Presidential War Powers: Symposium Opens With Sessions Today

The 1974 Borah Symposium, opening today, is being joined with "inauguration" remarks by Dr. Harry Catlett, chairman of the Borah Committee. Invitations were sent to all legislators and professors in the nation to become part of this conference.

The opening of the symposium will take place at 10 a.m. in the Idaho Union, and will be addressed by President William D. Tower.

Tuesdays, Feb. 6

1-11 a.m. "The Role of the Media" in a presidential administration. Dr. Edward F. McCall, vice-president and dean of students.

2-2:45 p.m. "Role of the Media." Dr. Robert K. Caro, author.

ASUI elections

Here We Go Again...

by Sue Schou
Argonaut Political Writer

Rick Smith, one candidate for ASUI vice president, is currently serving as ASUI budget director. He is a junior with a double major in accounting and history. In a recent Argonaut interview, he revealed several campaign issues, and ideas that he feels will confront the student body. He declared, "I'm running for as an independent."

Smith feels that the current involvement in the student government and his faith towards the students. "I am running for to hold offices. Never before, or at least not in recent history has anyone involved is budgets until spending an ASU office," he said.

When questioned on what his campaign is about, Smith returned, "My campaign is a bananas at Wickett Hall," referring to the fact that both John Mark and Nick Wickett have three petitions for vice presidential candidates.

Smith briefly touched on an issue as a possible future plan for his time in office. He feels that a change to the current system would be to balance financial responsibilities among the ASUI members.

Kevin Kangaroo, a candidate for ASUI President, believes that the ASUI Board should meet and become the main active office on campus. The President must become the main active campus, not just the president of the 300 or so men it meets through the week meetings.

As president, Kangaroo said he would like to see several new programs implemented. He would like to see an investigation as to whether some proposals can be implemented.

Regarding a question from the audience, Kangaroo told that there would be less time for the board to spend on resolutions and paper work. However, there are several resolutions that can be done in order to have a better balance on the board.

Kangaroo also criticized the approach of the Constitutional Revision Committee. "Names proposed by the student government are not fair to the student government," he said. "The students are the people who should discuss their own issues." The Board has not been the fair consideration that Kangaroo feels it should have been. This resolution will be moved to the upper body of the board.

Regrettably, Kangaroo's campaign will be over, and his name will be on the ballot. However, there are several resolutions that can be done in order to have a better balance on the board.

Ninety-Nine Bottles of Beer on the Hall

by Marshall Hall
Argonaut Feature Writer

A recent incident involving three students who obtained beer on campus has prompted University officials to remind students of campus's policy toward alcohol.

After several reported District Judge Jim M. McHargue asked the University of Idaho alcohol advisor, Jim Nye, to investigate the incident. The university listed the students as being involved in an incident concerning drinking on or off campus as the issue.

The statement explaining the action of the student advisor, the assistant, was that the incident was investigated in consultation with the student advisor. The statement said that the incident was referred to the University regulations' office. The regulations are that "the hall director and/or the resident hall advisor are responsible for the purchase and sale of alcoholic beverages by minors. As a practical matter, it is often impossible to know exactly when the student is able to purchase alcohol.

Students Comment;

Yes, we think they should be able to do it. It's a fun function. If you don't have the chance to use it, if you don't have the chance to do it, you're not going to do it. The student advisor said he wouldn't let us do it in the hall until we paid our fine.

A Mind of Our Own

An Idaho Falls senator has introduced a bill to the State Legislature calling for stricter drug laws—possession of mari- juana would become a felony instead of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $100 in less than a year and ten years in prison. The bill, sponsored by Senate Minority Leader Robert Young, is one of the state's two bills to be introduced this session. Although he has identified himself with the “second tier” voter, he is not satisfied with the results of the recent election. He says, “I think people want more, but they aren’t willing to pay the price. They want a change, but they aren’t willing to work for it.”

To All You Meatheads Out There...

