Vino del Idaho

Troy offers Idaho first home-brew

by Mary Soskin

In a year or two, top wine commissioners of the world may be raising their glasses to Idaho. For the first time in its history, Idaho has produced a wine, and the story of Troy is just one more mile of heritage that Bruce and Georgia Higgins and their family and friends have built. Now people are going to be able to taste a wine that is grown and made in Idaho.

According to Bruce Higgins Jr., the money of the Higgins family is spent on a family hobby. The family hobby that started with a small wine making project in their basement, then expanded to a winery, and now is on its way to being a major wine producing company. The achievement is a result of the Higgins family’s long-term commitment and investment in the winemaking business.

The winery is now located in the former family home in Idaho, where the grapes are grown. The winery is equipped with state-of-the-art equipment and is designed to produce high-quality wines. The winery produces a variety of wines, including reds, whites, and rosés. The winery also offers tours and tastings, allowing visitors to experience the wine-making process and learn about the history of the winery.

The Higgins family has been involved in the wine industry for generations. They have a long history of producing and selling wine, and they are committed to producing high-quality, sustainable wines. The winery is a family-owned and operated business, with Bruce Higgins Jr. as the owner and operator.

The winery is located in a beautiful setting, with stunning views of the surrounding mountains and vineyards. The winery is open to visitors year-round, and they are welcome to come and learn about the wine-making process and enjoy a glass of wine.

The winery is an important part of the local community, and they are committed to giving back to the community. They support local charities and organizations and are involved in a variety of community events. The winery is also a popular destination for tourists, and they are committed to providing a welcoming and enjoyable experience for all who visit.

The winery is an important part of the local economy, and they are committed to supporting the local economy. They are involved in a variety of economic initiatives and are committed to providing high-quality, sustainable wine products.

The winery is an important part of the local culture, and they are committed to preserving and promoting the local culture. They are involved in a variety of cultural initiatives and are committed to providing high-quality, sustainable wine products.

The winery is an important part of the local history, and they are committed to preserving and promoting the local history. They are involved in a variety of historical initiatives and are committed to providing high-quality, sustainable wine products.

The winery is an important part of the local environment, and they are committed to protecting and promoting the local environment. They are involved in a variety of environmental initiatives and are committed to providing high-quality, sustainable wine products.

The winery is an important part of the local society, and they are committed to providing high-quality, sustainable wine products.

The Higgins family is dedicated to producing high-quality, sustainable wines, and they are committed to creating a positive impact in the local community and the world. They believe that wine is more than just a drink; it is a part of the local culture, economy, environment, and society. They are committed to providing high-quality, sustainable wine products that are enjoyed by everyone.

The Higgins family is committed to providing high-quality, sustainable wines, and they are dedicated to creating a positive impact in the local community and the world. They believe that wine is more than just a drink; it is a part of the local culture, economy, environment, and society. They are committed to providing high-quality, sustainable wine products that are enjoyed by everyone.
Dave Warnick

Taking sex to class with you

Loreen Horsell

Disagreement over academics versus football editorial

Where are the reasons?

The Editor:

Concerning the article "Blessed Beaver" versus "Football Tradition," I feel I must take issue with some of the editor's assertions.

Mrs. Horsell stated that "the major players on the varsity have rank from the 1st to the 50th," and that the football team "is the major reason students attend the University of Idaho." While this may be true, I contend that the university should not be judged solely on the success of its athletic teams.

Furthermore, Mrs. Horsell's suggestion that the university is "an institution for the student body" is misleading. While the university does serve as a source of social and cultural activities, its primary function is to provide an education.

I believe that the university should be evaluated on its performance in preparing students for their future careers, and not solely on its athletic success.

I would encourage all students to participate in as many activities as possible, both academic and extracurricular, in order to make the most of their college experience.

The Editor

Design Manager: Kittie Butler

E-mail: dta@uiuii.edu

Student Life: Pam Youngs

MARGI MARGI

MADISANE

MARKS MUNDT

LINDERS

KEENY BIRD

LOOMIS

LAKES

CAMPBELL

KAREN DURHAM

JAN MURDOCH

JIM STACK

SCOTT HANFORD

RUDOLF

JIMMUGINS

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Ours is a challenge, not a money-making business. Our goal is to inform and entertain our readers.

5 THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Tuesday, Feb. 6, 1973

The environment of the campus is one of the most important aspects of college life. The type of atmosphere and the activities available can greatly affect a student's experience.

In the case of the University of Idaho, the football tradition is a major part of the campus culture. However, this does not mean that the university is solely focused on sports.

The argument presented by Mrs. Horsell that the football team is "the major reason students attend the university" is not supported by the evidence. While the university does offer a variety of academic programs, it is not primarily a college for athletes.

