Alumni Center: drinking on campus

by Randy Stapilus
of the Argonaut Staff

The first police action concerning alcohol consumption on campus in years took place last weekend–the accused were not students in dorms but persons attending a party for the Regents.

No arrests were made and most of the guests were gone by the time the police arrived, but University of Idaho Athletic Director Orwick, who notified the police of the consumption, was there, with the evidence–a plastic martini glass–in his hand.

"I did it to put them in a double bind," Orwick said. He described his action as "having a little good fun at the expense of those $35,000 a year bureaucrats."

The action was, however, denounced by several other student leaders. Faculty Council representative Grant Burgoyne, who was at the party, said, "Only Orwick could have done this. I don't think this has much support among student leaders."

It didn't. Various student officials, when contacted by the Argonaut, disapproved of the action. One said "this will seriously hurt student credibility with the regents."

But ASUI President David Warrick said that while "I was glad I was drinking 7-Up," he noted that the action might display the "double standards" some University officials hold toward alcohol consumption on campus.

The party was being held in honor of the regents, largely for members of the press who covered the regents meeting. A number of students were also present including Burgoine, Warrick, Photography Director Glenn Crulckshank and Argonaut Editor Marshall Hall.

Hall said later about the event, "Orwick's action may have been justified as a student, but it placed the Argonaut and myself in an awkward position." He said it might appear to other media observers present that the Argonaut had set them up, and had known about the event in advance, but this was not the case.

Orwick reportedly called the police after securing a glass of alcohol.

Board of Regents President Janet Hay said she had no intentions of bringing the matter up at a future board meeting.

Moscow City Police said they are conducting an investigation of the incident; it is considered unlikely for prosecution to result.

Orwick, however, said he has left open his options. He did not issue a formal complaint at the party and has not yet done so, but I have one year to make up my mind."

He indicated that whether he will press the matter may depend in part on whether the Moscow City Council enacts an ordinance forbidding alcohol consumption anywhere on campus.

"He said his actions on the alumni center consumption were not too extreme. "Not the earth do the meek inherit, it's the dirt."

Mannex nominated

ASUI President David Warrick announced the nomination of Jane Mannex as ASUI Senator yesterday.

Mannex is the sixth senator to be appointed by Warrick, and her appointment comes as a result of the appointment of Mark Beatty to the ASUI-Vice Presidency. Beatty replaced Gregg Lutman who resigned as vice-president last week.

There was some question on whether a new senator would be needed, or whether Beatty would remain a senator and only become active Vice-President. According to ASUI Attorney General Art Berry, the intent of the writers of the ASUI Constitution was to provide for a permanent vice-president.

In an interview yesterday, Mannex favored changing University regulations to allow for consumption of liquor on campus.

"Most living groups have policy's of their own that are contrary to the existing University liquor policy," she said. "The University policy on the matter should be changed to reflect the existing liquor situation," she said.

Mannex said she favored ending University support of the Blue Mountain Rock Festival. The festival in recent years has become uncontrollable, and there is no effective way of limiting attendance at the event to University of Idaho students, she said.
Firm has eye on PEM site

A Couer d'Alene based corporation will attempt to open a hotel and convention center to be part of the University backed Palouse Empire Mall shopping center (PEM). According to Robert G. Templin, President of Western Frontiers Corp., Couer d'Alene, the firm is "definitely considering" opening a hotel and convention center on the PEM site, although problems of obtaining a liquor license, obtaining financing and receiving University approval of the venture must be worked out before a final decision is made.

The PEM site consists of University land located just west of Moscow, which is being developed by Earl D. McCarthy, a Spokane, Wash. based shopping center developer. Under an agreement between McCarthy and the University, the University will receive a percentage of rents paid by firms which locate in the center.

Templin said the corporation plans to open its Moscow hotel by the beginning of 1977, if necessary financing and University approval arrangements are worked out. The Western Frontiers Corporation owns the North Shore Convention Center and Tem- plins Motor Inn, both located in Couer d'Alene, he said.

He said the University retains the right to approve any proposed buildings which will be located in the mall and will also want assurances that the structures will be properly maintained.

Under terms of the PEM lease, buildable land located on the site will eventually become University property. Templin said so far University officials "have been awfully nice, and very cooperative," during discussions about the possibility of a convention center being located in the mall.

The corporation has been in touch with Moscow city officials, exploring the possibility of receiving a liquor license for the hotel. Although presently Moscow has reached its quota of liquor licenses available under state liquor board policy, the corporation hopes that population increases in the city would make another liquor license allocation possible, Templin said.