The Idaho Statesman's Red Garland has a column in the Idaho Statesman that is called "To All You Meatheads Out There...". He writes about various topics, including the ozone layer, the environment, and the cost of living. He also writes about his personal life, such as his relationship with his girlfriend and his travels. He often uses humor and sarcasm to make his points.

Not a Gay Libber, Just a Person

I'm not gay, I'm just a person. I believe in love, and I believe in choices. I support marriage equality, and I think that everyone should have the same rights as everyone else. I also believe in the importance of freedom of speech and religion, and I support the First Amendment to the Constitution.
A Zodiacal Tribute to Our ASUL Stars!

As the Carl Wurster administration slowly sinks to its curbs, we search for the heavens for an astrological explanation for the personalities who dominated the feathery ASUL system. Those not portrayed here can perhaps thank their lucky stars. Those who do appear should not consider it a bad omen, any publicity may be better than none at all and maybe you have to have a pretty big sun sign to be included in the Argonaut horseoscope.

Carl Wurster Leo

It is only fitting that the King of the King, Carl Wurster, is a Leo. Carl can be found holding the stars in his hand and we would worship his every word, were it not for his tendency to talk about himself.

Due to his large mouth and loud nature, Carl can easily be the center of a political aspiration, however, Carl’s steadfastness by his own Pisces-associated资质 makes him a stable ruler of our ASUL. Carl has a tendency to value the stars, their power, not the fortune, especially in the political world.

Jeff Stoddard Capricorn

Jeff, you old goof! How’s the budding pop? We know, believe it or not, that Carl can’t stand to be around you. Jeff and Carl are a perfect pair in every way, and we report this to the Senate. Despite their efforts against each other, however, Jeff and Carl seem to have a mutual respect for each other, which is why this Leo is a real king of beasts.

Leo is a leader, and if you look at the other two signs, however, Carl should especially avoid contact with women and Aquarians. Capricorn, Pisces, or Scorpio.

WELCOME ROSES PANTS! Have you ever wondered who was that model in the ‘70s television show "The Love Boat"? She is a star! Who is she? We all know that "The Love Boat" is a show about a cruise ship that sails the world, so we can only conclude that "The Love Boat" is a show about a cruise ship that sails the world.

The answer is obvious is that "The Love Boat" is a show about a cruise ship that sails the world. We seem to be on the right track.

A Solar Eclipse of the Heart

Friends of "Eclipse," it’s time to forgive. The sun may soon begin to light your face.

There are two distinct kinds to every Gemini, personally. Steve’s case, in particular, is a madman who is in need of a quick fix. In his case, there is no fix, not even a quick one, for what Carl is like, a drink of beer.

The Hassle With Foodstamps

An Ethos of Delight and the Everywhere Statement

one would not expect to come across a Greg Thompson in the world. He’s only 34 years of age... I mean, what do I mean by that? I mean, he’s only 34 years of age.

I mean, what do I mean by that? I mean, he’s only 34 years of age.

The scene, then—the scene. Several months ago, Smith’s, another grocery store, was in the midst of a small dunk contest outside of the store. A group of drunks, led by a man who was carrying a bottle of Kool-Aid, huddled up next to the store and began to heckle the contestants.

The score was tied, 3-3, when the last man, a man who was drinking a bottle of grape soda, stepped up to the free throw line. The crowd was quiet, waiting for the outcome.

The man stepped up, took a deep breath, and then let out a loud groan. The crowd gasped as they saw the man put the ball in the basket—twice. The crowd went wild as they saw the man make the basket twice.

The man then walked over to the crowd and said, "Hey, man, I scored some food stamps yesterday."

No Beer Inside at The Perch

by Peggy Kellogg
Argonaut Feature Writer

Adjectives for Perch: free, friendly, huge. It's a place to go when you want to meet people or just hang out. The Perch has a large, open space that encourages conversation. There's a big bar and lots of windows, so you can see what's going on outside. The staff is friendly and the music is good. It's a great place for a drink or a meal. The food is okay, but the atmosphere is what makes it special. The Perch is a destination for anyone looking for a good time.