I believe that the university should strive to offer a well-rounded education to all students, regardless of their athletic interests.

The Editor

Design Manager: Kittie Butler

E-mail: dta@uiuii.edu

Student Life: Pam Youngs

MARGI MARGI

MADISANE

MARKS MUNDT

LINDERS

KEENY BIRD

LOOMIS

LAKES

CAMPBELL

KAREN DURHAM

JAN MURDOCH

JIM STACK

SCOTT HANFORD

RUDOLF

JIMMUGINS

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Ours is a challenge, not a money-making business. Our goal is to inform and entertain our readers.

5 THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Tuesday, Feb. 6, 1973

The environment of the campus is one of the most important aspects of college life. The type of atmosphere and the activities available can greatly affect a student's experience.

In the case of the University of Idaho, the football tradition is a major part of the campus culture. However, this does not mean that the university is solely focused on sports.

The argument presented by Mrs. Horsell that the football team is "the major reason students attend the university" is not supported by the evidence. While the university does offer a variety of academic programs, it is not primarily a college for athletes.

I believe that the university should strive to offer a well-rounded education to all students, regardless of their athletic interests.

The Editor

Design Manager: Kittie Butler

E-mail: dta@uiuii.edu

Student Life: Pam Youngs

MARGI MARGI

MADISANE

MARKS MUNDT

LINDERS

KEENY BIRD

LOOMIS

LAKES

CAMPBELL

KAREN DURHAM

JAN MURDOCH

JIM STACK

SCOTT HANFORD

RUDOLF

JIMMUGINS

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Ours is a challenge, not a money-making business. Our goal is to inform and entertain our readers.

5 THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Tuesday, Feb. 6, 1973

The environment of the campus is one of the most important aspects of college life. The type of atmosphere and the activities available can greatly affect a student's experience.

In the case of the University of Idaho, the football tradition is a major part of the campus culture. However, this does not mean that the university is solely focused on sports.

The argument presented by Mrs. Horsell that the football team is "the major reason students attend the university" is not supported by the evidence. While the university does offer a variety of academic programs, it is not primarily a college for athletes.

I believe that the university should strive to offer a well-rounded education to all students, regardless of their athletic interests.

The Editor

Design Manager: Kittie Butler

E-mail: dta@uiuii.edu

Student Life: Pam Youngs

MARGI MARGI

MADISANE

MARKS MUNDT

LINDERS

KEENY BIRD

LOOMIS

LAKES

CAMPBELL

KAREN DURHAM

JAN MURDOCH

JIM STACK

SCOTT HANFORD

RUDOLF

JIMMUGINS

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Ours is a challenge, not a money-making business. Our goal is to inform and entertain our readers.

5 THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Tuesday, Feb. 6, 1973

The environment of the campus is one of the most important aspects of college life. The type of atmosphere and the activities available can greatly affect a student's experience.

In the case of the University of Idaho, the football tradition is a major part of the campus culture. However, this does not mean that the university is solely focused on sports.

The argument presented by Mrs. Horsell that the football team is "the major reason students attend the university" is not supported by the evidence. While the university does offer a variety of academic programs, it is not primarily a college for athletes.

I believe that the university should strive to offer a well-rounded education to all students, regardless of their athletic interests.

The Editor

Design Manager: Kittie Butler

E-mail: dta@uiuii.edu

Student Life: Pam Youngs

MARGI MARGI

MADISANE

MARKS MUNDT

LINDERS

KEENY BIRD

LOOMIS

LAKES

CAMPBELL

KAREN DURHAM

JAN MURDOCH

JIM STACK

SCOTT HANFORD

RUDOLF

JIMMUGINS

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Ours is a challenge, not a money-making business. Our goal is to inform and entertain our readers.

5 THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Tuesday, Feb. 6, 1973

The environment of the campus is one of the most important aspects of college life. The type of atmosphere and the activities available can greatly affect a student's experience.

In the case of the University of Idaho, the football tradition is a major part of the campus culture. However, this does not mean that the university is solely focused on sports.

The argument presented by Mrs. Horsell that the football team is "the major reason students attend the university" is not supported by the evidence. While the university does offer a variety of academic programs, it is not primarily a college for athletes.

I believe that the university should strive to offer a well-rounded education to all students, regardless of their athletic interests.

The Editor

Design Manager: Kittie Butler

E-mail: dta@uiuii.edu

Student Life: Pam Youngs

MARGI MARGI

MADISANE

MARKS MUNDT

LINDERS

KEENY BIRD

LOOMIS

LAKES

CAMPBELL

KAREN DURHAM

JAN MURDOCH

JIM STACK

SCOTT HANFORD

RUDOLF

JIMMUGINS

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Ours is a challenge, not a money-making business. Our goal is to inform and entertain our readers.

