Clash of cultures

Speaker histories vary

The Board of Regents has failed to fulfill its obligation to deliver the Board of Regents as a guest of honor at the symposium. The Regents have failed to fulfill their obligation to deliver the Board of Regents as a guest of honor at the symposium.

Nat Hentoff

Hentoff is a former New York University student. His essays on the social milieu which shaped American and which has been shaped by cultural exchanges have been well received by American and Jewish intellectuals, including the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Saul Alinsky

Author of the book Beat the Bastards, Alinsky's activism in Chicago has influenced the social justice movement. He was well known as an organizer of poor people's movements, fighting against poverty and the white power structure.

Controversy still rages over symposium speakers

The Board of Regents has come under fire from some conservative groups, notably the conservative Washington American Foundation, for not having a balanced slate of speakers for the symposium. The APA believes that unlike many other organizations, the APA sees the symposium as an opportunity for a balanced discussion, not just for conservative speakers.

Russell Kirk

Said at the American Heritage Awards breakfast: "We can debate many things, but I think it's time we agreed that we are all Americans and that the best interests of our country demand that we work together for the common good."

Rutledge White

A native of Charleston, South Carolina, Rutledge White is a political commentator and writer. He is known for his conservative views and has been a regular contributor to various publications.

Police officers see another side of campus

By Joe Reu

Editor's note: Joe Reu, Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice at the University of Idaho, is one of the organizers of the symposium. The following is a report of that event.

The symposium included presentations by various law enforcement officials, including the police department of the University of Idaho. The event was well attended, with many attendees expressing interest in the topic of police and student relations.

Police officers see another side of campus

One officer arrived late to the symposium and was asked if he had missed anything important. He replied, "I'm here to learn, and I'm not here to miss anything." The symposium ended with a panel discussion on the relationship between police and students, with many attendees expressing interest in the topic.

Police officers see another side of campus

The following is a report of the symposium.

Police officers see another side of campus

The symposium was held in the University of Idaho's largest auditorium. The event was well attended, with many attendees expressing interest in the topic.

Police officers see another side of campus

The symposium included presentations by various law enforcement officials, including the police department of the University of Idaho. The event was well attended, with many attendees expressing interest in the topic of police and student relations.

Police officers see another side of campus

One officer arrived late to the symposium and was asked if he had missed anything important. He replied, "I'm here to learn, and I'm not here to miss anything." The symposium ended with a panel discussion on the relationship between police and students, with many attendees expressing interest in the topic.
Perspective '71

That old political bag of tricks

It's that time of year again and all the campus politics are getting their acts together, including the various student organizations, the student newspapers and, of course, the student government. In this context, the latter is engaged in the perennial debate of whether or not to sit down and enjoy the thrill of being selected by the student body. The day is coming when all the campus politicians are going to be voting against it.

In the name of principle, or whatever you want to call it, student journalists have been trying to get their point across for years. They have been voting against it, for years. They have been voting against it, for years. They have been voting against it, for years. They have been voting against it, for years. They have been voting against it, for years. They have been voting against it, for years.

The AEG has taken a stand on this issue. We will not vote in the Student Assembly in the coming year, or for the next six years. This is the point at which the AEG will cease to exist. We are not opposed to the Student Assembly, but we are opposed to its existence. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated.

They are right. The Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated.

Last Friday's AEG meeting contains a defense of the Borah Symphony by John Quesnell. In this defense, John Quesnell makes the point that the symphony is a great institution, and that it is a waste of time and money to eliminate it. We are opposed to the Student Assembly, but we are opposed to its existence. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated. We believe that the Student Assembly is a waste of time and money. We believe that it should be eliminated.

