as a sports reporter and then as a sports editor. Last week when the editor job opened, I moved the staff over to the editor's office to help him prepare for his new role. This was an important step in the transition, and I'm glad that Dave will be able to participate in this process.

Beginning this fall, Dave officially becomes sports editor and will be responsible for overseeing all sports coverage. He will work closely with the staff to ensure that the department is producing high-quality, engaging content.

In my own career, I've learned that transitions are difficult, but they are necessary for growth and progress. Dave's departure is bittersweet, but I'm excited to see what lies ahead for him. I wish him all the best in his future endeavors.

And yet another...

"Hearing around the campus newspaper for over three years in every capacity, including editor, I feel I need more contact with the editor and the printer. Hopefully, I can help the printer.

Please accept my congratulations on the success of the Argonaut. It seems as though the paper will grow in its importance, and I'll look forward to seeing it continue to grow in the future.

Sincerely,

Frank Chaves

The board's response

One week ago when Bill Boardman's resignation was announced in the Argonaut and staff and the faculty voted to Communications with Bill Boardman. I am sending each member of the board a letter outlining the reasons for the resignation and the steps taken to ensure the smooth transition of the newspaper's leadership.

I understand that Bill has worked hard for the past two years to improve the quality of the newspaper, and I appreciate his efforts. I believe that it is important for the board to support the newspaper's leadership in their decision to resign.

The board is committed to ensuring that the newspaper continues to be a vibrant and informative source of news and information for the community.

In the meantime, I encourage everyone to continue supporting the newspaper and its staff.

Yours truly,

Joseph Allen

For what it's worth

writes thanks

Editor, the Argonaut:

I would like to thank you and the board for allowing me to continue with the Argonaut. I have enjoyed my time here and I am grateful for the opportunity to work with such a supportive community.

I look forward to the future and the challenges that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Katie Davis

Enjoyed editorial

Editor: the Argonaut:

I enjoyed the editorial in today's Argonaut. It was well-written and thought-provoking. I appreciated the different perspectives that were presented.

I look forward to reading more articles like this in the future.

Sincerely,

John Smith

Student Government

New scholarship fund

A new scholarship fund at the university will allow the organization to provide additional funding for student scholarships. The fund will be established with a $5,000 gift from the university, which will be matched by another $5,000 gift from an anonymous donor.

The fund will be used to support student scholarships in a variety of fields, including education, engineering, and business. The university will work with the foundation to ensure that the scholarships are awarded to deserving students.

Faculty Council discusses Student Bill of Rights sections

Student Bill of Rights: The Faculty Council discussed the proposed Student Bill of Rights at its meeting on Thursday afternoon. The council agreed that the bill would be brought to the university's Board of Regents for approval.

The bill was introduced by the Argonaut, who is working with other student organizations to ensure that the rights of students are protected. The council approved the bill with a vote of 6-3.

Argonaut seeks two members

Due to the resignation of the Argonaut’s Associate Editor and Sports Editor, two positions will be open on the newspaper’s staff. The positions of Managing Editor and Sports Editor are available to interested applicants.

The Managing Editor is the coordinator and chief administrator of the Argonaut staff. This individual has the responsibility to keep the newspaper running smoothly and on time. The Managing Editor is also responsible for scheduling pictures and making every effort to distribute the Argonaut on time.

The Sports Editor is responsible for the coverage of all sports news of interest to the students and faculty of the university. The Sports Editor also has the responsibility of selling all its own copy and writing the newspaper. The position pays $40 per issue.

Students interested in filling these positions can apply at the Argonaut office in the W. Bux Industrial Arts Building. Applications are available for pickup from the Argonaut office. Applicants are strongly encouraged to apply.

As a special treat on Wednesday, three members will discuss the Argonaut on KUSI. The show will be held in the Argonaut Office.
