How much does it cost to die in Moscow?

By Law Seres

It's really dead, and you don't know why. You have to handle the arrangements for your husband's funeral. You go to the local chapel, where they have already come to the body is then placed in a casket in the town's chapel. The embalmer is waiting for you. You show him the body. He will give you some initial instructions about the process of filling out forms. He helps you fill out the necessary paperwork. He will then give you a detailed estimate of the costs involved.

You must select a casket for the body. It's done at the funeral home. For this you must cross the hall into the selection room, which is filled with a variety of coffins from different manufacturers. The funeral director explains where the coffins are located, answers any questions you may have, and helps you select the one you want.

The cost covers embalming of the body, transportation, and the use of the chapel, as well as the casket. He explains. You manage the details and the funeral director arranges the rest of the arrangements.

You don't want to have to do it yourself. But you are going to have to do it. That's a fact. What arrangements are before us, and how do we make them when you're dead, pregnant, or others, or family member dies? And what is it going to cost?

In Moscow, a partner in the Simplest Chapel, explained the various services that are included in the mortician's business.

"We are a non-profit organization. We offer services free of charge. There is a small fee for the casket, but that is included in the price. We also offer home visits to help people plan their funerals. We are a non-profit organization, so we do not charge for our services."

"The service is offered to all people, regardless of their ability to pay. We want to make sure that everyone has the opportunity to have a dignified funeral."

"We work with clients to create a custom plan that meets their needs and budget. We understand that everyone is different, and we strive to provide the best possible service."

"We are committed to providing a dignified and respectful funeral for everyone. We want to help people honor their loved ones with a meaningful ceremony."

Proposed College of Natural Resources dies

By Ron Hulshizer

In response to what was termed overwhelming opposition, the College of Natural Resources was eliminated yesterday from reorganization recommendations being considered by Faculty Council. The search also voted to postpone discussion about other portions of the reorganization until its next meeting in May.

The College of Natural Resources (formerly known as the Forestry Department) was recommended for elimination by the Faculty Council, with 11 of 14 members voting in favor of the recommendation and one abstaking.

The recommendation was made because, according to Dr. Eric Pack, professor of physics, the college is not a major department in the University and would not be a major department in the University.

Dr. Pack said that the recommendation was made because it was felt that the college was not a major department in the University and would not be a major department in the University.

The Carnegie report that division of the Resources College would allow consideration of the other recommendations in a "more rational light." Dr. Pack noted that the recommendation was made because it was felt that the college was not a major department in the University and would not be a major department in the University.

The College of Natural Resources, part of a recommendation for "university reorganization," essentially proposed continuing the Colleges of Mines, Agriculture, and Forestry.

An Argonaut survey this week disclosed almost unanimous opposition to the resources College recommendations among department heads in those colleges.

The opposition was primarily on the basis that the three colleges involved would lose their identity. Another criticism was that the college would be in a completely new location, which would be difficult to staff and operate, and it would be difficult to find a new broadly enough based to meet the needs of the college.

Dr. Larry Shadbolt, chairman of the 4th Section Committee, told the Argonaut that the latter argument was "untenable."

Lord and forged "Letters of intent are greater now than the combined college would be," said Pack. "Many of the 1st section is the recommendation aren't departments now, they're just areas."

The Resources College proposal was made, said Pack, because there is "a tendency toward duplication in the proposed colleges." The intention of the proposal "is to reduce diversity among the areas in natural resources."

"Barely, I think it has been pretty well pointed out that it is the departments that have the name, not the colleges," added Pack.

Vincent D. Orlando, area offices, for Mines, Agriculture and Forestry, expressed support for the proposal also.

"In some personal opinion that Forestry would not be as a strong a rational position as it is if it has merged with other colleges," said Orlando.

Dr. Larry Shadbolt, chairman of the 4th Section Committee, said, "I think it has been pretty well pointed out that it is the departments that have the name, not the colleges." added Pack.

College officials said, "We are all for the bettering college-wide.

Discussion deferred on campus parking

Discussion of campus parking problems was deferred by the general faculty on Thursday, May 11, at their meeting Tuesday. The faculty, after debate on new proposals, passed all policy actions as reported to them by Faculty Council.

"We briefly discussed the policy changes for parking changes for reasons of the student body," said Pack. "We will try to make a decision on the parking changes in a timely manner."
Student views requested on tenure procedures

A subcommittee of the Faculty Affairs Committee is studying the current procedures for evaluating faculty members for promotion to tenure status. Student views are needed. Please complete the following questionnaires and return them to Prof. Barbara Malmgren, Department of English, no later than May 14.