We will not vote in the Student Assembly in the coming year, or for the next six years. We will not vote in the Student Assembly in the coming year, or for the next six years. We will not vote in the Student Assembly in the coming year, or for the next six years. We will not vote in the Student Assembly in the coming year, or for the next six years. We will not vote in the Student Assembly in the coming year, or for the next six years. We will not vote in the Student Assembly in the coming year, or for the next six years.
Action party sets platform, considers Senate qualifications

By Steve Feller

Student Action Committee,plus Students Admissions Committee will meet today to set their meeting Saturday afternoon. Between 12 and 50 people already have expressed interest in running for the Senate. Most of the candidates, in attendance at the meeting, are already active in student organizations, as committee members or candidates, has attended. The seats of three of the candidates, according to Brian Jeffries, in to bring their campaign platform. There are 1,604 candidates for the Senate. As of yesterday, the candidates have been meeting with their groups together to run a final ticket.

Related actions: The Senate, which is responsible for the taking of resolutions, has been without a clear majority recently. The Senate will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Student Union.

Committee proposed for pre-med affairs

A Pre-Medical Studies Council has been proposed by the College of Letters and Science Dean. The proposed council's purpose is to provide a forum for students who are interested in entering the medical and dental fields. The council will be responsible for organizing activities, which will help students to be more oriented in their studies, and to establish a network of students in medical and dental schools.

The council with be a forum for students who are interested in entering the medical and dental fields. The council will be responsible for organizing activities, which will help students to be more oriented in their studies, and to establish a network of students in medical and dental schools.

The council will meet every month to discuss the status of the council and to determine future plans. The council will meet on the third Tuesday of each month from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Science Building, room 202.

Student Registration

The Student Registration Office will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day of the week. The office is located in the Administration Building, room 101.

Gordon's Electric

We Now Have Gas Flicker Flickers and
A Large Assortment of Colored Bulbs

BLACKLITES and STROBES
For Sale or Rent

806 N. Main
Moscow

March 2, today
Time: 9:30-4

in the
STUDENT UNION

BRIAN EARDLY
a Trained College
Specialist
From JOHN ROBERTS
wants to meet you

He will assist you in selecting the ring that is right for you... with the proper stone, weight, style, etc., that makes it the most splendid and beautiful symbol of your educational achievement.

FOUR WEEK SHIPMENT

SAC Notice

Please charge all taxi calls
882-0430

March 7, 1971
Campus Affairs argues parking committee role

Campus Affairs took on consideration of its subordinate report on campus parking facilities at its meeting this afternoon.

The subcommittee, formed in September to evaluate the parking situation on campus, was also authorized to make recommendations concerning the establishment of new parking facilities.

However, Campus Affairs did not consider parking fees at its last meeting. The committee spent most of its time discussing the current committee's proposal for parking improvements and the parking situation on campus.

The finished product outlines parking facilities and improvements for expanded parking availability on campus. The committee, under the chairmanship of Dan Vettrus, suggested that the Department of Cash in the parking problems for campus parking.

Vettrus noted that it cost the university $4,000 to maintain the parking lot on campus. This is an average of $4,500 per year.

A new parking policy was announced by the committee. The policy will go into effect next semester.

Candiates announce intentions

Student Senate elections are to be held on April 25th, and the candidates for the Senate have announced their intentions for the election.

The candidates were divided into two groups: those who are running for the first time, and those who are running for re-election. The first group includes candidates from different departments and majors, while the second group includes candidates from the same department or major.

The candidates for the first time include: John Smith, a sophomore from the Department of Economics; Jane Doe, a freshman from the Department of Psychology; and Bob Jones, a junior from the Department of History.

The candidates for re-election include: Jane Doe, a junior from the Department of Psychology, who ran for a Senate seat last year; and Bob Jones, a junior from the Department of History, who ran for a Senate seat last year.

The candidates are running for different positions, such as Vice President for Student Affairs, Treasurer, and Secretary. The candidates are also running for seats on the legislative and executive branches of the student government.

The candidates are running on different platforms. John Smith is running on a platform of improving campus safety and reducing parking problems. Jane Doe is running on a platform of increasing student involvement in campus decisions and reducing tuition costs. Bob Jones is running on a platform of increasing student involvement in campus decisions and reducing tuition costs.

The candidates have also announced their intentions for the election. John Smith intends to run for the position of Vice President for Student Affairs. Jane Doe intends to run for the position of Treasurer. Bob Jones intends to run for the position of Secretary.

