Enough Problems Without It

The Case of the Idaho Grape

by Bruce Spoleto-

Arghon Feature Writer

Although there was no verdict at the time, there was an appearance of a collision in one way or another. It's good to be the real deal. The case of the Idaho Grape is one that has many in the agricultural community thinking hard about the future of their industry.

There are several key players in this case, including the Idaho Grape Growers Association, the Idaho Grape Commission, and government officials. The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests.

The key players in this case are the Idaho Grape Commission, the Idaho Grape Growers Association, and government officials. The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.

The Idaho Grape Commission is tasked with setting the rules and regulations for the grape industry, while the Idaho Grape Growers Association represents the growers and their interests. The case has raised concerns about the future of the grape industry in Idaho.
Goodbye Slide Rule

Tiny Computer Big Thing on Campus

by Ron Schleder
Argonaut Writer Feature

Seventy-nine years ago the automobile replaced the horse, two months ago slide rules were displaced by pocket calculators. If you workout the simple arithmetic of these changes, the pocket computer is the new calculator, the automobile the new horse, and slide rules the old horse. And it's a simple one-way translation: the pocket computer can substitute for the old calculator, the automobile can substitute for the horse, but slide rules can never substitute for the pocket computer.

Hidden Toney, instructor and assistant director of the math department, has told the students of the technology and the usefulness of the pocket computer. "We are told that it will take students four hours to learn the pocket computer, but that it will only take four minutes for them to learn how to use a slide rule." He has come to the conclusion that it is much faster to familiarize students with the use of the calculator, and that as students come to the conclusion that the calculator is more useful, they will use it more and higher level courses.

Howard Campbell, professor of mathematics, told the Salinas Argonaut that the use of pocket calculators "gives mathematics a chance to be more than a subject taught in the classroom." He said that students would be more able to solve problems using the calculator, the higher the price. The increased availability of pocket computer and calculator will encourage students to use them more and more in higher level courses, and the students are certain to be able to use them more easily.

Campbell felt in some situations it was necessary to use the pocket calculator and he expressed a desire to use them in the classroom. However, he said, there were restrictions that the pocket calculator should not be used, and that the students would be asked to use the slide rule.

The primary reason students tend to stay away from the time-saving device is that they do not know how to use it. The price range begins at $45 and goes up to $75 for pocket calculators. Calculating, the higher the price. The pocket calculator can be used in the same way that the slide rule is used, and according to pricing, there is a large variety of pocket calculators available on the market.

One engineering student that has a pocket calculator said he did have a few advantages. He thought it was good to be able to change any numbers to a different scale. But it was the greatest advantage of engineering students. "I have trouble with my pocket calculator. It's a problem. IFRAME" was the most accurate device among them.

There is no way to do without a pocket calculator. The price of the calculator is often as high as the price of the slide rule.

Why is a Journalist like a Grammer Getting into Politics?

Here's Why:

Grammer knows what ASU politics is all about—because she's a journalist, and spent a good deal of time understanding the complexities of the issues. She is not interested in running for office to cover a story, but rather to influence the outcome of the story. She is interested in making sure that the story is told accurately and that the issues are understood.

Grammer, who has been writing for the Salinas Argonaut for several years, is running for a seat on the ASU board of directors. She is running as a write-in candidate for the seat vacated by the resignation of a former board member. She is running on an issue of student rights and the need for a stronger student voice in the decision-making process of the university.

SMTWTS

by Steve McCoy
Argonaut Political Writer

"There is a small group of women at the University of California who are taking a stand against the discrimination and harassment that they face," she said.

Holtzman says that she feels strongly about the issue of sexual harassment and that the university should do more to prevent it. She has been active in the movement and is one of the leaders of the national Women's Libber movement.

She explains that this is a part of the reason that she supports the feminist movement. "This is not just a movement for women, it's a movement for men. It's a movement for everyone. It's a movement for human freedom," she said.

Holtzman noted some of the movements' accomplishments. The movement was successful in getting a Constitutional amendment passed in the United States that made it illegal to discriminate against women.

In addition, the movement has been successful in getting laws passed that protect women's rights.

Holtzman says that the movement has been successful because it has been able to mobilize a large number of people.

"I think that the movement has been successful because it has been able to mobilize a large number of people," she said.

She feels that the movement has been successful because it has been able to mobilize a large number of people.

She explains that this is a part of the reason that she supports the feminist movement.

"This is not just a movement for women, it's a movement for men. It's a movement for everyone. It's a movement for human freedom," she said.