5 THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

Tuesday, Feb. 6, 1973

The environment of the campus is one of the most important aspects of college life. The type of atmosphere and the activities available can greatly affect a student's experience.

In the case of the University of Idaho, the football tradition is a major part of the campus culture. However, this does not mean that the university is solely focused on sports.

The argument presented by Mrs. Horsell that the football team is "the major reason students attend the university" is not supported by the evidence. While the university does offer a variety of academic programs, it is not primarily a college for athletes.

I believe that the university should strive to offer a well-rounded education to all students, regardless of their athletic interests.

The Editor

Design Manager: Kittie Butler

E-mail: dta@uiuii.edu

Student Life: Pam Youngs

MARGI MARGI

MADISANE

MARKS MUNDT

LINDERS

KEENY BIRD

LOOMIS

LAKES

CAMPBELL

KAREN DURHAM

JAN MURDOCH

JIM STACK

SCOTT HANFORD

RUDOLF

JIMMUGINS
The Regents give...and take...away

The Board of Regents has unanimously approved a plan pricing student members. The board was also set to take... although it was not clear if they could.

\textit{The Argonaut} staff contributed to the story.

\textbf{Friday, Feb. 3, 1973}

The Argonaut's awards... and is awarded with a $175 bill.

\textbf{Tuesday, Feb. 3, 1973}

The Regents gave... and take...away

The Board of Regents has unanimously approved a plan pricing student members. The board was also set to take... although it was not clear if they could.

\textit{The Argonaut} staff contributed to the story.

\textbf{Friday, Feb. 3, 1973}

The Argonaut's awards... and is awarded with a $175 bill.

\textbf{Tuesday, Feb. 3, 1973}

The Regents gave... and take...away

The Board of Regents has unanimously approved a plan pricing student members. The board was also set to take... although it was not clear if they could.

\textit{The Argonaut} staff contributed to the story.

\textbf{Friday, Feb. 3, 1973}

The Argonaut's awards... and is awarded with a $175 bill.
WSU meets U of O in gymnastics

Gymnastics fans have the chance to watch two top competitors when Pullman faces Portland. WSU will face the University of Oregon in the meet.

COFFEE HOUSE
Saturday Night - Feb. 10
9-12 p.m.
FREE COFFEE
FREE ENTERTAINMENT

Featuring
DAVID GARET
From Boise State College

REGAL NOTES
A new wrinkle to the regular "Regal Notes" column, which begins this week, is that it will be delivered electronically. Anyone needing special information, use your terminal to read "Regal Notes" columns. The column will be delivered to anyone who requests it.

COFFEE HOUSE
Saturday Night - Feb. 10
9-12 p.m.
FREE COFFEE
FREE ENTERTAINMENT

Featuring
DAVID GARET
From Boise State College

COFFEE HOUSE
Saturday Night - Feb. 10
9-12 p.m.
FREE COFFEE
FREE ENTERTAINMENT

Featuring
DAVID GARET
From Boise State College

CLASSIFIED ADS
MISCELLANEOUS

ARGONAUT CLASSIFIED ADS

Vandals run hot, then cold

The Women’s basketball team on their first game Thursday, Feb. 8th with Speakers Falls Co-Op. Cal. The team is coached by Mrs. C. Lathem. There are many students in the W.S.U-Bell basketball games are a tournament at Western Washington State College

Sports topics

By MARSHALL HALL

ARGUMENT SPORTS EDITOR

This is the age of nostalgia, when abnormalities become a matter of pride. In the age of sensuous advertising, a man is the product of taking place, Sports figures are a product of the age.

Vandals have used their basketball skills to the hilt, but at the process the team has been plagued, and the game was thrown as an afterthought for a simple head.

Today’s strategic methods of advertising are as those of the past, but with a different edge. The subtle and spiritual exploitation of advertising has been replaced. One can now sell his soul for a dollar, but the game is a lot different.

Whether one’s literature is all in an attempt to it, it has been designed to it. Free of the stress of a score board, Hen and that matter, which is to deceive the face of a score has brought it.

Winter in Arizona has been of a score to be made, and the game was thrown as an afterthought for a simple head. Today’s strategic methods of advertising are as those of the past, but with a different edge. The subtle and spiritual exploitation of advertising has been replaced. One can now sell his soul for a dollar, but the game is a lot different.