The prospects for receiving a new license appear dim, however, according to Moscow city administrator Marvin Kimberling. Presently, there is a freeze on new licenses issued in Moscow, because the city has reached the limit set by the state liquor board for a city of 15,000, he said.

A special census, increasing the city's population, would be needed before the city would have more licenses to allocate.

Templin said the liquor license would be a necessity if the corporation were to open a convention center in the PEM. If a new license could not be issued for the hotel, the developers could try to purchase an existing liquor license from a local business.

Templin said before the corporation considered enter- ing the PEM development it had considered other sites in Moscow, all of which were "unacceptable because of various problems," including inconvenient locations.

The proposed hotel-convention center development joins K-Mart and Rosauers stores, which have had the definitive decision upon opening stores in the Mall, according to developer McCarthy.

Speaking to Moscow Chamber of Commerce officials last month, McCarthy said J.C. Penney company might also open a store in the mall, but would not make a definite decision on the matter before 1978.

McCarthy told the chamber members that the University stands to make between $100,000 and $150,000 per year from the development.

Senator discusses funding

Appropriation bills submitted to the ASU Senate Finance Committee may be considered by the senate as a whole at their meeting tonight.

According to Senator Mike Heibling, a member of the Finance Committee, money bills which have been submitted throughout the year may be considered by the senate tonight. The senate had been calling for all ASU departments to make appropriation requests before they acted on any of the bills.

Among the bills to be considered by the senate:

A $2000 allocation to ASU Issues and Forums. The money would replace funds withdrawn from the Issues and Forums program last spring by the University administration. The University withdrew funds from the program when it took over support for what was ASU Drama.

A $2500 appropriation to the ASU Communications Department to allow the department to begin publishing a literary magazine on campus.

An allocation to the ASU golf course, providing $4000 for the purchase of new carpeting and $2500 for a golf cart.

Last week, the senate failed to pass a measure providing $4300 to the Gem of the Mountains yearbook, which among other things, would provide enough money for the publication to print pictures of all students.

Because of pending deadlines, the bill would not have been passed in time to hire a photographer to undertake the project, according to Gern co-editor Kathy Rogers.

The bill will be reintroduced at tonight's meeting, however, according to Rogers, the pictures could be taken later in the semester.

Rogers said she had spoken to living groups about getting all students' pictures in the annual and said she had received good response. An appropriation to provide $335 for a forum on Religion, Ethnic and the Environment was introduced in the senate this week. The money would help fund a conference on such issues as world hunger, planned for later this month.

The senate will hold a measure which provides job descriptions for ASU administrative positions. The job descriptions would become a division of the ASU Rules and Regulations, which presently includes descriptions of ASU student positions and the positions of top Student Union administrative employees.

Outdoor program activities

Four outings are planned for this week through the UI outdoor program, according to Jim Renne, program coordinator.

ROCK CLIMBING excursions will be heading for Moscow Mountain Wednesday at 2 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m. Friday, a backpacking trip is scheduled to leave for the Palouse Mountains in the Eagle Cap Wilderness, and a hike is scheduled for Anthony Peak in the Coho National Forest which will leave Moscow Sunday at 9 a.m.

"Anyone can initiate about any type of trip," Renne said, "unless it requires special skills."

He said all a person needs to do to get an outing together is fill out a trip sheet at the outdoor program office and get people to sign up for the trip.

Renne added that some trips are specifically instructional, such as the rock climbing excursion set for Saturday.

Four other activities are currently scheduled for October, all falling on Friday, the 17. Four backpacking trips will be heading for either the Seven Devils area or the Eagle Cap Wilderness.

Governor Andrus

You are cordially invited to brunch with

Governor Andrus

at St. Augustine's Center
on Saturday October 11
10-12 a.m.

Tickets:
11 15th General Public
22 Students

Reservations must be made by October 9
at 882-9894.

Outdoor program activities

Four outings are planned for this week through the UI outdoor program, according to Jim Renne, program coordinator.

Rock climbing excursions will be heading for Moscow Mountain Wednesday at 2 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m. Friday, a backpacking trip is scheduled to leave for the Palouse Mountains in the Eagle Cap Wilderness, and a hike is scheduled for Anthony Peak in the Coho National Forest which will leave Moscow Sunday at 9 a.m.

"Anyone can initiate about any type of trip," Renne said, "unless it requires special skills."

He said all a person needs to do to get an outing together is fill out a trip sheet at the outdoor program office and get people to sign up for the trip.

Renne added that some trips are specifically instructional, such as the rock climbing excursion set for Saturday.

Four other activities are currently scheduled for October, all falling on Friday, the 17. Four backpacking trips will be heading for either the Seven Devils area or the Eagle Cap Wilderness.

