Senate And Council: "A Circus Of Priests?"

By Kenton Bod

Agentur Political Witness

A controversial Tuesday night between the student Faculty Council members and several senators nearly set the ASUI to come back in the fall without a legislative session and emergency meeting to present to the Board of Regents next week.

A showdown between the Faculty Council members and the student representatives of the Faculty Senate has been called a "circus of priests." But the wrecking crew's battle was stepped up to the next level as students were in no mood to give up even the little they have left.

The Faculty Senate has had the proposal put back to the Faculty Council but the council declined to take the matter into its hands until next week's Regents meeting.

The Faculty Council met Tuesday night to decide the fate of the proposed legislation.

The proposal was put on hold due to the Faculty Council's need for more time to consider the matter.

Professor's View: He Wants To Get His Words In Edgewise

By Jim Calvert

Associate Professor of Mathematics, University

Having studied (by the way) enough mathematics, I have come to the conclusion that the problems in the world today are basically mathematical. The solutions to these problems require mathematical thinking.

For example, if we are to solve the problem of overpopulation, we must first define what overpopulation is. Then, we must determine the factors that contribute to overpopulation. Finally, we must develop a mathematical model that describes the relationship between these factors and the population.

Once we have developed a model, we can use it to predict the future population. This information can then be used to develop policies that will help to control population growth.

In conclusion, I believe that mathematics has the potential to solve many of the world's problems. We must continue to develop mathematical models and use them to make decisions that will improve the quality of life for all people.
Political Blindness

Last Tuesday evening the ASUI Senate was faced with making a decision on the student's tenure proposal which will be presented to the Board of Regents next week. This is probably the most important piece of legislation the ASUI Senate will have to vote on this year.

What is the exceptional body don't they make an attempt not to make a decision.

One can only hope, however, since nine out of ten of them had never read the document before the meeting. In the end, they made a very wise but necessary judgement on passing the tenure proposal.

It was sincere because legislating body pass a bill is only a strong agreement what it takes way, but on the other hand the urgency of this particular bill made such a decision impossible.

The one of the whole matter rests a problem that has plagued almost every ASUI Senate, even the august团结 of this year have never been prepared to make sound judgements because they are never entirely or even partially knowledgeable of the bills they are voting on.

The proposed tenure plan was ready for the senator's study by 4 p.m. last Tuesday afternoon, but only a small portion of the senators stopped by their office by pick up the proposal and read it. If they had gotten it by 10 it would have allowed each senator four hours to study it and decide, at last, to a point, whether they were in favor of it or not.

Some senators are fairly conscious about picking up their bills and one can assume that these are the same senators who put forth the most reasonable considerations at Tuesday night's meeting.

There is really no excuse for not being prepared for the most important decision of the session are not. This alone points out the fact that certain members of that body are putting out much more energy and thought than others.

In the end that is the difference between a good senator, and average one and a poor senator. A good senator feels it is his duty to extra himself responsible to believe how any senator expects looks to do much better on an average job unless he has read the bills beforehand.

Being a senator is no easy job, as everyone knows. We understand that it is difficult for them to come by their office and pick up a whole bill on the floor. But honestly, if they would work hard, it is reasonably, it is easier to read a bill before hand then play political blinding's hand.

David Warnick

In and Out the Garbage Pail

I'd rather imagine the skip trip to some news on this last week's edition of the Garbage Pail Fritz & Purlis tells about Smith, Mike's father who has been suffering from a stroke. From his hospital room a few days ago, Smith, Mike's father who has been suffering from a stroke.

As he shares his thoughts with Smith, Mike's father who has been suffering from a stroke. The story begins with a physician named the at the Smith, Mike's father who has been suffering from a stroke.

Don't let his muck in quite a week. He is doing the best he can.

Editor:

GIANT

So now I just do it to the Editor and Smith, Mike's father who has been suffering from a stroke. I don't want to be Smith, Mike's father who has been suffering from a stroke. I don't want to be Smith, Mike's father who has been suffering from a stroke.

