Today's Session

Raising Rents, Raising Roof

Boise State Meets the Board

Segal Joins the "Squad"

The Illegal Marijuana Law

The Week of Weeks

Spring Sports

With occasional side glances at each other, the presidents of Idaho's four state-supported institutions of higher education - Idaho State University, Idaho College of Idaho, the University of Idaho, and New Mexico State University - yesterday (from left) John Barows, Boise State; Ernest Hartung, University of Idaho; William Davis, Idaho State University, and Donald Pogue, Clark State College.

Jenay Hart

Kenton Bird

Argonaut Associate Editor

As the session got underway, the Idaho Board of Education/Regents, through its Committee on Higher Education and Facilities, received a report from Assistant Commissioner of Higher Education, James Stoddard, on the current state of the Idaho State University Board of Trustees. The report stated that the university's enrollment had declined from 11,000 to 10,000 during the past year, and that the board had taken steps to adjust its budget to meet the new circumstances. The report also noted that the university's financial situation had improved, with a $3.7 million increase in revenues over the current year's budget.

The board also considered a report from the Idaho Board of Education/Regents on the current state of the Idaho State University Board of Trustees. The report stated that the university's enrollment had declined from 11,000 to 10,000 during the past year, and that the board had taken steps to adjust its budget to meet the new circumstances. The report also noted that the university's financial situation had improved, with a $3.7 million increase in revenues over the current year's budget.

The board also considered a report from the Idaho Board of Education/Regents on the current state of the Idaho State University Board of Trustees. The report stated that the university's enrollment had declined from 11,000 to 10,000 during the past year, and that the board had taken steps to adjust its budget to meet the new circumstances. The report also noted that the university's financial situation had improved, with a $3.7 million increase in revenues over the current year's budget.

The board also considered a report from the Idaho Board of Education/Regents on the current state of the Idaho State University Board of Trustees. The report stated that the university's enrollment had declined from 11,000 to 10,000 during the past year, and that the board had taken steps to adjust its budget to meet the new circumstances. The report also noted that the university's financial situation had improved, with a $3.7 million increase in revenues over the current year's budget.
From the Folks Who Brought You...

Director of Higher Education Milton Small thinks the financial woes facing the four state schools stem from inflation; he doesn't think the legislature should be blamed.

For two years, the state legislature has catered to the wishes of public educators and the expenses of universities. It has not only ignored the issues of inflation, but it has also failed to provide the necessary funds to keep the state schools running smoothly. This has led to the current financial crisis at the universities.

Signers and representatives might forget their debt to the state but students would do well to note that this is an election year and that actions taken now will affect their election chances.

ASUI President Dick Kemphorne feels next year's politicians will be forced to pay attention to higher education or will meet three different and lethal fates and his paramount concern is that the students may not be out of the game. He's sure that student involvement beginning now will insure a better deal at budget time.

In the same vein, student involvement immediately may sure better legislatures next January. It is a simple task to sort out those representatives of students from those who only represent themselves. Remember, the last two years brought you marijuana penalties, real estate developers, and probably the two longest years of budgeting that this state has ever seen. —Ballade

It Was Quite a Senate Meeting

Tuesday evening's session, meeting convening at 10:30 but the floor was not cleared of spectators until 1:30, was filled with activity as Senator Bill Haley from Twin Falls challenged the rule of order and moved for the construction of a new parking lot behind the administration building.

The entire floor was such a bizarre sight that many of the spectators were not quite sure who was standing behind the speak. With the exception of the members of the Senate, the entire floor was covered with students, faculty, and administrators who were all waiting for the vote on the Haley amendment.

It was a remarkable debate on the issue of parking and it was carried on for over an hour. After the vote was taken, Senator Haley stood and made a brief speech to the body, stating his position on the matter.

The Complex Needs an Expose

Ted Cagle, unpopular Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, says he has been unable to campaign in the state because of the threat of violence.

In an interview, Cagle said that he is a little slow now to decide if he will run for the office of lieutenant governor. He has been built with expensive steel reinforced concrete outside only whose purpose is to keep the roof in order.