Governor Andrus

You are cordially invited to brunch with

Governor Andrus

at St. Augustine's Center
on Saturday October 11
10-12 a.m.

Tickets:
11 15th General Public
22 Students

Reservations must be made by October 9
at 882-9894.

Outdoor program activities

Four outings are planned for this week through the UI outdoor program, according to Jim Renne, program coordinator.

Rock climbing excursions will be heading for Moscow Mountain Wednesday at 2 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m. Friday, a backpacking trip is scheduled to leave for the Palouse Mountains in the Eagle Cap Wilderness, and a hike is scheduled for Anthony Peak in the Coho National Forest which will leave Moscow Sunday at 9 a.m.

"Anyone can initiate about any type of trip," Renne said, "unless it requires special skills."

He said all a person needs to do to get an outing together is fill out a trip sheet at the outdoor program office and get people to sign up for the trip.

Renne added that some trips are specifically instructional, such as the rock climbing excursion set for Saturday.

Four other activities are currently scheduled for October, all falling on Friday, the 17. Four backpacking trips will be heading for either the Seven Devils area or the Eagle Cap Wilderness.

Governor Andrus

You are cordially invited to brunch with

Governor Andrus

at St. Augustine's Center
on Saturday October 11
10-12 a.m.

Tickets:
11 15th General Public
22 Students

Reservations must be made by October 9
at 882-9894.
Original art possibly $10

by Carolyn Harada
of the Argonaut Staff

Can a student afford a Picasso, Renoir, or Goya on a tight budget? It is possible, for the Program Department of the ASU Student Union will sponsor an exhibit and sale of approximately 600 original prints from the famed Ferdinand Roten Galleries. The collection today from noon to 7 p.m. in the Vandal Lounge of the SUB. Even with today's inflation, a young collector, with very little money, can own an original work for $10. Most of the works in this one-day exhibition and sale are under $100. A few are worth far more.

What makes one original print, perhaps by the same artist, worth $10 while another print is worth $10,000? That explains Ernest Lowenstein, president of the Roten Galleries, which is all part of the fun collecting. In the past 25 years, people of all ages and finances have wanted to possess pictures that were actually touched by the artists. This desire, in combination with a growing awareness of art, has created a new and separate art market for original prints, furthered Lowenstein.

"During the past twenty years, the interest and changes in printmaking have been great," indicates Lowenstein. "People want original art in their homes and original prints are within everyone's economic reach."

Therefore, in the graphic media, which can produce different editions of original prints from the same work, accounts for this broad range of prices. An original by a modern master, which is one of an unsigned, large edition may sell for as little as $25, while a signed print from a limited edition by the same artist might cost $500 or more.

An original print is a print that is taken directly from the artist's original woodcut, engraving, etching, silk screen, lithograph (not to be confused with a photo-effect lithograph). It is not necessary for the artwork to be unique for it to be original. An original print is not a restatement of an original work in a different medium, according to the Roten Galleries.

The Roten Galleries collection of original prints spans the 700 year history of this art form. A world respected authority on original graphics of all types, Roten's unique program of traveling exhibitions and sales at major museums, college campuses, art galleries, and art centers throughout the United States and Canada bring prints of such masters as Miro, Calder, and Hogarth, as well as works by many of today's American artists, some famous and some not yet famous. The informal displaying of the collection allows visitors to examine at close range the various graphic techniques of different artists.

Are there any hidden treasures in the group? Is the $10 picture by an unknown artist purchased really worth $10,000? It is very possible, but no one will venture a guess. From Roten, however, we do have some tips on what to look for and what to avoid, if one must think of a picture as an investment, or if one is interested in starting a collection.

Graphic art is becoming a good investment, now that a million dollars is almost a common price for oils sold at an auction, notes Roten. Buying an auction is fun, but it is also risky. The dealers are sure to be there if anything of interest is being shown. These dealers are knowledgeable, have money to spend, and know when to stop, adds Roten.

The first suggestion is not to buy a picture until one has had the opportunity to see a fine print collection. Take time to see what appeals to you, explains Lowenstein. The subject matter, the medium itself, the line of the etching, or the dazzle color of a silk screen may be the appealing factors to him. The key to successful graphics collecting is to work with a knowledgeable and trustworthy dealer. An important point to notice is whether the dealer offers to guarantee the authenticity of the time. Does he recommend books for one to read to research the prospective purchase? Be cautious if he objects to the bringing of an independent expert to view the prints, suggests Roten Galleries.