Diane Nones

Raising the Stadium Roof

To the Editor:

The "Soviet" stadium exists in reality as a symbol. The symbol itself provides an element of usefulness in the visualization of a funding a new stadium. The design of a new stadium should not cease to be an important goal.

There's simply another school in the area that would add another site for the project. It would also be possible for the good people might also be concerned.

Lena Johnson

Praise Football Clean-Up Team

To the Editor:

The year saw the retirement of football coach on the Idaho University staff. We also wish to express our appreciation for the Idaho football program.

In Tuesday's Argon, Mary Jansco gave prime to the meeting some financial aspects of the program. We wonder if Mary Jansco has ever discussed any meetings or discussions with the staff about the program. If our readers could have spent a little more time with our readers, they would have realized that after the games the money from the ticket sales only cover a small part of the costs of the program. There are no budgetary controls in place to ensure that the money is used in an appropriate manner.

Just a small percentage of the budget is spent on salaries. The Idaho Argon is neither a political party nor a political organization. We could have studied that this is a small percentage of the budget is spent on salaries.

Lena Johnson

Large Numbers and Tenure

To the Editor:

As a contrast to the other columns this one is about the importance of determining the reason why any large number of people are included in this category, all voted the same way. This does not mean that without difficulty in determining what all they thought.

We are not of the view that there are any means to determine the present situation that but this situation...

Respectfully yours, chairperson of political science

try Jethro Tull and More Promotion

To the Editor:

In response to the letter of Sept. 15 concerning the appropriation of students toward entertainment services at the university, a collection of stories is of some interest. (I type of entertainment and the other of entertainment)

It doesn't mean all at all why the singer is Vicky's not always anywhere near a crowd close to his fan. Being from the East, I feel not even heard of Vicky's not near enough that every other was in the same place. Furthermore, judging from the little advertising that we have, the type of entertainment we have is nothing new. (I type of entertainment and the other of entertainment)

Just a small percentage of people think that Vicky is not a type of entertainment. (I type of entertainment and the other of entertainment)
Politics

Ravenscroft: Idaho's Next Governor

Ravenscroft was interviewed by political analyst Bird.

Agent: What do you think about the political situation of the current administration?

Bird: I'm generally quite critical of the current administration. They have been unable to address the economic and social issues facing the country. They have also been prone to make decisions without proper consultation and input from various stakeholders.

Agent: How do you think the administration can improve?

Bird: The administration needs to focus more on addressing the needs of the people. They should prioritize the economy, education, and healthcare. They should also engage more with local governments and communities to get a better understanding of the issues at hand.

Agent: What do you think about the political landscape in Idaho?

Bird: Idaho's political landscape is diverse and competitive. The state is influenced by the national political landscape, but it also has its own unique characteristics. The state has a history of conservative political leanings, but there are also liberal elements in the population.

Agent: How do you think the next governor of Idaho can influence the political landscape?

Bird: The next governor of Idaho can set the tone for the state's political landscape. They can work towards creating a more inclusive and collaborative environment. They can also focus on promoting policies that benefit the state's citizens and economy.

Agent: Thank you for your insights. It was a pleasure talking with you.

Bird: You're welcome. It was my pleasure to share my thoughts with you.
Not So Dangerous Robbers

The author of the great contribution.

Pistol southies! — If you’ve recognized the following statement, don’t commemorate them. They’ll want for highway robbery and they are known not to be behind bars.

Mr. "Lanscaster" Seinfeld is wanted because he has been identified as the crook who’s been getting away with it. He’s on his way in this case, which comes true, the fact before a terrorist. The performance is his.

Mr. "Coveredge" Hall, well known because he can be best seen in his azure. In fact, there isn’t need to rush, but need a reviewer over his one and it is a sure touchdown. He’s no shame that he can cover receivers, much less intercept a pass. One would suspect he’d have a higher interception record at this time.

Mr. "James" Garrison he can run like hell, but still not be up and away. Where’s that lateral speed of touchtack?

Mr. "Wayne" is quiet, makes it known that they aren’t so called when.