1. What is your class in the University? Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior, Graduate Student

2. The following are areas of concern for which a faculty member is evaluated for tenure (particular areas may be weighted differently in different academic departments or with respect to the faculty member’s particular assignment). Do you wish to suggest additional areas in which you believe student views should be solicited? (Circle ALL THAT APPLY)

- Competence in field
- Teaching effectiveness in undergraduate courses
- Teaching effectiveness and direction of research at the graduate level
- Effectiveness in initiating student interest, career goals, and scholarly activity
- Service in department (committees, student advisement, curricular development, etc.)
- Service in university and university level committees and functions
- Research and publications
- Activity in professional organizations
- Personal characterization (e.g., integrity, responsibility, cooperation, etc.)
- Other

3. Do you think the current procedures for student evaluation of teachers in adequate means of expressing student views relating to tenure?

Yes

No

Tennis tournament set

The University of Idaho will host the Idaho Empire Collegiate tennis tournament this weekend with USLTA. Today at 1 p.m. they beat Boise State and then at 3 p.m. they defeated Montana. Saturday morning they defeated Southern Oregon College to complete the bracket of round robin play.

Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. Washington State will host the turnover match.

Student names director, committee heads

LaVerne was named personnel director and Monica Lomas named scholarship chairman at the Thursday meeting of the AIAWDS.

In other businesses, the senate established committees. These establishments include S4, the senate activities committee, S5, the senate budget committee, S6, the senate building and grounds committee, and S7, the senate communication committee.

Chris Smith was designated as chairman of the finance committee. The executive committee considers bills concerning finance or Appropriations. It is also set up to consider the budget. Other members include Bill Fitzgerald, Steve Suda, and Nikko Russell.

Rules and regulations which deals with bills concerning procedural changes will be under the chairmanship of Rick Cutler, Todd Hershkowitz, Ruth Barnwell and Jim Meyers. Membership on Senate committees was determined by the senators’ preference and by Tom Hays. AIAWDS vice-president.

Senate members received a complete copy of the Idaho Empire Collegiate tennis tournament this weekend with USLTA. Inaccurate news conference on BYU football.

The ASU budget is still under consideration by the finance committee and should enter before the senate for approval next week.
People's peace treaty:

I have just finished reading Tom Hawthorne's book, "The People's Peace Treaty." The NLSI has just published a copy of Mr. Leary's book, "Prestidigitation & Co." I hope that you have also read these books and that you agree with me.

Free school help asked

The free school was generally understood to mean that the students' activities were to be free from governmental interference. This was in contradistinction to the free schools of the 19th century which were characterized by a lack of governmental control and regulation. The free schools of the 19th century were highly popular and enjoyed widespread support among the people.

People's peace treaty:

In the context of the current debates on the nature of the People's Peace Treaty, it is important to note that the treaty was intended to establish a new form of government and society. The treaty was drafted by a group of intellectuals and activists who sought to create a world free from war and exploitation.

SHITTING IN HIS OWN NEST

Any of you who have had the privilege of traveling our nation’s highways, or visiting its scenic areas, have become increasingly appalled and distressed over littering. There is at present an industry, employing 200 million dollars worth of equipment, which, after one of our GROS National projects, discard the remains – hillside signs of their activities, as observed in the beer cans and bottles, plastic cups, and assorted packages and containers that dot the landscape, like the acne on the face of Mother Earth. This mentality has cost us 25 million dollars a year in tax monies for its processes.

GUEST COLUMN

Professor’s last chance

Dr. Browne

The meeting last May was a failure. I was well aware of this all along. If I had to state the reasons why I was not in, I would have been reasonable.

On the other hand, I would have to do what I do every year, when it comes to the question of what I think happened to this meeting. I have always been in the habit of doing a number of things, such as writing letters, taking notes, and so on. This is what I would have to do in order to make my point.

As far as the question of how I think the meeting was going, I would say that I think it was going fairly well. The problem, however, is that I do not think that the meeting was being properly run. I think that the meeting was being run in a very unfair way, and that is why I did not attend.

I think that the meeting was a failure, and I would have to take the blame for that. But I would also have to say that I think that the meeting was being run in a very unfair way, and that is why I did not attend.

Critics Say: Anatomy of a Flick

By Eone Potter

Can it really be that the man who directed 'La Bohème' has come to the realization that the French are fickle and will get bored if the telling isn't right? The answer is yes, and it's in the just-released 'La Bohème.'

The film is a musical, and its success depends on the singing. The singing is good, but not great. The story is weak and the direction is flat.

The film opens with a scene of Puccini's opera 'La Bohème.' The action then shifts to modern-day Paris, where we meet Marius, played by Richard Chamberlain, and his friend Colline, played by James Mason. Marius is a poet and Colline is a philosopher. Their lives are interrupted when Marius falls in love with a girl named Musetta, played by Olivia de Havilland.

The film then moves on to the story of Rodolfo, played by Richard Todd, and his love affair with Mimi, played by Merle Oberon. Rodolfo is a painter and Mimi is a seamstress. They have a brief romance, but it ends when Rodolfo discovers that Mimi is pregnant.