Meeting of interested students or faculty: VANDAL FLYING CLUB
Pend Oreille Room
Wednesday, Oct. 8
from 1 to 2 p.m. in the SUB.

$33,500,000 Unclaimed Scholarships

Over $33,500,000 unclaimed scholarships, grants, and fellowships ranging from $50 to $10,000. Current list of these sources researched and compiled as of Sept. 15, 1975.

UNCLAIMED SCHOLARSHIPS
11275 Massachusetts Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90025
I am enclosing $99.95 plus $1.00 for postage and handling.

PLEASE RUSH YOUR CURRENT LIST OF UNCLAIMED SCHOLARSHIPS TO:

Name: ____________________________
Address: ____________________________
City: __________________ State: ______ Zip: __________
(California residents please add 6% sales tax.)

NOW, FOR NOT VERY MUCH MONEY, SOME SOUND THAT REALLY GOOD

If you think excellent sound is prohibitively in cost, just give this system a listen! It's small and moderately priced, but unlike many small and department store "compact systems," this is not a frail, disappointing toy. The ADVENT 400 speakers have the characteristic octave-to-octave balance and tight, clean bass you'd expect in a member of the Advent family. In fact, the bass is so good, you'll think there's a larger speaker hidden somewhere! The careful design and an elaborate equalization network make this performance possible.

The system is powered adequately by the SuperScrape A-235 amplifier, which has provisions for turntable and tape deck. You're ready. The reliable Garrard 42M automatic turntable, base, and Pickering V15/ATE4 elliptical cartridge, are ideally suited to this system.

Total Retail Value $261.
Stereocraft Price $199
A matter of principle

The resistance to ASUI membership by the law students is seemingly a matter of principle. The argument, of course, is why should the professional students of the University of Idaho be discriminated against by the assessment of a $100 fee for the law building in addition to a fee shared by all students to cover the costs of the building development programs on campus? A favorable argument can be made for the position of the law students. Due to their separate membership in ASUI, a basis is formed by which university students can be collectively defined and equally charged the $100 fee which is dispersed for university maintenance and development. Collectively, then, all members of the ASUI bear the nurturing and assignment of services and programs (afforded the students through the direct auspices of the student government); and long term planning and present financing of the University building development program. The base of the struggle for release from the $100 fee then is this: If Ag Science students don't have to pay an additional $100 for use of the new Ag Science building, and Nursing students don't have to pay an additional $100 for the use of the new forestry building, and education students don't have to pay an additional $100 for the use of the new education building, and business students don't have to pay an additional $100 for the use of the new business building, then why can't law students do the same thing, too? But the most direct way to get better reporting, it may work. If it does work, will there be an editorial next week announcing typographical errors?)

Whether the approach works or not, I was glad to see this thing wrapped up.

To the Editor:

Andy Hall believes that UI students want to read news and feature articles, rather than "the continuous drudgery of political material that we tend to get wrapped up in." I applaud Mr. Hall's fashionable taste for reading, writing and publishing news. It's hard work sometimes, and it's not as glamorous as pretending to be a part of James Kàppach, Mr. Hall, but Andy Hall is right: There is a place for thorough news coverage and good newswriting.

All political comment isn't shocking. Andy Hall knows this, but there does seem to be something wrong when there is a lack of coverage on a student political event, which, itself, hasn't been clearly reported.

The present Argonaut editor can restore traditional newswriting to its place in the paper, that would be quite an accomplishment. And quite a contribution to the University community.

Don H. Coombs
Communication

Editor's note: Criticizing reports isn't something every student enjoys, and I'd like to make it clear that the majority of Argonaut reporters are students. They do have an excellent credibility. Perhaps the writing of the editorial reminded each reader of the amount and extent of influence their story has on the public.
Most Americans believe that they receive the best medical care in the world. Richard Kun- ners, M.D., argues this point in his book titled "Your Body or Your Life." He states that, "only relatively well-off Americans receive the best health care in the world. The rest of us have to live with the following facts: 1. The United States is ranked 25th in life expectancy. 2. The United States is ranked 18th in infant mortality. 3. The United States is ranked 66th in mortality from hospital beds to population. 4. Only 60 percent of United States hospitals are accredited, and almost 3 million patients are treated in unaccredited hospitals. 5. New York City alone, 71 percent of all nursing positions are vacant, and 6. There are fewer doctors on a per capita basis today than at the turn of the century.

