Dear Jason

Grimes Tells Why He’s Out
Dear Jason,

Many people have asked me why I have suddenly decided to run the race for the state senator from the 45th District. I thought you might be interested in hearing my answer.

I’ve long been an admirer of the Idaho Senate and its role in state government. To me, it is the most powerful and important office in the state. It is also the most overlooked and unappreciated office in the state. I’ve long been an admirer of the Idaho Senate and its role in state government. I’ve long been an admirer of the Idaho Senate and its role in state government. To me, it is the most powerful and important office in the state. It is also the most overlooked and unappreciated office in the state.

I have a long track record of public service and I am confident that I can make a difference in the Senate. I’ve held various positions in government and I have a proven record of service. I’m a strong advocate for education and I have a strong record of supporting our schools.

I’m running because I believe in the values of the Idaho Senate and I believe that I can make a positive difference in the state. I’m running because I believe in the values of the Idaho Senate and I believe that I can make a positive difference in the state.

CANDY?

Dear Reader,

The survey results for the Idaho Senate election show that the majority of Idahoans support the current administration. This is not surprising, as the survey was conducted by a leading public opinion research firm.

Orwell Theory Hits Romanticism at U-I

Twentieth-century author George Orwell, the electronic computer, the nuclear reactor, and containment, "bourgeois," "bourgeois" culture, and writers were clammers, their words were quartered until they lost their true meaning. However, we still hear them on a daily basis. The word, "bourgeois," no longer connotes a particular social strata. It is now a pejorative term used to describe anyone who is not a criminal or a deceiver.

This fall, the University of Idaho's Speech and Debate Team, in conjunction with the Student Senate, will present its annual "Theatre at U-I" series. One of the events scheduled for this fall is "A Night with George Orwell," a play that explores the life and works of this controversial author.

The play is based on Orwell's classic novel "Animal Farm," which tells the story of a group of farm animals who rebel against their human owners and set up a utopian society. However, the pigs quickly become just as corrupt as the human farmers they overthrew, leading to a series of battles with the other animals.

The play will feature a cast of local actors, including students and faculty members from the University of Idaho. The production will be directed by Professor John Smith, who has previously directed several successful productions at the University of Idaho.

The "Theatre at U-I" series is a popular event at the University of Idaho, and tickets are expected to sell out quickly. For more information, please visit the University of Idaho's Speech and Debate Team website or contact Professor Smith directly.
A trio of real Vandals — Tom Moreland and Bill Haskins — have been members of this season's All Big Sky Conference teams for the league's six basketball basketballers.

Skalins, the league's eighth leading scorer and the marked All Star All at 5'11, was the only Idaho player to win either the first or second team honors. Moreland, a leading point guard, starter in College Vandals' big game when Skalins had to leave the field forentional medical woes.

Young first was not the first to take to the field. Jerry, a member of last year's second team, Skalins, another member of last year's second team, was able to establish the favorable leading position.

Cross John Moreland Idaho State's DeVere Cruse was a second team player along with Oregon, Idaho's All Conference guard. Bill Moreland was also picked for the second team. John Schloshauer of Seattle and Alex Reynolds of Montana were also named second teamers. Nash's experience ranked him fourth on the honorable men. Moreland, a former Idaho State and Idaho player, was also named fourth in the conference.

Two Idaho teams were selected for four "but not best" honors in the conference.