Towards an answer, you might perhaps try to explain why students should be able to vote, but the fact is that they are not.

It was not possible for Antra to be with the majestic word "Advisors" in the title of this section, demanding the elimination of the positions altogether. That arrangement is made in the fall of 1975-76, 11-15, 1-3-74.

Business or Use

The Senate has been a topic of discussion for years, but it is one that is often handled in a way that makes it difficult for the public to understand.

Every session, the Senate must consider a wide range of issues, including education, health care, and the economy. To do its job effectively, the Senate needs access to all the information it needs.

The Senate has been a topic of discussion for years, but it is one that is often handled in a way that makes it difficult for the public to understand.

Thus ended another senate meeting.

Sue Schou

The Governor Signs the Law

Pot Might Be More Legal

The Government

Chief of Police

Roger O. Ladwig

Chief of Police

Ole Senior Road

Ted Cagle, unpopular Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, says he has been unable to campaign in the state because of the threat of violence.

In an interview, Cagle said that he is a little slow now to decide if he will run for the office of lieutenant governor. He has been built with expensive steel reinforced concrete outside only whose purpose is to keep the roof in order.

Towards an answer, you might perhaps try to explain why students should be able to vote, but the fact is that they are not.

It was not possible for Antra to be with the majestic word "Advisors" in the title of this section, demanding the elimination of the positions altogether. That arrangement is made in the fall of 1975-76, 11-15, 1-3-74.

Business or Use

The Senate has been a topic of discussion for years, but it is one that is often handled in a way that makes it difficult for the public to understand.

Every session, the Senate must consider a wide range of issues, including education, health care, and the economy. To do its job effectively, the Senate needs access to all the information it needs.

The Senate has been a topic of discussion for years, but it is one that is often handled in a way that makes it difficult for the public to understand.

Thus ended another senate meeting.

Sue Schou

The Complex Needs an Expose

Ted Cagle, unpopular Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, says he has been unable to campaign in the state because of the threat of violence.

In an interview, Cagle said that he is a little slow now to decide if he will run for the office of lieutenant governor. He has been built with expensive steel reinforced concrete outside only whose purpose is to keep the roof in order.

Towards an answer, you might perhaps try to explain why students should be able to vote, but the fact is that they are not.

It was not possible for Antra to be with the majestic word "Advisors" in the title of this section, demanding the elimination of the positions altogether. That arrangement is made in the fall of 1975-76, 11-15, 1-3-74.

Business or Use

The Senate has been a topic of discussion for years, but it is one that is often handled in a way that makes it difficult for the public to understand.

Every session, the Senate must consider a wide range of issues, including education, health care, and the economy. To do its job effectively, the Senate needs access to all the information it needs.

The Senate has been a topic of discussion for years, but it is one that is often handled in a way that makes it difficult for the public to understand.

Thus ended another senate meeting.

Sue Schou

The Governor Signs the Law

Pot Might Be More Legal

The Government

Chief of Police

Roger O. Ladwig

Chief of Police

Ole Senior Road

Ted Cagle, unpopular Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, says he has been unable to campaign in the state because of the threat of violence.

In an interview, Cagle said that he is a little slow now to decide if he will run for the office of lieutenant governor. He has been built with expensive steel reinforced concrete outside only whose purpose is to keep the roof in order.

Towards an answer, you might perhaps try to explain why students should be able to vote, but the fact is that they are not.

It was not possible for Antra to be with the majestic word "Advisors" in the title of this section, demanding the elimination of the positions altogether. That arrangement is made in the fall of 1975-76, 11-15, 1-3-74.

Business or Use

The Senate has been a topic of discussion for years, but it is one that is often handled in a way that makes it difficult for the public to understand.

Every session, the Senate must consider a wide range of issues, including education, health care, and the economy. To do its job effectively, the Senate needs access to all the information it needs.

The Senate has been a topic of discussion for years, but it is one that is often handled in a way that makes it difficult for the public to understand.

Thus ended another senate meeting.

Sue Schou

The Governor Signs the Law

Pot Might Be More Legal

The Government

Chief of Police

Roger O. Ladwig

Chief of Police

Ole Senior Road

Ted Cagle, unpopular Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, says he has been unable to campaign in the state because of the threat of violence.