The above points are particularly relevant to women since women are "the largest consumers of the nation's health services." Jane Stivers looks at the issue of Women and Health in the Women's Rights Almanac, 1974, edited by Nancy Gager. Ms. Stivers states that the average 25 percent more visits each year to doctors than men, take 50 percent more prescription drugs, and are treated mostly to medical conditions much more frequently than men. In 1968, American women comprised 62 percent of the adult population in psychiatric outpatient clinics, as adults in private psychiatric hospitals, 60 percent of the adults in general psychiatric wards, and 65 percent of the inpatient psychiatric population. This is significant because health care in this country is based on the assumption that all women have a right to good medical care, be they rich or poor. Women have the power to change health care in this country, and are beginning to break down the "myth of the expert," by leaving about their bodies and demanding straight answers from their physicians. Women join in this struggle, the health industry will have to meet their demands.

Sobota thanks

To the Editor:

I would like to sincerely thank the U of I students, faculty, alumni and my own people, Moscow for all of their help and support since my accident last February; and for supporting and choosing me, who has made it possible for me to come back to school.

With heartfelt thanks,

TereSobota

Sobota thanks

The candidates declare

Four candidates have announced for the Nov. 4 city council election. The three four year terms will be filled.

Incumbent George Russell, completing his eighth year on the council, has announced he will seek re-election.

Former university instructor and urban planner Linda Park is also seeking one of the seats open.

Ted Cowin, Moscow photographer, has announced he will be running in the two week period.

And the most recent entry in the city council race is U of I student Nile Bohr.

Any resident of the City of Moscow can vote in the November 4 election, providing he registers to vote by Nov. 1. Registration takes place at City Hall.

The predominant male-

Half the sky

By Donna Granville

Most Americans believe that they receive the best medical care in the world. Richard Kun-ners, M.D., argues this point in his book titled "Your Body or Your Life." He states that, "only relatively well-off Americans receive the best health care in the world. The rest of us have to live with the following facts: 1. The United States is ranked 25th in life expectancy. 2. The United States is ranked 18th in infant mortality. 3. The United States is ranked 66th in mortality from hospital beds to population. 4. Only 60 percent of United States hospitals are accredited, and almost 3 million patients are treated in unaccredited hospitals. 5. New York City alone, 71 percent of all nursing positions are vacant, and 6. There are fewer doctors on a per capita basis today than at the turn of the century.

The above points are particularly relevant to women since women are "the largest consumers of the nation's health services." Jane Stivers looks at the issue of Women and Health in the Women's Rights Almanac, 1974, edited by Nancy Gager. Ms. Stivers states that the average 25 percent more visits each year to doctors than men, take 50 percent more prescription drugs, and are treated mostly to medical conditions much more frequently than men. In 1968, American women comprised 62 percent of the adult population in psychiatric outpatient clinics, as adults in private psychiatric hospitals, 60 percent of the adults in general psychiatric wards, and 65 percent of the inpatient psychiatric population. This is significant because health care in this country is based on the assumption that all women have a right to good medical care, be they rich or poor. Women have the power to change health care in this country, and are beginning to break down the "myth of the expert," by leaving about their bodies and demanding straight answers from their physicians. Women join in this struggle, the health industry will have to meet their demands.

Sobota thanks

To the Editor:

I would like to sincerely thank the U of I students, faculty, alumni and my own people, Moscow for all of their help and support since my accident last February; and for supporting and choosing me, who has made it possible for me to come back to school.

With heartfelt thanks,

TereSobota

Sobota thanks

The candidates declare

Four candidates have announced for the Nov. 4 city council election. The three four year terms will be filled.

Incumbent George Russell, completing his eighth year on the council, has announced he will seek re-election.

Former university instructor and urban planner Linda Park is also seeking one of the seats open.

Ted Cowin, Moscow photographer, has announced he will be running in the two week period.

And the most recent entry in the city council race is U of I student Nile Bohr.

Any resident of the City of Moscow can vote in the November 4 election, providing he registers to vote by Nov. 1. Registration takes place at City Hall.

The predominant male-

Half the sky

By Donna Granville

Most Americans believe that they receive the best medical care in the world. Richard Kun-ners, M.D., argues this point in his book titled "Your Body or Your Life." He states that, "only relatively well-off Americans receive the best health care in the world. The rest of us have to live with the following facts: 1. The United States is ranked 25th in life expectancy. 2. The United States is ranked 18th in infant mortality. 3. The United States is ranked 66th in mortality from hospital beds to population. 4. Only 60 percent of United States hospitals are accredited, and almost 3 million patients are treated in unaccredited hospitals. 5. New York City alone, 71 percent of all nursing positions are vacant, and 6. There are fewer doctors on a per capita basis today than at the turn of the century.