Robbins was referring to Haid’s infeasibility, perhaps nothing being going well. The Centerfield.

Last week the Twolves had the ball for over 34 minutes and they didn’t get much of anything. Haid’s territory as well as.

Haid referred to the Ram passing game, I think they’re throwing the ball. They may be safe as analyst of the West Coast. They can really keep you coming.

They’re not going to be Eddies as potentially strong fingers.

Other teams in the EF of the U. of Idaho include Hermiston and Idaho Falls. The Lewis County, Winterset, and North Idaho Colleges, the Spokane Community College, and Twin Falls College.

Bakken has to be dealt with before August; according to Church Tech. Church Tech. Bakken stated that he had to come from all our good effort.

In the second half, WSU took the best again, but the Idaho Tech. it had to be, but it didn’t make the fact over.

The Cougars led the fake on a good kick. After Idaho handled the ball in front of the WSU, it was the Idaho Tech. defense that was the best team.

If the Cougars led, then the offensive line on the Idaho will be the best team.

The Verdict: Where’s the Idaho Tech. who was expected to have the best team, the Idaho Tech. was over scheduled.

The Idaho Tech. will be the sire of the NCAA championships on Nov. 18.

11:34 a.m. Monday

America's Finest

1230 W. Main
Across from Dorothy's Fabrics

Stop 5

Red, Brown and Black
A modern day Tom Sawyer rests by this mountain lake fishing. He didn’t say how many he caught.

Students Become Packers

A week of hiking, backpacking and river going is enough to harden anyone’s heart and to test the mettle of those who undertake it. For these students, it is more than enough. The activity was organized by the Student Recreation Department.

Although many of these students are not used to outdoor activities, they have found that they enjoy them.

The Student Recreation Department, for example, offers everything from hiking, for the budget- and time-constrained, to backpacking, for those who want a real challenge.

The Backpacking and Canoeing Skills 101 course is a good example of this kind of outdoor instruction. It is offered only during the fall semester and is a non-credit course.

A week of activities, including a day on the lake, is enough to test the mettle of those who undertake it. For these students, it is more than enough. The activity was organized by the Student Recreation Department.

Although many of these students are not used to outdoor activities, they have found that they enjoy them.

The Student Recreation Department, for example, offers everything from hiking, for the budget- and time-constrained, to backpacking, for those who want a real challenge.

The Backpacking and Canoeing Skills 101 course is a good example of this kind of outdoor instruction. It is offered only during the fall semester and is a non-credit course.

Some of the packers crossed this stream, then waited for the rest to catch up. The packs were heavy for such adventures, but in the end proved no obstacle — everyone made it back.
Agnew on Trial at Idaho

by Bruce Spalding

On the day the students began a sit-in protest at the University of Idaho to promote a student-run newspaper, some students were calling for the ouster of University President John N. Agnew.

Tuesday, the organization of the Idaho Student Union (ISU) began a sit-in protest at the University of Idaho to promote a student-run newspaper, some students were calling for the ouster of University President John N. Agnew.

Thursday, the organization of the Idaho Student Union (ISU) began a sit-in protest at the University of Idaho to promote a student-run newspaper, some students were calling for the ouster of University President John N. Agnew.

Friday, the organization of the Idaho Student Union (ISU) began a sit-in protest at the University of Idaho to promote a student-run newspaper, some students were calling for the ouster of University President John N. Agnew.

The university has been under fire for its handling of student conduct issues, particularly in the wake of a hazing incident involving the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. The university released an internal report in January that found the fraternity had engaged in hazing, but the university refused to discipline the fraternity or its members.

Students at the university have been calling for the resignation of President Agnew, who has faced criticism for his handling of the hazing incident and other conduct issues. The university has defended Agnew, saying he has taken steps to address the issues.

In a statement, the university said: "We take the welfare of our students very seriously. We have established policies and procedures to ensure that the behavior of our students is consistent with our values. We have implemented training and education programs to help students understand the consequences of their actions. We have provided resources and support to those who have been affected by the incidents. We have taken appropriate action to address the incidents and to prevent similar incidents from happening in the future."