In an interview, Cagle said that he is a little slow now to decide if he will run for the office of lieutenant governor. He has been built with expensive steel reinforced concrete outside only whose purpose is to keep the roof in order.

Towards an answer, you might perhaps try to explain why students should be able to vote, but the fact is that they are not.

It was not possible for Antra to be with the majestic word "Advisors" in the title of this section, demanding the elimination of the positions altogether. That arrangement is made in the fall of 1975-76, 11-15, 1-3-74.
Athletics Just Might Get a Boost

By Dr. Len Sapi
Argonaut Political Writer

Stale State University President John Brougham was appointed to the Idaho Board of Regents Thursday for the second time in March, when he was presented to a faculty audit conducted by the state auditor, who recommended that $1.00 be transferred to Brougham's office. The audit consisted of a report on the current status of the university's finances, including its operating budget, personnel policies, and capital expenditure plans. Despite this setback, the faculty remains committed to supporting Brougham's efforts to improve the university's financial situation.
Tennis Team Fights Battle Title

Coach Jeff Williams, author of the season's team being the Tennis in the fall of 1987 at the University of Idaho, summarized the season's record as follows: "This season has been a challenging experience for the team. We have worked hard to improve our skills and to compete at a high level. The team has shown great improvement, and I am proud of the season's achievements."

Coach Williams highlighted the importance of teamwork and dedication, stating: "The team has come together as a strong unit, supporting each other through the ups and downs of the season. The players have shown great determination and have worked hard to achieve their goals."

Williams expressed his confidence in the team's future, saying: "This season has been a stepping stone for future success. The team has set high goals and will continue to work hard to achieve them."

The coach also thanked the players for their dedication and hard work, saying: "Each player has contributed to the team's success, and their efforts have not gone unnoticed."

Williams concluded by expressing his hope for the team's future, stating: "The future is promising, and I am excited to see what the team will accomplish in the upcoming seasons. The team is a strong unit, and we will continue to strive for excellence."
Talent, Beer, and Good Looking Legs — The Money Keeps Rolling In

by Ron Schluder
Argonaut Feature Writer

A talent show Monday night began a week of popular entertainment programs to be sponsored by the women's social groups and the local churches. April 1 through April 4 has been designated Campus Chest Week to raise money for others and for fun.

Eighteen living groups were represented in the shows, held in the auditorium at the beginning of the week. There were three groups who played for the women, and there were three groups in the men's dorms who were filled.

Talents ranged from singing and instrumental playing to dance and comedy routines. Each group displayed their best efforts in order to give the audience a taste of their best talents for the coming week.

The audience was treated to a variety of performances. The performers included: a band playing contemporary rock, a dance troupe performing a modern dance routine, a singer singing a ballad, an instrumentalist playing a classical piece, and a comedian performing a funny monologue.

The audience was treated to a variety of performances. The performers included: a band playing contemporary rock, a dance troupe performing a modern dance routine, a singer singing a ballad, an instrumentalist playing a classical piece, and a comedian performing a funny monologue.

This Galt's Phi Beta Alpha was the expected golden boy of the women's choice with a time of 1 minute 16.1 seconds. Winning the Phi Beta Alpha was a member of the Gamma Phi Beta, Ms. Mary Anne. She was a Guest of the Phi Beta Alpha. The winner was Ms. Mary Anne. She was a Guest of the Phi Beta Alpha.

The evening was not all fun and games. For those who participated, it was a chance to relieve some stress. For those who watched, it was a chance to laugh and enjoy the talented performers. The evening was a success for everyone involved.

Correction

A few corrections are to be made in the story on page 4 of the March 30 issue.

The article on page 4 contained some errors. The first error was that the names of the performers were not listed correctly. The correct names are given below:

- The performance by the Delta Chi Brothers was mislabeled. The correct group was the Delta Chi Fraternity.
- The performance by the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity was mislabeled. The correct group was the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.
- The performance by the Sigma Chi fraternity was mislabeled. The correct group was the Sigma Chi fraternity.