The film concludes with a scene of the opera 'La Bohème.' The performance is well done, but it doesn't make up for the shortcomings of the film as a whole.

In conclusion, 'La Bohème' is not a bad film, but it is not a great one. The singing is good, but not great, and the story is weak. The direction is flat and fails to capture the spirit of Puccini's opera.
The Summer Visit Scientists at Work In Bay Area Labs

This summer, from June 21 to July 30, the University of Santa Clara will host an eight-week course in cosmic rays and physics. The course will be taught by the renowned physicists who are currently working on various projects in the field. The course will cover topics such as particle accelerators, experiment design, data analysis, and the latest developments in high-energy physics.

Any college student or college board student who has had two years of high school physics or chemistry is eligible to attend. The course will be taught by Dr. William A. Butler of the Physics Department and Dr. Michael A. Sweeney of the Chemistry Department.

For information on registration, contact the University of Santa Clara, 5200 University Ave, Santa Clara, CA 95053. (Phone) 909-844-4161.

The University of Santa Clara
Nationally famous sporting event on UI campus

By Dianne Pagano

Hi there. This is Jack Lemmey along with Chris Harrison and Marvin Schoen, the 1971 University of Idaho campus. Today’s game is one of the really big ones—the conference championship of the U.S. at stake. The University of Idaho versus the University of Washington.
You know Chris, there’s been a lot of talk about here that there’s nothing to do in Moscow at any time of the year, and that’s dripping in his worst.
Right Jack. There’s nothing worse for the first time when the weather warms up they don’t like to go into the bars anymore. They’ve been with the white waves, but strange excitement around this area. A few people just out on a picnic drinking wine and talk, but the majority of the slender body can’t get into that.
Another thing, a lot of the guys around have a lot to trouble with women. We have to go out and talk women here because there are girls. This, of course, is the make of Moscow. Over the course of the last 20 years, the guys with nothing to do in the spring started standing around and looking at the girls.

Of course the girls started picking up on this and started paying around, asking around dressed with the same mind. Over the years, this affair became more formalized and we reached the point we’re close in on that. But to get back to the subject, these guys all come from small towns and try the time they get out to college they’re so pressured they can’t even talk to a female. After they are on a stand around with their mouths open and able. That’s what we lack for here where we’re remaining.

Out Moscow has some of the best shoots in the state.

Thank you, Marv. That was Marvin Schoen with the Gals, the result of this UI Vandal team. We are down one on the field that the game is about to begin.

Right Chris. But the look was showing a lot of talent before he was substantially hospitalized. The next Vandal player is now out of the field, the Pickering Mortality from Hasting, Idaho. He’s a pretty big boy, 6-11 pounds. Perhaps he’ll be a little bit shorter than the Pickering. However, it’s the girls. He’s a little. About 5’3 with mustache he’s 58 inch maybe. She’s packing the thirty lowest, she’s shaping and taking a very broad. She’s a very long guy and very athletic, and right now she’s just getting started. She has her big boom and it’s very ragged, he’s a little long and he’s coming out of his mouth, which is hanging up like nothing I’ve ever seen. It looks like the entrance to the Lincoln Tunnel. The girl is approaching him now. She’s taller off her ear. She’s wearing blue jeans. Mortality is getting serious.

In just a moment the judges’ results will be. What did you think of that, Chris? Thank you Jack. It was a stirring performance. You may have something to say about the girls with whom the judge have been given to a wide. A perfect score. It will be difficult for anyone to beat that. Before we go to the doubles competition, let’s go to Marvin Schoen in the locker room where he’s taking to Tom Kilowpnie. Come in Marv.

Well, Marv. I’m not hurt too bad, and I should be in good shape for the final match. The girl just blew me right out of my mind. You know that the first time I’ve ever passed and started the match. It broke my recent string of 28.

What are your injuries? Tom.

I’ve got a broken thumb which is my left thumb. So far, I’ve got myself a dental orthodontist. But the doctors say I’ll be all right in a couple of weeks. This is the last I’ll be ready for the international matches.

You just took them personally. Tom.

Now we’ve got back to the bench for the start of the match.

Thank you, Marv. Yes, the doubles have just begun. Marv’s first doubles team of Mark Pinkal and George Bormann are on the fifty yard line waiting for the girls to come on the field. And here they come! A set of twins! The girls are actually playing for me. I got one of them quite right. Now, these are the twins!

The girls are fantastic. They’re all the girls of Idaho State Teachers. They carried along with the exclaimed.

Mark and George are taking the field and giving each other a lot of encouragement just bunging and slapping each other on the back. They’re making out and walking towards the girls. That’s in the doubles competition where the commentaries are sexual support. These two girls are beautiful, they’re201ing as each other. George has just let his right hand

Ladies and gentlemen, we wish to thank you for attending this year’s version of the championship game before they lay down that event of field. Thank you for your patience.
