Samanio Leader, BJc Pres.
To Get Honor Degrees
One of two men will be awarded honorary doctorate degrees at University of Idaho commencements June 14, will travel half-way around the world to receive the honor.
President D.B. Thibodeaux announced recently that an honorary Doctor of Laws degree would be awarded to H. Lee Cooper, American attorney, and an honorary Doctor of Literature degree to Eugene B. Chaffee, president of Boise Junior College.

100 Students In 2 Bands
Plan Concert Thursday
A bandstand is in two bands will join forces Thursday in a Philharmonic and Antigone at a meeting of ticket personal services from the time they are issued in Idaho State
Story by Donalson
The plans proposed for the University Symphony Band by the Executive Committee of the Union Thursday evening.
Both bands recently received honorary degrees from the two groups.

Sophs Give $2,600
To Charity
A total of $2,600 was obtained from the Philharmonic Band and Antigone at a meeting of ticket personal services from the time they are issued in Idaho State
Story by Donalson
The plans proposed for the University Symphony Band by the Executive Committee of the Union Thursday evening.
Both bands recently received honorary degrees from the two groups.

The future is bright for Antigone as its musical appeal has increased.

C. of C. Aviation Tour
11 Towns Get Flying Stops
Five planes bearing 11 Western Chamber of Commerce members are traveling through southern Idaho as an aviation tour to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

The three-day, eleven
city tour is sponsored by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber President H.L. Miller, and will probably be repeated two or three times a year.

The Chamber men left Boise Monday morning and will return to Boise at 6 p.m. Thursday.

At each stop Chamber President H.L. Miller will present a framed certificate signed by the local Chamber of Commerce, saluting the Chamber of Commerce of the Jordan Valley, Idaho, like the Chambers of Commerce of the other cities.

The tour provides an opportunity for all Chamber members to meet and discuss matters of mutual interest.

The tour includes Chamber members from Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Garden City, Idaho Falls, and a number of other communities.

During the tour flights the Chamber men will be greeted by officials of the local Chamber of Commerce, who will present the Chamber with a framed certificate signed by the chamber officials.

YEE {C On the road again
The Idaho Chamber of Commerce is preparing to issue another series of tourist maps to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

A paper was issued by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce which will be distributed at all Chamber of Commerce meetings and to all Chamber members.

The paper will be distributed in cooperation with the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

C. of C. Aviation Tour
11 Towns Get Flying Stops
Five planes bearing 11 Western Chamber of Commerce members are traveling through southern Idaho as an aviation tour to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

The three-day, eleven
city tour is sponsored by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber President H.L. Miller, and will probably be repeated two or three times a year.

The Chamber men left Boise Monday morning and will return to Boise at 6 p.m. Thursday.

At each stop Chamber President H.L. Miller will present a framed certificate signed by the local Chamber of Commerce, saluting the Chamber of Commerce of the Jordan Valley, Idaho, like the Chambers of Commerce of the other cities.

The tour provides an opportunity for all Chamber members to meet and discuss matters of mutual interest.

The tour includes Chamber members from Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Garden City, Idaho Falls, and a number of other communities.

During the tour flights the Chamber men will be greeted by officials of the local Chamber of Commerce, who will present the Chamber with a framed certificate signed by the chamber officials.

YEE {C On the road again
The Idaho Chamber of Commerce is preparing to issue another series of tourist maps to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

A paper was issued by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce which will be distributed at all Chamber of Commerce meetings and to all Chamber members.

The paper will be distributed in cooperation with the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

C. of C. Aviation Tour
11 Towns Get Flying Stops
Five planes bearing 11 Western Chamber of Commerce members are traveling through southern Idaho as an aviation tour to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

The three-day, eleven
city tour is sponsored by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber President H.L. Miller, and will probably be repeated two or three times a year.

The Chamber men left Boise Monday morning and will return to Boise at 6 p.m. Thursday.

At each stop Chamber President H.L. Miller will present a framed certificate signed by the local Chamber of Commerce, saluting the Chamber of Commerce of the Jordan Valley, Idaho, like the Chambers of Commerce of the other cities.

The tour provides an opportunity for all Chamber members to meet and discuss matters of mutual interest.

The tour includes Chamber members from Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Garden City, Idaho Falls, and a number of other communities.

During the tour flights the Chamber men will be greeted by officials of the local Chamber of Commerce, who will present the Chamber with a framed certificate signed by the chamber officials.

YEE {C On the road again
The Idaho Chamber of Commerce is preparing to issue another series of tourist maps to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

A paper was issued by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce which will be distributed at all Chamber of Commerce meetings and to all Chamber members.

The paper will be distributed in cooperation with the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

C. of C. Aviation Tour
11 Towns Get Flying Stops
Five planes bearing 11 Western Chamber of Commerce members are traveling through southern Idaho as an aviation tour to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

The three-day, eleven
city tour is sponsored by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber President H.L. Miller, and will probably be repeated two or three times a year.