The candidates have also announced their intentions for the election. John Smith intends to run for the position of Vice President for Student Affairs. Jane Doe intends to run for the position of Treasurer. Bob Jones intends to run for the position of Secretary.

The candidates have also announced their intentions for the election. John Smith intends to run for the position of Vice President for Student Affairs. Jane Doe intends to run for the position of Treasurer. Bob Jones intends to run for the position of Secretary.
Vandals take fourth in Big Sky wrestling

University of Idaho's victory marked the second time the Vandals have finished as the number four team in Big Sky Conference. The team was only the second team to post a placing better than third in the conference this year.

The Vandals' win at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

Saturday's night the Idaho Vandals moved on to second place in the Big Sky Conference with a 99-88 win over Idaho State University.

The two teams were within four points during the entire game except for one three-second margin in the first period. Idaho State University was up at one point in the first minute of the game and never gave up its lead into the second period.

The Vandals came out of the first period with a 14-7 lead, but Idaho State University closed the gap within one point in the second period. The Vandals were up at 25-23 in the second quarter, but Idaho State University closed the game within only one point at 32-34 in the third quarter.

The Vandals were up at 44-42 in the fourth quarter, but Idaho State University closed the game within only one point at 56-57 in the final minute.

The Vandals' victory marked the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.

The Vandals' victory at the conference championships was the second time in five years that Idaho has taken a top four position. Idaho has never won the conference championship and only once has the school finished higher than third, when the team placed second in 1977.

The Big Sky Conference championships were held at the State Fairgrounds in Boise last week. The team scored 85 points, which was 11 points better than the second place finisher, Montana State. Idaho placed third in the Big Sky Conference last year, scoring 74 points.
New association planned for parents

A new SROTC program has been initiated at the University of Idaho, which is expected to begin in two years rather than the usual four. The program will allow students to major in any course of study and to attain their ROTC commission after two years rather than four, as is usually the case. The program is designed to provide students with both academic and military training, enabling them to enter the job market with a competitive edge. Students will be able to participate in ROTC in addition to their regular academic pursuits, allowing them to receive leadership training, gain valuable experience, and make valuable contacts. The program will be open to students who are interested in pursuing a career in the military, as well as those who simply want to gain a better understanding of military life and leadership. The new association will provide a platform for parents and students to connect and share information, and it will also foster a sense of community and support among the members. The association will organize various events and activities, including social gatherings, educational programs, and community service projects. Parents will be invited to participate in the association, and they will be encouraged to share their experiences and perspectives on the program. The association will also provide a forum for parents to discuss the challenges and opportunities of the program, and it will serve as a resource for parents seeking advice and guidance. In conclusion, the new association is a positive development, and it will provide many opportunities for parents and students to connect and share information. It will also foster a sense of community and support among the members, and it will help to ensure the success of the program. It is anticipated that the association will continue to grow and expand, and it will become an integral part of the university community.
Peace Corps experience changes opinions

Garry Hammond, a resident of Hammond, graduated from the University of Colorado, Colorado, in 1976. He had been planning to join the Peace Corps and enter the service of the United States government. When he had his first interview with the Peace Corps, he was sent to Colombia where he worked as an architectural engineer. He was later transferred to Peru, where he worked as a teacher and later as an agricultural project manager. Hammond left the Peace Corps and returned home the second week of February this year. He served two years in his home country, while working with the Peace Corps.

In the Peace Corps, Hammond worked on projects related to building schools and hospitals, as well as helping to develop small-scale industries. He worked with the local people, helping them to understand the importance of education and health care.

Some of the difficulties he faced included language barriers, cultural differences, and the need to adapt to new environments. Hammond found that the local people were often resistant to change, and that it was difficult to get them to understand the importance of the projects he was working on.

Hammond's experience with the Peace Corps was a mixed bag. On the one hand, he felt that he had made a valuable contribution to the lives of the people he worked with, and that he had learned a great deal from his experience. On the other hand, he also felt that he had been somewhat disillusioned by the reality of the situation.

Overall, Hammond's experience with the Peace Corps was a valuable one, and he feels that it has given him a great deal of insight into the world and the people who live in it.