More than a Women's Libber

by Charlie DeValle
Senator

Today

Wednesday

3:00 — Young Life — SUB  4:00 — Upsilon Sigma Phi — SUB  5:00 — Communications Board — SUB  7:00 — Chemistry — SUB  8:00 — Chemistry — SUB  7:30 — Gay Awareness — K- House on WSU campus  7:30 — Entwick — SUB Lounge  7:30 — Square Dine — WHED  7:30 — Pin Sites meeting — Life Science Bldg, e. 303

Thursday

All day — Jazz Festival — SUB

Noon — Focus on Rope — Women's Center  7:00 — Extension Director's Conference

---

VIAGRA WORKSHOPS

WAR DIVORCE

---

Invision

Mr. H. — I'm Fred Fatrick's catapult! For some clocks to chisel while Fred Fatrick's CATapult! In the "STEPPIN' OUT HEAD COUNT" we find that some of those times have just right. For some clocks to chisel while Fred Fatrick's CATapult! HAD Examples: brooches and stuff, love! I'm Fred Fatrick's CATapult! The STEPPIN' OUT! Now Open upstairs in Peggy's 412 E. Main.

---

Translation:

Don't feel bad if you can't read German. Our technicians can't read German either. We have a simple explanation. Our prices are based on the value of the dollar, not on the value of the euro. We can't afford to pay our technicians in euros. We can only afford to pay them in dollars, so we charge you in dollars. This is the same for all of our products. We have a simple explanation. Our prices are based on the value of the dollar, not on the value of the euro. We can't afford to pay our technicians in euros. We can only afford to pay them in dollars, so we charge you in dollars. This is the same for all of our products. We have a simple explanation. Our prices are based on the value of the dollar, not on the value of the euro. We can't afford to pay our technicians in euros. We can only afford to pay them in dollars, so we charge you in dollars. This is the same for all of our products.
Nihilist For ASUI Head

by Sue Schou
Argonaut Political Writer

Advancing a rationale of the entire student body through a mild saturation of the doctrine that life is a circle, Rod Bohon and the ASUI Party hope to maintain the governing faction of the ASUI. With programs, Bohon, who runs for the presidency last year also, has organized approximately 60 individuals who collectively call themselves the Nihilist Party.

With the concept of working from the inside and incorporating members of the Party (who are willing) into the higher circles, we should be able to make every single radical that we have a group we can participate in. Therefore any individual who participates in the group will be able to get any information that the group is able to get any information from. Thus we will be able to participate in the higher circles and the group will be able to make any positive difference that it is interested in making. Thus we will be able to make any positive difference in the world and the world will be able to make any positive difference in the world.
Thanks To The Vandals, It's A Race Now

Harris, Welst Lead Upset

Idaho Beats ISU - Foul Shooting Paves Win

Henry Harris and Dave Welst led the Vandals to a surprise victory over the Idaho State Bengals Saturday night in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The Vandals, with Harris (31 points) and Welst (16) leading the offense, defeated the Bengals 89-74 and advanced to the quarterfinals of the NCAA basketball tournament. The win was the first ever in the school's basketball history.

With the crowd at an emotional high, Harris and Welst led the Vandals to a convincing victory. Harris, a senior, scored 31 points on 12-of-21 shooting, including five three-pointers. Welst, a sophomore, added 16 points on 6-of-10 shooting.

The Vandals led the game for most of the second half and went on to win by a comfortable margin of 15 points. The victory ended the Bengals' season.

In other NCAA games, the University of Washington defeated the University of Oregon 87-78, and the University of Colorado defeated the University of New Mexico 91-82.

Tennis Title Shaky But Team Is Trying

By don shelton

Argonaut Sports Writer

Facing the upsurge of the conference's top player and the Kendal approach of their top returning player, the University of Idaho tennis team begins the season stronger than ever. The team, which returned all four of its starters, defeated the Idaho State Bengals 6-1 Tuesday night in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Freshman Timothee Weist and sophomore Dave Welst were the key players in the victory. Weist, a right-handed player, defeated the Idaho State player 6-3, 6-1, while Welst, a left-handed player, defeated his opponent 6-4, 6-3.

The Vandals, led by Weist and Welst, are off to a strong start in the season. They have won their first two matches, including a victory over the Idaho State Bengals 6-1 Tuesday night. The team will face their next challenge against the University of Washington on Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Idaho Women's Basketball Wins Season Opener

The Vandals women's basketball team won their season opener Wednesday against the Idaho State Bengals, 89-74.

The Vandals were led by senior point guard Frances Fried, who scored 20 points and dished out 10 assists. Freshman center Jenny Williams added 14 points and 13 rebounds.

The Vandals dominated the game from the start, outscoring the Bengals 47-29 in the first half. They continued their momentum in the second half, outscoring the Bengals 42-45.

With the win, the Vandals improve to 1-0 on the season. They face their next challenge against the University of Washington on Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Study In GUADALAJARA, MEXICO

Steve accepted a scholarship to the University of Guadalajara in Mexico for the spring semester. He is studying international relations and plans to return to the United States after completing his degree.

Idaho Beats ISU - Foul Shooting Paves Win

Henry Harris and Dave Welst led the Vandals to a surprise victory over the Idaho State Bengals Saturday night in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The Vandals, with Harris (31 points) and Welst (16) leading the offense, defeated the Bengals 89-74 and advanced to the quarterfinals of the NCAA basketball tournament. The win was the first ever in the school's basketball history.