The above points are particularly relevant to women since women are "the largest consumers of the nation's health services." Jane Stivers looks at the issue of Women and Health in the Women's Rights Almanac, 1974, edited by Nancy Gager. Ms. Stivers states that the average 25 percent more visits each year to doctors than men, take 50 percent more prescription drugs, and are treated mostly to medical conditions much more frequently than men. In 1968, American women comprised 62 percent of the adult population in psychiatric outpatient clinics, as adults in private psychiatric hospitals, 60 percent of the adults in general psychiatric wards, and 65 percent of the inpatient psychiatric population. This is significant because health care in this country is based on the assumption that all women have a right to good medical care, be they rich or poor. Women have the power to change health care in this country, and are beginning to break down the "myth of the expert," by leaving about their bodies and demanding straight answers from their physicians. Women join in this struggle, the health industry will have to meet their demands.

Sobota thanks

To the Editor:

I would like to sincerely thank the U of I students, faculty, alumni and my own people, Moscow for all of their help and support since my accident last February; and for supporting and choosing me, who has made it possible for me to come back to school.

With heartfelt thanks,

TereSobota

Sobota thanks

The candidates declare

Four candidates have announced for the Nov. 4 city council election. The three four year terms will be filled.

Incumbent George Russell, completing his eighth year on the council, has announced he will seek re-election.

Former university instructor and urban planner Linda Park is also seeking one of the seats open.

Ted Cowin, Moscow photographer, has announced he will be running in the two week period.

And the most recent entry in the city council race is U of I student Nile Bohr.

Any resident of the City of Moscow can vote in the November 4 election, providing he registers to vote by Nov. 1. Registration takes place at City Hall.
Thefts, drunken driving, bike mishaps

In this, the concluding part of a three-part series on crime in the Moscow-U of I area, focus shifts onto the University of Idaho campus, and the crime problem it experiences.

The first two articles in this series dealt with the Moscow Police Force, the training its officers receive, what their duties entail, and their attempts to deal with crime in the Moscow area.

This final article follows the MPD as they patrol the U of I campus. It examines the three problems of most concern on the U of I campus. These are the areas of vandalism and theft-driving problems involving the use of alcohol, and accidents in which bicycles are involved.

The police car rolled up to the stop sign and then slowly proceeded up the alley behind the Student Union Building. The officer glanced to his left, into one of the lighted offices, and then turned to us with a smile.

"I was patrolling this area once, a while back, pretty late at night, and as I passed I saw a guy and a gal inside the building. I backed up, wondering if they should be in the SUB that late. Well, I got to where I could see inside and discovered that they were making out...

...after a moment they rolled off the couch and onto the floor, and I left, thinking they had things pretty well under control.

It was early in the evening, on a Friday night, and we were riding with the officer assigned to cover the U of I campus. As we drove past the SUB he asked us about the stories we were writing for the Argonaut.

We explained that we were trying to examine the crime situation in the Moscow area. We mentioned briefly the other nights we had spent cruising downtown and residential Moscow.

"Tonight," we added, "we want to see what happens on campus."

"I've been patrolling campus for a couple of years," he said, "and the students are a pretty good bunch of kids. But we've been getting a lot more complaints, this year about thefts and vandalism. It's the worst I've seen it here...

"Pop-offs" have always been one of the major concerns of the University of Idaho. But this year, the apprehension has increased and losses to theft and vandalism on campus since the start of the 1975-76 school year have already passed the $2,500 mark.

Idaho sororities have been particularly hard hit, suffering over $1,000 in damage. In addition, the number of incidents resulting in financial damage have increased.

The President of one sorority last week told the Argonaut that in the four years she has been on campus "we've never had this much trouble."

Mary Thompson, House Mother of Pi Beta Phi, echoed these sentiments, stating that her sorority "has had so many recent break-ins that are worried about who might come in at night now." The U of I campus traditionally has its share of pranks, usually between competing fraternities or between fraternities and sororities. Trophy stealing and, to an extent, window-breaking has been accepted as part of the "game." In this regard, the 1975 school year has been no different from years in the past.

The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity has been hit this year. The fraternity has been breaking in over $100 in damage to a truck. The Pi Kappa Alpha firetruck has been stolen twice this year. It was first theft in July in over $100 in damage to a truck hit by the firetruck. Towing-charges for the truck, which is currently under repair, amount to $8 each.

Though the persons responsible for the theft of the truck have agreed to pay for the damage, the President of Pi Kappa Alpha has stated that "charges will be pressed" if the truck is not returned within a week.

On the independent side of campus, vandalism has also been common this year.

Within the past week, a record deck valued at $200 was stolen from a campus dormitory.

A car parked overnight in front of a classroom was partially "stripped," with a $40 battery being stolen.

