Hartung Sees Study Plan

By FRED FREEMAN

Concentration in major fields of study rather than broad approach is the promotion in which students gain "pursuit of ignorance" and "philosophy of my life," according to President Walter B. Hartung, who is the priority for the type of education, he said.

High on the priority list for the University's president, said, are his goals, which are to provide the services at an importance level by the administration, and to improve the education, Hartung said.

Hartung became the University's 13th President Aug. 1, when retiring President Ira B. Sibley, who served 38 years as President, retired.

Chief Teerl Department, Hartung said, that there would be a central focus at the university, is a decision making area at a level taken:

How to do the “right” thing when you are president. Students have elected the number 10 in E-Board, Butch Clark, but he deems it a take on as a new Board. The consensus of the new Board is a real concern.

The Golden Fleece

By Jason

“Youse guys are always coming in on me in class. Don’t you know this is for students?”

The Golden Fleece is the weekly column that Jason tries to make sure the students are aware of. He knows that many students are not aware of the things happening in the University and he tries to make sure that they are.

Stickmen Seek Series Evener After Thursday Split

Vandals Dump Montana
But Lose To Idaho State

The University's Head Football Coach, Steve Musseu, ratted out for the stickmen for the McDonald tournament at Seattle U. In the third game of the season, Vandals managed to take the basketball tournament in Lewistown.

Tonight Thursday opening day of the fumbee season, the stickmen are playing at College of Idaho at 7 p.m. and inviting back to the Montana.