The Chamber men left Boise Monday morning and will return to Boise at 6 p.m. Thursday.

At each stop Chamber President H.L. Miller will present a framed certificate signed by the local Chamber of Commerce, saluting the Chamber of Commerce of the Jordan Valley, Idaho, like the Chambers of Commerce of the other cities.

The tour provides an opportunity for all Chamber members to meet and discuss matters of mutual interest.

The tour includes Chamber members from Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Garden City, Idaho Falls, and a number of other communities.

During the tour flights the Chamber men will be greeted by officials of the local Chamber of Commerce, who will present the Chamber with a framed certificate signed by the chamber officials.

YEE {C On the road again
The Idaho Chamber of Commerce is preparing to issue another series of tourist maps to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

A paper was issued by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce which will be distributed at all Chamber of Commerce meetings and to all Chamber members.

The paper will be distributed in cooperation with the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

C. of C. Aviation Tour
11 Towns Get Flying Stops
Five planes bearing 11 Western Chamber of Commerce members are traveling through southern Idaho as an aviation tour to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

The three-day, eleven
city tour is sponsored by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber President H.L. Miller, and will probably be repeated two or three times a year.

The Chamber men left Boise Monday morning and will return to Boise at 6 p.m. Thursday.

At each stop Chamber President H.L. Miller will present a framed certificate signed by the local Chamber of Commerce, saluting the Chamber of Commerce of the Jordan Valley, Idaho, like the Chambers of Commerce of the other cities.

The tour provides an opportunity for all Chamber members to meet and discuss matters of mutual interest.

The tour includes Chamber members from Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Garden City, Idaho Falls, and a number of other communities.

During the tour flights the Chamber men will be greeted by officials of the local Chamber of Commerce, who will present the Chamber with a framed certificate signed by the chamber officials.

YEE {C On the road again
The Idaho Chamber of Commerce is preparing to issue another series of tourist maps to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

A paper was issued by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce which will be distributed at all Chamber of Commerce meetings and to all Chamber members.

The paper will be distributed in cooperation with the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

C. of C. Aviation Tour
11 Towns Get Flying Stops
Five planes bearing 11 Western Chamber of Commerce members are traveling through southern Idaho as an aviation tour to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

The three-day, eleven
city tour is sponsored by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber President H.L. Miller, and will probably be repeated two or three times a year.

The Chamber men left Boise Monday morning and will return to Boise at 6 p.m. Thursday.

At each stop Chamber President H.L. Miller will present a framed certificate signed by the local Chamber of Commerce, saluting the Chamber of Commerce of the Jordan Valley, Idaho, like the Chambers of Commerce of the other cities.

The tour provides an opportunity for all Chamber members to meet and discuss matters of mutual interest.

The tour includes Chamber members from Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Garden City, Idaho Falls, and a number of other communities.

During the tour flights the Chamber men will be greeted by officials of the local Chamber of Commerce, who will present the Chamber with a framed certificate signed by the chamber officials.

YEE {C On the road again
The Idaho Chamber of Commerce is preparing to issue another series of tourist maps to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

A paper was issued by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce which will be distributed at all Chamber of Commerce meetings and to all Chamber members.

The paper will be distributed in cooperation with the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

C. of C. Aviation Tour
11 Towns Get Flying Stops
Five planes bearing 11 Western Chamber of Commerce members are traveling through southern Idaho as an aviation tour to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

The three-day, eleven
city tour is sponsored by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber President H.L. Miller, and will probably be repeated two or three times a year.

The Chamber men left Boise Monday morning and will return to Boise at 6 p.m. Thursday.

At each stop Chamber President H.L. Miller will present a framed certificate signed by the local Chamber of Commerce, saluting the Chamber of Commerce of the Jordan Valley, Idaho, like the Chambers of Commerce of the other cities.

The tour provides an opportunity for all Chamber members to meet and discuss matters of mutual interest.

The tour includes Chamber members from Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Garden City, Idaho Falls, and a number of other communities.

During the tour flights the Chamber men will be greeted by officials of the local Chamber of Commerce, who will present the Chamber with a framed certificate signed by the chamber officials.

YEE {C On the road again
The Idaho Chamber of Commerce is preparing to issue another series of tourist maps to promote aviation and to reach all parts of the state.

A paper was issued by the Idaho Chamber of Commerce which will be distributed at all Chamber of Commerce meetings and to all Chamber members.

The paper will be distributed in cooperation with the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.
The Golden Fleece
By Jason

Carillon Dedication Tops Off Mothers’ Weekend

Through the wind and the rain, the University of Idaho faculty and students gathered in the 1930s to dedicate the memorial carillon of the David Monroe Board of Regents. This was a gift to the University for the service of its students and the faculty. The Board of Regents was composed of seven members, all of whom were residents of Idaho. This carillon has been used to play music for many years and is still in use today.

The dedication ceremony took place on Mother’s Day weekend, with the carillon being played for the first time. The ceremony was attended by the university president, the choral director, and several local dignitaries.