On the weekend of the U of I football game, four cars either front or rear windows smashed with rocks.

That same weekend the front lights on a car parked in front of the administration building were broken. A near miss to this car was also damaged when someone either ran across or jumped on top of the vehicle's roof.

Bicycles have also been damaged, and tire slashing has occurred in at least two areas on campus.

As we rode through the University streets, we asked the officer why he thought acts of vandalism and thefts have increased this year at the U of I.

"Is there any one reason you can put your finger on?" we asked.

"I've heard several different reasons from several different persons," he replied. "Some say it's the overcrowding in the town's housing. Some of the sorority mothers think there's too much alcohol at the parties. And then, too, a lot of these houses and dorms and easy to break into..."

We talked a bit longer and the officer mentioned that one way to cut burglary and thefts is to "change the locks on the doors. " Outdoor lighting also helps," he added.

It was just past 9 p.m., and we were driving down Deakin Street, just past the SUB. The officer stopped talking and pulled up beside three students riding bicycles without lights through the darkened SUB parking lot.

"Pardon me," he said, "can I see some I.D.?" The students produced drivers licenses and the officer examined them in the glare of the patrol car's dome light. After a moment, the officer turned again to the students.

"You know you should have lights on those bikes. " He was silent and the three riders agreed that they should have had bicycle lights. "A ticket would maybe run you $50," the officer continued. "Bike lights cost you two..."

The cop warned the students, and asked them to walk their bicycles the rest of the way home. "Always dread being heard bike accidents come in over the radio," he said, turning away as we drove on. "It usually means taking somebody to the hospital. If it's my bike the bike was in the right or not. The car always wins." "Bicycle-related accidents and bike thefts rate as another of the U of I's areas of major concern. Thefts of the light-weight vehicles are common, but losses often totaling over $500 for the theft of merely a bicycle.

More important than the thefts, however, are the accidents that occur in a town that has both heavy automobile and bicycle traffic. Each of the officers with
The Moscow area has been fortunate in being able to maintain a low level of violence. Statistically, the area in which we live is one of the safest in Idaho, if not the nation. CPA campus proper, violence has also been infrequent and often of a less-than-serious nature. The records maintained by campus security, for instance, list the monthly incidents on the CPA campus, often carrying explanatory paragraphs indicating the nature of the recorded actions. One such case was marked down as a battery, but the short comment read down with caution to the effect of it. The Moscow campus, for instance, was noted as a location of the Cellular Gym, of U of I fans and WSU fans. It is not surprising that Moscow averages barely one violent crime per 1000 persons, compared with a rate of 3.3 for Spokane and 5 for Portland.

As to the reasons for this low level of violence, the students and leaders of the campus are at one in their view of the matter. The student body is a community, they say, and if the officers of the MPD feel that their presence is unnecessary, they are only too happy to leave. The MPD, on the other hand, feels that if the police are not there, the situation will deteriorate. The police are prepared to leave if the students are prepared to do something about it. The police have been asked to leave, but they refuse to leave until they have been given some kind of assurance that the situation will be taken care of.

Vandalism, including broken windows, has increased...
Valhala awaits U of I

Valhala, the official U of I dance club, has added 15 girls in the SUB Wednesday, bringing the membership number to 30. This is the first year that the Valkaries will be helping on the blood drive, which will be held today and tomorrow. They also will hostess the innertube and dog paddle races today and be delivering mail for the SUB office. They usually help with the Brigham Symposium concerts, orientation sessions, and ushering.

Their main projects are at Christmas when they host a Christmas party for the faculty children and during Parent's Weekend for the May Fete Song Festival entertainment arrangements. They decorate the SUB at Christmas and sponsor a Christmas card contest for the area elementary school children, said Ann Johnson, Valkaries president. It is a small organization, but it is growing, according to Kitty Butler, past president. However, the limited number constitutes a "more special" closeness between the girls, she noted.

This service organization is different from the Spurs, notes Imogene Rush, SUB Programs coordinator. The Spurs are more structured and are a national organization which have certain commitments and rules that they have to follow, she said.

Spurs is an honorary service organization for sophomores, while Valkaries are hostesses, and its members constitute 2nd semester Freshmen to seniors. The girls must have a 2.25 GPA.

Valkaries are centered on providing spur of the moment help, notes Johnson. They are sort of on a "24-hour call" basis and do not have a strict absentee policy on attending meetings, according to Johnson.

The Wren House welcomes you!

Yes, folks have asked us, so we are going to be Open All Night again.