With the crowd at an emotional high, Harris and Welst led the Vandals to a convincing victory. Harris, a senior, scored 31 points on 12-of-21 shooting, including five three-pointers. Welst, a sophomore, added 16 points on 6-of-10 shooting.

The Vandals led the game for most of the second half and went on to win by a comfortable margin of 15 points. The victory ended the Bengals' season.

In other NCAA games, the University of Washington defeated the University of Oregon 87-78, and the University of Colorado defeated the University of New Mexico 91-82.

Tennis Title Shaky But Team Is Trying

By don shelton

Argonaut Sports Writer

Facing the upsurge of the conference's top player and the Kendal approach of their top returning player, the University of Idaho tennis team begins the season stronger than ever. The team, which returned all four of its starters, defeated the Idaho State Bengals 6-1 Tuesday night in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Freshman Timothee Weist and sophomore Dave Welst were the key players in the victory. Weist, a right-handed player, defeated the Idaho State player 6-3, 6-1, while Welst, a left-handed player, defeated his opponent 6-4, 6-3.

The Vandals, led by Weist and Welst, are off to a strong start in the season. They have won their first two matches, including a victory over the Idaho State Bengals 6-1 Tuesday night. The team will face their next challenge against the University of Washington on Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Idaho Women's Basketball Wins Season Opener

The Vandals women's basketball team won their season opener Wednesday against the Idaho State Bengals, 89-74.

The Vandals were led by senior point guard Frances Fried, who scored 20 points and dished out 10 assists. Freshman center Jenny Williams added 14 points and 13 rebounds.

The Vandals dominated the game from the start, outscoring the Bengals 47-29 in the first half. They continued their momentum in the second half, outscoring the Bengals 42-45.

With the win, the Vandals improve to 1-0 on the season. They face their next challenge against the University of Washington on Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Study In GUADALAJARA, MEXICO

Steve accepted a scholarship to the University of Guadalajara in Mexico for the spring semester. He is studying international relations and plans to return to the United States after completing his degree.

Idaho Beats ISU - Foul Shooting Paves Win

Henry Harris and Dave Welst led the Vandals to a surprise victory over the Idaho State Bengals Saturday night in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The Vandals, with Harris (31 points) and Welst (16) leading the offense, defeated the Bengals 89-74 and advanced to the quarterfinals of the NCAA basketball tournament. The win was the first ever in the school's basketball history.

With the crowd at an emotional high, Harris and Welst led the Vandals to a convincing victory. Harris, a senior, scored 31 points on 12-of-21 shooting, including five three-pointers. Welst, a sophomore, added 16 points on 6-of-10 shooting.

The Vandals led the game for most of the second half and went on to win by a comfortable margin of 15 points. The victory ended the Bengals' season.

In other NCAA games, the University of Washington defeated the University of Oregon 87-78, and the University of Colorado defeated the University of New Mexico 91-82.

Tennis Title Shaky But Team Is Trying

By don shelton

Argonaut Sports Writer

Facing the upsurge of the conference's top player and the Kendal approach of their top returning player, the University of Idaho tennis team begins the season stronger than ever. The team, which returned all four of its starters, defeated the Idaho State Bengals 6-1 Tuesday night in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Freshman Timothee Weist and sophomore Dave Welst were the key players in the victory. Weist, a right-handed player, defeated the Idaho State player 6-3, 6-1, while Welst, a left-handed player, defeated his opponent 6-4, 6-3.

The Vandals, led by Weist and Welst, are off to a strong start in the season. They have won their first two matches, including a victory over the Idaho State Bengals 6-1 Tuesday night. The team will face their next challenge against the University of Washington on Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Idaho Women's Basketball Wins Season Opener

The Vandals women's basketball team won their season opener Wednesday against the Idaho State Bengals, 89-74.

The Vandals were led by senior point guard Frances Fried, who scored 20 points and dished out 10 assists. Freshman center Jenny Williams added 14 points and 13 rebounds.

The Vandals dominated the game from the start, outscoring the Bengals 47-29 in the first half. They continued their momentum in the second half, outscoring the Bengals 42-45.

With the win, the Vandals improve to 1-0 on the season. They face their next challenge against the University of Washington on Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Study In GUADALAJARA, MEXICO

Steve accepted a scholarship to the University of Guadalajara in Mexico for the spring semester. He is studying international relations and plans to return to the United States after completing his degree.
Bud Drunkers, can you figure this out?

Budweiser will be in the 24-oz. bottles that cost 50c each. And suppose the 12-oz. bottles cost 35c each. A guy comes up to you carrying two boxes of the same size. He tells you one box is full of 12-oz. bottles, the other is exactly half full of the 24-oz. bottles. One is worth more than the other. Which one?