Mixed emotions mark workshop; group interaction is focal point

By Jean Fagg

"When you become part of a new group, you take with you all the enthusiasm, all the ideas, all the concepts of what you have learned.
You need to care about what it is you will teach and what it is you will learn," said a local poet who was invited to present a workshop.

Feeling Stressed? A report issued by the University Training Laboratories

I was asked to take part in a new workshop at a local library. It was a long time since I last taught, but that didn't bother me. I felt confident and ready to share my knowledge and experiences with others.

The workshop was well-organized and very engaging. The facilitator, a local poet, was very skilled at creating a relaxed and welcoming atmosphere. He encouraged us to express ourselves freely and to ask questions.

The topics covered included stress management, creative writing, and public speaking. Each session was designed to help us develop new skills and perspectives.

Overall, it was a very rewarding experience. I left the workshop feeling invigorated and excited to learn more. I would definitely recommend this workshop to others who are looking to enhance their communication and leadership skills.

THE REAL STORY

There's more to insurance than sales, and that's why THE HARTFORD WANTS TO TALK TO YOU ON CAMPUS

People tend to assume in terms of direct sales, THE HARTFORD has 25,000 licensed agents and brokers who do this. But just like the rest of it, it's an awful lot more than that at THE HARTFORD story.

In this story, we'll talk about the unique business environment, a 19 billion dollar company, and how the company has been around for more than 150 years.

The AMERICAN story is a way of thinking about and expressing ourselves in the decades of today.

The HARTFORD's "The Story" is not to be interpreted as a national or a local event.

We'll talk about our commitment to the future of the insurance business.

We'll talk about our commitment to the future of the insurance business.

Top comeback team

By the Campus
Aggie Sports Editor

The Idaho Vandals, if nothing else, will be recognized as one of the top "comeback" teams in the nation this year after losing their first game and then coming back, in one of the most thrilling finishes in football history, to beat Oregon State University. They've been getting invited by all for one of the most unpredictable teams to come along in recent years.

This past weekend, the Vandals were to get their first real test as the high-powered Washington State Cougars came to Pocatello to face off at the 55th Anniversary Luncheon Luncheon, which is put on by the Student Union.

Dr. Bob Hadley, Idaho's head coach, has been looking for a way to get the Vandals to play better on offense and defense. So far, the team has not been able to put it all together.

The Vandals are currently 1-1 on the season and are looking to get their second win of the year against Washington State.

Football season ended stronger

The Idaho Vandals have ended their season with a win over Utah State and the record of 7-4. The team was able to bounce back from their loss to Washington State and win their last two games of the season. The Vandals will now finish the season ranked 22nd in the nation.

Vandal team struggles, but falls to Hurricanes

The Vandals were unable to overcome the University of Idaho offense, which scored 27 points to Idaho's 10 in the second half.

The game started well for both teams, with Idaho leading 7-0 after the first quarter. However, the Vandals were unable to maintain their lead and the University of Idaho scored 20 points in the second half, eventually winning 27-10.

The Vandals will now turn their attention to the 2022 season, where they hope to improve upon their performance this year.
Seasons greetings...
