E Board To Be Seen On U-TV

Tuesday At 7 p.m.

The E-Board meeting next Tuesday, Jan. 17, will be broadcast live on U-TV, Channel 6. All the time the board meetings have been televised.

Jim Hancock, a member of the board and president of the Activities Council, said the meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the学生 Union Building. Hancock said the board is considering the proposal for the construction of a new student union building.

The board is expected to discuss various matters at the meeting, including the budget and student fees.

I'd Possible Site Of New Health Clinic

American University announced yesterday that it will build a new health clinic on the campus. The new facility will be located in the basement of the Student Union Building.

American University President Dr. R. Theophilus said the new clinic will provide medical and health services to students, faculty, and staff. The clinic will be open to the public and will offer a range of services, including primary care, mental health, and pharmacy.

The new clinic is expected to open in the fall of 2019 and will be staffed by licensed physicians, nurses, and other health professionals.

Water Floods Basements Of Idaho Life Groups

As much as 2 feet of water filled the basements of several Idaho life groups yesterday. The flooding caused significant damage to the groups' facilities and equipment.

The water flooded the basements of the Idaho Life Group on the west side of the campus, the Idaho Life Group on the east side of the campus, and the Idaho Life Group on the south side of the campus.

No injuries were reported, but several groups had to cancel meetings and events due to the flooding.

State Taxes Take Top Billing At Opening Week Of Legislature

On Monday, the Idaho legislature opened its 69th session with a focus on state taxes. Governor Brad Little said he would like to see a property tax relief package passed by the legislature.

The budget proposal includes a 1% personal income tax increase and a 2% sales tax increase. The governor said this would help address the state's $1.5 billion budget shortfall.

U* Students In Accidents On Vacation

University students were involved in three accidents during Christmas vacation, according to University officials.

Charles O. Decker, Dean of Students, said that one student was involved in a car accident, another student was involved in a motorcycle accident, and a third student was involved in a pedestrian accident.

The accidents occurred on different days of the vacation and did not result in any serious injuries.

KUO Plans To Extend Idaho Campus Coverage

The addition of a new transmitter station this weekend will extend coverage of KUO to at least five live groups, according to a station spokesperson.

The new transmitter is expected to cover much of the campus and will allow KUO to continue its coverage of the Idaho Life Group and other groups.

Food Assistance Available

Several food assistance programs are available on campus to help students who are struggling to make ends meet.

The university sponsors several food banks and pantry programs, including the SAE Food Pantry and the Alpha Chi Omega Food Pantry. Students can also access food assistance through the Student Affairs Office and the University Counseling Center.

Students Need To Pay Attention To Classes When Developing Aid

The university reminds students that they must pay attention to their classes while developing aid programs. Students are encouraged to speak with their academic advisors to ensure they are enrolled in the correct courses.

New Feature

The Student Life website now includes an "Ask the Advisor" feature, where students can ask their academic advisors questions about class registration, academic policies, and other topics.

Branching Out

Several new classes will be offered this semester, including "Introduction to Business" and "Introduction to Engineering." The classes are designed to help students explore different career paths and develop skills.

Thursday night, during the Idaho Senate's annual legislative policy speech, Idaho Governor Cecil Andrus said that the state's universities and colleges "need to be modern" in order to compete successfully.

"I do not mean that they should be converted into carbon copies of our high schools," Andrus said. "I mean that they have to be able to compete with the best in the nation.

Andrus said that the state's colleges and universities "must have the best facilities," and that the state "must allocate the necessary funds." He also said that the state "must develop a better and more efficient system of education." Andrus concluded by saying that the state's colleges and universities "must do a better job of preparing students for the world of work."

Vandal Face Crusaders, Recognition In Future

By Peter Peterson

It's back to Utah again this weekend for the Idaho basketball Vandals and a non-conference game with the visiting Boise State Huskies. Coach Jim Goddard's troops will tangle with the Utes for the first time since 1970 when the two schools met in the 1970 NCAA Tournament. That was Dec. 15, 1970, in Salt Lake City. Idaho lost that contest 85-71. Goddard is excited about the upcoming contest. "It's going to be a tough game, as tough as any we've played in the past," he said. "We're going to have to play our best basketball to come out on top." Goddard expects a fast-paced, high-scoring game. "I think we're going to see a lot of points scored," he said. "But we're going to have to be prepared to defend our home court." The Vandals are looking for their first win of the season after losing their first two games to Arizona and Utah State. Boise State, on the other hand, is off to a 2-0 start. The game will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Lawlor Events Center.

THE OUTRAGE

Is it football season yet? Well, for many Idahoans, it is. The Idaho State University football team is in full swing, and fans are already looking forward to the start of the season. The team is training hard, and players are eager to get back on the field. The football season is a source of excitement and pride for many Idahoans, and it's a great time to be a part of it.

Idaho Finishes Strong at Wartburg

The Vandals basketball team had a strong showing in its final game of the season against the University of Idaho. Idaho won the game 88-85, thanks in part to a late rally by the Vandals. Idaho was led by senior guard John Smith, who scored 18 points. The game was a great way to end the season for the Vandals, who were able to come back after being down early.

Andros loses Monroe

The Vandals basketball team lost to the University of Michigan 66-65 in a close game. Andros played well, scoring 18 points, but it wasn't enough to secure the win. Michigan's defense was strong, and Andros was unable to get his shot to fall late in the game.
