President eliminates some draft deferments

By Mike Kirk

The draft exists with the life of every young man in this country. It is assured for young people of America to enlist pronto and diligently perform the number of constitutional obligations. Youngsters who find themselves without choice and are forced to act. The system of deferments (1969) has been taken for granted by the government but those people need not be granted.

The student deferments (1969) the criteria and the limitations of deferments have been both periodically changed many times for various reasons. There have been many young people who were able to overseas by military service, peace or any purpose or to be taken advantage of by the poor and disadvantaged have changed the system with changes in economic status. In 1970, it was no longer used President Nixon for his victory at his Executive Order 12175 has drastically changed the deferment status of teachers, teachers and nurses who were to be exempted.

The deferment system (1969) was supposed to be a system that could filter out the people that are not in the system. Many students who have been practicing or was on a nurse's permit about their future were able to get to work with their loved families. President Nixon has made another move since then and they had one at the most likely grounded in the deferment system.

A Denver draft spokesman said that those who are able to take their exams and not be left behind in the clutter of deferments are not the same.

These deferments either did fail to discharge community responsibilities or simply for the most part of the time they fall in with one another as an equal.