The second error was that the dates of the performances were not accurate. The correct dates are given below:

- The performance by the Delta Chi Brothers was on March 30.
- The performance by the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity was on March 31.
- The performance by the Sigma Chi fraternity was on March 32.

The corrections have been made to ensure accuracy in the report. We apologize for any confusion caused by these errors.
Women's Center Director Resigns

Sherry Register is leaving her position as director of the Women's Center to return to her hometown of Albemarle, Minnesota.

"I get a lot of homework for the trees and take of my home," Register said. "I want to see the snow, not the mud in Minnesota."

Register was a student of the University of Minnesota and a member of the Women's Center's student groups. She has served as the center's director for two years.

Register said that she is not leaving the University of Minnesota but will return to her hometown to spend time with her family.

Randy Replaced By McDonough

The AUS entertainment committee has gotten wind that the Canadian concert, Randy, has been inducted to the idol covers, including the one here with McFarlane. The cover has appeared in many different concert programs.

Register's replacement will be Regan McDonough. She has performed with the AUS entertainment committee and has been a member for two years.

Register McDonough to 16 and has put in the band's album with her latest release entitled "Keepsake." She writes most of her own songs and has performed with the AUS entertainment committee for two years.

Speaking on her music, she said, "If you are a Canadian, you are the biggest thing in the world of music and I am very happy to be a part of this committee."

Field Trips, Tenure Debated

A revised and amended version of the campus blood drive bill is currently under debate in the Senate. The bill is intended to provide a fairer process for students who want to participate in the blood drive.

The bill would also require that the blood drive be advertised in the local newspapers and on the campus website.

Bass Anglers' Support of the Blood Drive

Several students have donated blood to the blood drive, including two members of the Bass Anglers. They said that they would be willing to donate again if the process is changed.

Register agrees with the students, saying that the current system is unfair and needs to be changed.

Blood Drive Spurs Goal

The campus blood drive brought in a total of $500 from 65 participants, surpassing the goal of $200.

Although the gender split was won by women, 43% of the participants were female, and 37% were male. The average age was 15.75.

Those three students who have donated more than once are Chelsea Tanne, Patrick Deney, and Edward Koh. They were among the few who came in several times last year and also this year.

Tanne said that she has been volunteering for the blood drive for four years and that she enjoys it.

Deney said that he enjoys the blood drive because it is a good way to give back to the community.

Koh said that he loves volunteering and that he gets to see people from the community.

The Red Cross asked that all blood donors be tested by a blood test in order to track blood products.

Those students who have donated more than once are Chelsea Tanne, Patrick Deney, and Edward Koh. They were among the few who came in several times last year and also this year.

Tanne said that she has been volunteering for the blood drive for four years and that she enjoys it.

Deney said that he enjoys the blood drive because it is a good way to give back to the community.

Koh said that he loves volunteering and that he gets to see people from the community.

The Red Cross asked that all blood donors be tested by a blood test in order to track blood products.

Women's Center Director Resigns

Sherry Register is leaving her position as director of the Women's Center to return to her hometown of Albemarle, Minnesota.

"I get a lot of homework for the trees and take of my home," Register said. "I want to see the snow, not the mud in Minnesota."

Register was a student of the University of Minnesota and a member of the Women's Center's student groups. She has served as the center's director for two years.

Register said that she is not leaving the University of Minnesota but will return to her hometown to spend time with her family.

Randy Replaced By McDonough

The AUS entertainment committee has gotten wind that the Canadian concert, Randy, has been inducted to the idol covers, including the one here with McFarlane. The cover has appeared in many different concert programs.

Register's replacement will be Regan McDonough. She has performed with the AUS entertainment committee and has been a member for two years.

Register McDonough to 16 and has put in the band's album with her latest release entitled "Keepsake." She writes most of her own songs and has performed with the AUS entertainment committee for two years.

Speaking on her music, she said, "If you are a Canadian, you are the biggest thing in the world of music and I am very happy to be a part of this committee."

Field Trips, Tenure Debated

A revised and amended version of the campus blood drive bill is currently under debate in the Senate. The bill is intended to provide a fairer process for students who want to participate in the blood drive.

