 Council of Presidents Form To Encourage Student Input

The initial meeting of the Ad Hoc Council of Presidents will be held this Wednesday, December 8, in the Union Building, room 100. All students interested in discussing the problems they believe exist in the Student Government and the steps that can be taken to alleviate them are encouraged to attend and to have their input into ASD.

The Ad Hoc Council of Presidents was established to be a voice of the students. It is an opportunity for students to express their concerns and to have some say in the running of the Student Government.

Food Stamp Users to Be Checked; Talisman House Taking Applications

New York: There are two new developments in the food stamp program. First, an agency, the Federal Bureau of Investigation is checking the foodstamp rolls of "claw" and the other is a new plan which will place the food stamps on a red tape. The FBI has been given the power to investigate the food stamp program to find out who is on the rolls and who is not. The program has been under investigation by Congress for several months.

The FBI has said that it will begin checking the rolls next week. The agency will be looking for evidence of fraud, such as people who are on the rolls but do not qualify for the benefits.

The agency has been given the power to check the rolls in two ways. First, it will check the rolls of people who have been reported as dead or who have moved away. Second, it will check the rolls of people who have been reported as receiving duplicate benefits.

The FBI said that it will not reveal the names of the people it is checking. However, it will be able to tell whether or not the people are on the rolls.

The agency said that it will begin checking the rolls on February 15, 1974.

Idaho's First Law Building Dedicated

The highlight of an April 16 dedication was the presentation of a 17-foot high, solid bronze model of the building to Governor Albert Mann by the Boise Bar Association. The model was paid for jointly by the Boise Bar Association and the Idaho State Bar. It is to be mounted in the Governor's office at the Capitol.

Governor Albert Mann, a member of the Boise Bar Association, and his wife, Clare, attended the dedication.

The new building, on a 5-acre site on Capitol Way, will be the home of the Idaho Law School and the Idaho Bar Association. It will also house the Idaho Supreme Court, the Idaho Court of Appeals, and the Idaho Court of Civil Appeals.

The building will be used for legal education, research, and other activities related to the practice of law. It will be a center for the study of law and the promotion of the rule of law.

The building will be designed to be energy-efficient and environmentally sustainable. It will include features such as solar panels, energy-efficient lighting, and rainwater harvesting.

The building will be open to the public for tours and events related to the law. It will also include a library, a law office, and other facilities for legal professionals.

The building will be constructed in phases, with the first phase expected to be completed in 2023. The total cost of the building is estimated to be $100 million.

The Governor's Office stated that the dedication of the building would be an important step in the development of an integrated system of higher education in Idaho.

The Governor's Office added that the dedication was an opportunity to celebrate the achievements of the Boise Bar Association and the Idaho Bar Association.

The Governor's Office also noted that the dedication was a reflection of the Governor's commitment to strengthening the rule of law in Idaho.
Letters to the Editor,

More to That Maze Than Meets the Eye

To the Editor:

"Masks in a Morrison Men of Higher Education"

Do you not feel if Mike Mundt meant to be posturing? He was using a lot of words, all couched in an effort to make it seem like he had a point, when in reality, he was just trying to make himself sound like he was making a point.

I have a suggestion for Mike Mundt. Why don't you start by going to the time machine and jumping back to the early 1920s and going through the freedom of speech restrictions after the 1918 flu pandemic?

I will write you a letter on the subject of masked men on campus next week. Watch for it.

Sincerely,

A retired professor

Writer Notes AKL Move

Finally, a story appeared in the Argonaut regarding the proposed move of AKL. I hope the students and other faculty appreciate the effort that is being given to this issue. The Argonaut has a wonderful history at CSU, and I hope that it will remain here for many more years to come.

Blacks Supported, But....

I am writing to express my disappointment in the recent coverage of the "Blacks Supported, But...." article in the Argonaut. The article failed to address the real issues facing the black community at CSU.

I urge the Argonaut to focus on the real problems that black students face, such as discrimination, lack of resources, and the need for more diversity on campus.

Thank you for your consideration.

Black Audit

The SDU demand for auditors having nothing to do with the audits of the auditors, but in fact as they have given sight overboard to the auditors, are simply a result of the auditors being the auditors. They have no power to review the auditors' work, and are only a check on the auditors' work.

We have been asked by the Black Students Union to look into the financial situation of the university, and I believe that this is an important issue.

Black Demands Hard to Integrate

To the Editor:

The following letter is in response to the article "Black Demands Hard to Integrate" that appeared in the Argonaut.

I have been following the developments of the Black Students Union (BSU) at CSU and I feel that their demands are reasonable and should be met by the university.

I support the BSU's demand for financial transparency and accountability. I believe that the university should be transparent about how it spends its money and how it is accountable to the students.