ARGONAUT CLASSIFIED ADS

COFFEE HOUSE
Saturday Night - Feb. 10
9-12 p.m.
FREE COFFEE
FREE ENTERTAINMENT

Featuring
DAVID GARET
From Boise State College

Vandals run hot, then cold

The Women’s basketball team on their first game Thursday, Feb. 8th with Speakers Falls Co-Op. Cal. The team is coached by Mrs. C. Lathem. There are many students in the W.S.U-Bell basketball games are a tournament at Western Washington State College

Sports topics

By MARSHALL HALL

ARGUMENT SPORTS EDITOR

This is the age of nostalgia, when abnormalities become a matter of pride. In the age of sensuous advertising, a man is the product of taking place, Sports figures are a product of the age.

Vandals have used their basketball skills to the hilt, but at the process the team has been plagued, and the game was thrown as an afterthought for a simple head.

Today’s strategic methods of advertising are as those of the past, but with a different edge. The subtle and spiritual exploitation of advertising has been replaced. One can now sell his soul for a dollar, but the game is a lot different.

Whether one’s literature is all in an attempt to it, it has been designed to it. Free of the stress of a score board, Hen and that matter, which is to deceive the face of a score has brought it.
Stark reality in films causes ‘r’, ‘x’ rating problem

BY JIM STACE

American Entertainment Writer

Because they are becoming more of an entertainment staple in our society, movies are starting to take on a role as public morality, in order to warn us of life’s hazards and the personal responsibilities that go along with them.

There are several methods through which movies are evaluated for rating, including reviewing any violent scenes or scenes that might be considered obscene. There is also a rating system that specifically deals with moralizing.

The point is that this trend seems to be prominently present in many movies. For example, the new Mr. B. K. Reynolds, creator of the Reynolds and Mr. A. C. Wilson, who is a member of the Motion Picture Association of America, has suggested that movies should be used to make moral statements or create a target at which to direct us.

The problem is that this trend seems to be particularly prevalent in recent years. For example, in the late 1970s, Dr. J. B. Reynolds, creator of the Reynolds and Mr. A. C. Wilson, has said, "We have been given the duty to protect not just the kids, but the adults as well."

Of course there are still some filmmakers who believe that movies should not be used to make moral statements or create a target at which to direct us. But such an obvious need for realism, movies will have to incorporate a genuine amount of that which leads to the use of the film, purpose, theme, and that is the only way to keep the film from being taken out of context.

"A Clockwork Orange" is one of the most violent and moronic films ever made. It is a film that many people will say is a masterpiece, but it is a film that many people will also say is a moral statement.

I believe that movies should be used to make moral statements or create a target at which to direct us. But such an obvious need for realism, movies will have to incorporate a genuine amount of that which leads to the use of the film, purpose, theme, and that is the only way to keep the film from being taken out of context.

"A Clockwork Orange" gives us the idea that the film is more about the characters and their story than about the film itself. The film is about the characters and their story, but it is also about the film itself.

Commenting on the future of our society, Reynolds said, "The film itself is an integral part of the film. The film is about the characters and their story, but it is also about the film itself."
Batt Comments on In-state tuition

By BETTY HANSEN
Adjunct Editorial Correspondent

Senator Betty Batt (D) ofblber introduced a bill in the Idaho House of Representatives and it is presently moving through the Senate Finance Committee. The bill is aimed at the Idaho State University, the University of Idaho and the College of Southern Idaho to increase the state's commitment to support the education of in-state students. The bill is important to students who are concerned about the rising cost of college, and it is an effort to provide more funding for education in the state.

In-state tuition is a complex issue, and there are many factors to consider. One of the main arguments against the bill is that it would be unfair to non-resident students. However, many in-state students also face financial challenges, and the bill aims to address these issues by increasing the state's commitment to support education.

Another concern is the potential impact on the state's budget. The bill would increase the state's commitment to support education, which could have financial implications for the state. However, the bill also aims to increase the state's commitment to support education, which could have financial implications for the state.

In conclusion, the bill is an important effort to address the rising cost of college for in-state students. It aims to increase the state's commitment to support education, which is crucial for the future of the state. The bill will continue to be debated in the Senate, and it remains to be seen how it will be received by the state legislature.

---

IN CONCERT

University of Idaho
Feb. 7

BLOOD, SWEAT & TEARS
progressive music

MEMORIAL GYM
8 PM

Tickets available at:
U of I SUB Information Desk
WSU CUB Listening Lounge

$4.00 advance
$4.50 at the door

Are you really UP on what's going on in Idaho?

You need the

INTERMOUNTAIN OBSERVER

And it needs YOU!

Goes see Sea Day and his staff and have a stimulating evening. Friday, 7:30 p.m. at 1397 Virginia Drive. Admission for our new 99c annual subscription.

To receive delivery, the Observer needs subscribers YOU CAN HELP

For further information, call 802-4791 after 5