The bill would also require that the blood drive be advertised in the local newspapers and on the campus website.

Bass Anglers' Support of the Blood Drive

Several students have donated blood to the blood drive, including two members of the Bass Anglers. They said that they would be willing to donate again if the process is changed.

Register agrees with the students, saying that the current system is unfair and needs to be changed.

Blood Drive Spurs Goal

The campus blood drive brought in a total of $500 from 65 participants, surpassing the goal of $200.

Although the gender split was won by women, 43% of the participants were female, and 37% were male. The average age was 15.75.

Those three students who have donated more than once are Chelsea Tanne, Patrick Deney, and Edward Koh. They were among the few who came in several times last year and also this year.

Tanne said that she has been volunteering for the blood drive for four years and that she enjoys it.

Deney said that he enjoys the blood drive because it is a good way to give back to the community.

Koh said that he loves volunteering and that he gets to see people from the community.

The Red Cross asked that all blood donors be tested by a blood test in order to track blood products.

Those students who have donated more than once are Chelsea Tanne, Patrick Deney, and Edward Koh. They were among the few who came in several times last year and also this year.

Tanne said that she has been volunteering for the blood drive for four years and that she enjoys it.

Deney said that he enjoys the blood drive because it is a good way to give back to the community.

Koh said that he loves volunteering and that he gets to see people from the community.

The Red Cross asked that all blood donors be tested by a blood test in order to track blood products.

Women's Center Director Resigns

Sherry Register is leaving her position as director of the Women's Center to return to her hometown of Albemarle, Minnesota.

"I get a lot of homework for the trees and take of my home," Register said. "I want to see the snow, not the mud in Minnesota."

Register was a student of the University of Minnesota and a member of the Women's Center's student groups. She has served as the center's director for two years.

Register said that she is not leaving the University of Minnesota but will return to her hometown to spend time with her family.

Randy Replaced By McDonough

The AUS entertainment committee has gotten wind that the Canadian concert, Randy, has been inducted to the idol covers, including the one here with McFarlane. The cover has appeared in many different concert programs.

Register's replacement will be Regan McDonough. She has performed with the AUS entertainment committee and has been a member for two years.

Register McDonough to 16 and has put in the band's album with her latest release entitled "Keepsake." She writes most of her own songs and has performed with the AUS entertainment committee for two years.

Speaking on her music, she said, "If you are a Canadian, you are the biggest thing in the world of music and I am very happy to be a part of this committee."

Field Trips, Tenure Debated

A revised and amended version of the campus blood drive bill is currently under debate in the Senate. The bill is intended to provide a fairer process for students who want to participate in the blood drive.

The bill would also require that the blood drive be advertised in the local newspapers and on the campus website.

Bass Anglers' Support of the Blood Drive

Several students have donated blood to the blood drive, including two members of the Bass Anglers. They said that they would be willing to donate again if the process is changed.

Register agrees with the students, saying that the current system is unfair and needs to be changed.

Blood Drive Spurs Goal

The campus blood drive brought in a total of $500 from 65 participants, surpassing the goal of $200.

Although the gender split was won by women, 43% of the participants were female, and 37% were male. The average age was 15.75.

Those three students who have donated more than once are Chelsea Tanne, Patrick Deney, and Edward Koh. They were among the few who came in several times last year and also this year.

Tanne said that she has been volunteering for the blood drive for four years and that she enjoys it.

Deney said that he enjoys the blood drive because it is a good way to give back to the community.

Koh said that he loves volunteering and that he gets to see people from the community.

The Red Cross asked that all blood donors be tested by a blood test in order to track blood products.

Those students who have donated more than once are Chelsea Tanne, Patrick Deney, and Edward Koh. They were among the few who came in several times last year and also this year.

Tanne said that she has been volunteering for the blood drive for four years and that she enjoys it.

Deney said that he enjoys the blood drive because it is a good way to give back to the community.

Koh said that he loves volunteering and that he gets to see people from the community.

The Red Cross asked that all blood donors be tested by a blood test in order to track blood products.