P.S. Who is Gov. Andrew? A false friend who led me to believe in many ways that I was quite happy. My family and friends have been deeply hurt by this. But I have decided to stay and continue my support for the BSU and its demands.

Drugs - True Spirit of Ignorance

I am writing to express my concern about the recent article in the Argonaut about drug use on campus.

I believe that the university should be doing more to educate students about the dangers of drug use and the consequences of using drugs.

The article mentions that some students are using drugs for "fun" and "recreational" purposes, but I believe that this is an ignorant attitude.

I urge the university to take a more serious approach to drug use and to educate students about the dangers of drug use.

Sincerely,

A concerned student
Small Blasts Warnick

Claims Slate-Aleck Comments Unfounded

In response to Dave Warnick's column on April 19th, University and ISU administration, faculty, and students voiced their opposition to Warnick's comments. Below is the letter written by Dr. Warnick's colleagues in response to his column.

To the editor of the Argonaut:

We, the faculty and students of Boise State College, wish to correct some of the misrepresentations contained in your column entitled "Secrets of My Secret Sin" and published in the April 19th issue of the Argonaut.

The column attacks the Boise State College Board of Regents, the ISU Board of Trustees, and the ISU President. We believe that the column is unfair and inaccurate, and we wish to express our disapproval of it.

Sincerely yours,

Head Comes Out Swinging

Alon Head is streamlining new right now — and he doesn’t even need to take off his clothes. The reason is he’s headed back to baseball for the junior year of Idaho, and the only thing he needs to be streamlining is his demeanor.

I was in Idaho last summer and summer, and I had just streamlined a new baseball player. He has a great right and he’s not just a good hitter, he’s a great right and he has good on-base percentage and is a left-handed batter.

"Coach Smith encouraged the switch," he said. "He was a left-handed player, so it wasn’t completely new to me." He explained.

"He had been hitting the ball very well, but he was hitting the ball very well. He was hitting the ball very well. He was hitting the ball very well.

A Financial Look at the Golf Course

by Doug Johnston
Argus Observer Reporter

The ASU golf course has newly been given a whole new look with a new driving range. Richard Snyder, golf pro for the ASU golf course, will be in charge of the operating department. He has been hired to run the facilities. The new range is being used for the first time this season. As a result of the new range, the service level of the course has been improved.

The ASU golf course currently has a driving range, where players can practice their swings. The range has been expanded, and additional features, such as targets and nets, have been added. This has improved the overall experience for players, allowing them to practice their swings and work on their technique.

The revenue generated from the driving range is expected to be significant. Snyder estimates that the revenue from the driving range will be approximately $5,000 per year. This is an additional source of income for the golf course, which can be used to improve the facilities and maintain the course.

The ASU golf course is a public golf course, and it is located in Tempe, Arizona. The course is open to the public, and members are welcome to play. The course features 18 holes, and it is a great place for golfers of all skill levels to enjoy the game. The driving range is just one of the many amenities that make the ASU golf course a popular destination for golfers in the area.

The ASU golf course has a long history. The course was established in 1948, and it has been a popular destination for golfers ever since. The course has undergone several renovations over the years, and it continues to evolve and improve.

In conclusion, the new driving range at the ASU golf course is a significant addition to the course. It has improved the overall experience for players, and it is expected to generate additional revenue for the course. The ASU golf course is a great place to play golf, and it is a wonderful resource for the community.
An old homemade sign now hangs in one of the buildings on the old golf course. It reads: "Here we once had a driving range, and not far away we had another -- but that's all over now."

"And that's why," Imofley said, "we decided to make a whole 22 acres of our course, and use the extra acre for the parking lot."

The land was made for the course, and the extra acre just happened to be the perfect size for the parking lot. The old club house was made to accommodate 200 people, and it was ideal for the needs of the course."

The old clubhouse was closed down, and the new one was built in its place. The old golf course was torn up, and the new one was built in its place. The old golf cars were sold, and the new ones were bought."

Argonaut Report

The ASU golf course has slowly been developing a new driving range north of the tennis courts, as a response to student demand. Two driving ranges were offered in the past, but both were closed in the late 1960s. Last year, a 15 acre driving range was opened at a cost of $164,000. It is open year-round, seven days a week, for students who are taking golf classes. Students who are not taking a class pay a $5 fee to use the range, and students who are not taking a class pay a $5 fee to use the range. Students who are not taking a class pay a $5 fee to use the range.

The golf course is the green fees, which are charged to non-students who use the course. On top of the $3.60 fee, each student who uses the course pays an additional $10 fee. The fee is used to maintain the course, and to purchase various equipment and supplies. The $3.60 fee covers the cost of the tee time, the cart, and the range. The student who is taking a class at the golf course pays a $5 fee to use the range.