After the dedication ceremony, the carillon was played for the first time. The performance was well received by the crowd and it was decided to make the carillon a permanent fixture of the campus.

The carillon has been used to play music for many years, and it continues to be an important part of campus life. The carillon is a symbol of the university’s commitment to excellence in education and the arts.

In 1943, the carillon was dedicated in the name of David Monroe. Monroe was a well-known citizen of Idaho who had worked to help build the university.

The dedication ceremony was attended by many people, including the university president, the choral director, and several local dignitaries.

After the dedication ceremony, the carillon was played for the first time. The performance was well received by the crowd and it was decided to make the carillon a permanent fixture of the campus.

The carillon has been used to play music for many years, and it continues to be an important part of campus life. The carillon is a symbol of the university’s commitment to excellence in education and the arts.

In 1943, the carillon was dedicated in the name of David Monroe. Monroe was a well-known citizen of Idaho who had worked to help build the university.

The dedication ceremony was attended by many people, including the university president, the choral director, and several local dignitaries.

After the dedication ceremony, the carillon was played for the first time. The performance was well received by the crowd and it was decided to make the carillon a permanent fixture of the campus.

The carillon has been used to play music for many years, and it continues to be an important part of campus life. The carillon is a symbol of the university’s commitment to excellence in education and the arts.

In 1943, the carillon was dedicated in the name of David Monroe. Monroe was a well-known citizen of Idaho who had worked to help build the university.

The dedication ceremony was attended by many people, including the university president, the choral director, and several local dignitaries.

After the dedication ceremony, the carillon was played for the first time. The performance was well received by the crowd and it was decided to make the carillon a permanent fixture of the campus.

The carillon has been used to play music for many years, and it continues to be an important part of campus life. The carillon is a symbol of the university’s commitment to excellence in education and the arts.

In 1943, the carillon was dedicated in the name of David Monroe. Monroe was a well-known citizen of Idaho who had worked to help build the university.

The dedication ceremony was attended by many people, including the university president, the choral director, and several local dignitaries.

After the dedication ceremony, the carillon was played for the first time. The performance was well received by the crowd and it was decided to make the carillon a permanent fixture of the campus.

The carillon has been used to play music for many years, and it continues to be an important part of campus life. The carillon is a symbol of the university’s commitment to excellence in education and the arts.

In 1943, the carillon was dedicated in the name of David Monroe. Monroe was a well-known citizen of Idaho who had worked to help build the university.

The dedication ceremony was attended by many people, including the university president, the choral director, and several local dignitaries.

After the dedication ceremony, the carillon was played for the first time. The performance was well received by the crowd and it was decided to make the carillon a permanent fixture of the campus.

The carillon has been used to play music for many years, and it continues to be an important part of campus life. The carillon is a symbol of the university’s commitment to excellence in education and the arts.

In 1943, the carillon was dedicated in the name of David Monroe. Monroe was a well-known citizen of Idaho who had worked to help build the university.

The dedication ceremony was attended by many people, including the university president, the choral director, and several local dignitaries.

After the dedication ceremony, the carillon was played for the first time. The performance was well received by the crowd and it was decided to make the carillon a permanent fixture of the campus.
Vandals This Season
Baseball

Championships
U-I Golfers, Baseballers Favored

Trackers Downed By WSU

Vandals Begin Next-To-First Practice Plan

Idaho's Big Sky Enemies: Added Pressure on Boise State, Montana State

intramurals

ATOs Dominate Murals: Sweet, SAEs Follow

Vanguards Score Net-Turn-about

Two Gridders Sign For '64

Imaginative colorful captions grace the front page of the Idaho Daily Press, offering a glimpse into the university's vibrant life. The text is a mix of sports updates, announcements, and personal ads, reflecting the diverse activities taking place on campus.

For instance, there's a mention of the Intramural Track and Archery Meet Entries due date, set for May 31. This event is part of the larger Intramural Sports program, which invites students to participate in various sports and activities, fostering a sense of community and healthy competition.

Another notable event is the Two Gridders signing for the football team, an exciting development for both the team and the student athletes involved. This highlights the university's commitment to athletics and the academic achievements of its students.

The article also touches on the Vandals This Season, particularly focusing on baseball, which promises to be a busy year for the Idaho baseball team as they compete in two leagues, the Big Sky and the Mountain West Conference, under the guidance of Coach Wayne Anderson.

The Intramurals section features ATOs dominating the murals, with Sweet and SAEs following closely, indicating perhaps the spirit and camaraderie within these organizations.

Sports-wise, the Vandals have plenty of opportunities to showcase their skills, from intramural sports to competitive athletics, reflecting the university's emphasis on well-rounded student life and the importance of physical activity and teamwork.

Overall, the page is a snapshot of daily life at Idaho State University, capturing the essence of student engagement in various activities, from sports to community events, and illustrating the institution's dedication to fostering a dynamic and inclusive campus environment.