Beginning Tuesday Oct. 7, except Sundays and Mondays

The Wren House

513 South
Washington

Transcendental Meditation Lecture
Wednesday Oct. 8th
8 pm. - SUB Cataldo Room

Transcendental Meditation is Dynamic Action from Deep Rest
This is an Introductory Lecture
Sports Spectacular week is on

Throughout this week, the ASUI programs department, the Valkeries, Spurs, IK's and WRA (Women's Recreation Association) will be co-sponsoring a week of fun and activities designed to let the student body know that "the Kibbie Dome isn't just for football and basketball," according to Terry Allen of the programs department. Here are the activities:

- Monday, Oct. 6 - the pie eating and egg throwing contest. These will be held on the field to the north of the dome at 6 p.m. Applicants for the pie-eating contest must bring their own 8" pie, and two people will be needed for a team for the egg-throwing contest.
- Tuesday, Oct. 7 - the inner tube race and the dog paddle race. These events will be sponsored by the Valkeries, and will be held at the pool, at 9 p.m. For the inner tube race, two persons will be stationed at each end of the pool, so it will be necessary to have teams of four. The dog paddle race is an individual event, so one person may enter. Wednesday, Oct. 8 - The Square Dance, 7-9 p.m. A square dance sponsored by the WRA will be held in the Kibbie Dome, and will feature a live band, the H.M.R. Bluegrass Express, and a professional caller.
- Thursday, Oct. 9 - the tug-of-war, toilet paper roll, and the four-legged race, at 7 p.m. in the Dome. The tug-of-war will need teams of four, but the toilet paper roll is an individual event. The four-legged race is a three-legged race, with three people involved, so teams of three are needed.
- Friday, Oct. 10 - bowling and pool contests. These contests will be held in the game room of the SUB. They will start at 7:30 p.m. and will require an entry fee of $1.75 for the bowling contest and $0.50 for the pool contest.
- Saturday, Oct. 11 - the bike race and night on the game room. Sat. morning at 10:30 a.m., the IK's will sponsor a bike race starting at the SUB. Sat. night, when the game room opens, there will be reduced prices. All events will be half price. Persons interested should see the head of your living group, or if off-campus, go to the programs office in the SUB.

MID-SEASON SALE

Oct. 7 thru Oct. 11

Men's

1. Leisure Suits, Plain color & check patterns. Reg. 43.00. Sale 29.99
2. Groups of dress slacks 14.00 to 27.50. Sale 3/4 off
3. Down & Fiber filled jackets 40.00. Sale 29.99
4. Pre-washed denims Reg. 15.00. Sale 10.99

Accessories

1. Entire Stock of Jewelry plus Turquoise Puka Shells, Liquid Silver, etc. Reduced 20%
2. Entire Stock of Purses. Reduced 20%
3. Toe Socks Reg. 3.50. Sale 2.99

Fabric

1. Jersey in prints. Sale 1.49
2. Double Knits. Special 1.99 & 2.99
3. Entire stock of wool. 20% off

Ready to wear Sportswear

Our regular & best selling selection ever. Choose from the large grouping at bargain prices.

- Slacks
- Tops
- Blouses
- Sweaters
- Ladies fall coats & car coats all from regular stock. Sale 1/2 OFF
Arizona State downs Idaho 29-3

by John Hawley
of the Argonaut Staff

The University of Idaho Vandals fell victim to nationally ranked Arizona State, 29-3 Saturday evening, but the defeat wasn’t as overwhelming as most people had expected.

Although the outcome of the game was never in doubt, the Vandals stayed in the game, while the Sun Devils threw a way numerous scoring opportunities through sloppy ball control and penalties.

Arizona State moved the ball at will. They marched up and down the field on a good ground game and stung the Vandals secondary repeatedly for sizeable gains. The final score was deceptive, the real story was in the stats. The Sun Devils amassed a grand total of 629 offensive yards and 28 first downs, while Idaho was held to 15 first downs and 282 total yards.

On the blunder scale both teams were about equal, each squad lost or fumbled, but the Vandals had two passes picked off and ASU--none.

If you heard the game on the radio, two names kept coming up--ASU quarterback Fred Mortensen and his favorite receiver Larry Mucker. In the second quarter, Mortensen came in replacing starter Dennis Sproul and went on to complete 11 of 17 aerials good for 252 yards and a touchdown. Mucker caught 5 passes for 155 yards, one a 66 yard touchdown grab. A little while later he pulled in a 66-yard TD bomb, but fortunately it was nullified by an officials penalty.

The first quarter was a comedy of errors, with ASU fumbling twice and the Vandals losing the ball on one fumble and one interception.

Every time the Sun Devils mounted a threat they bungled it up and finally a 30-yard field goal by the opponents, Dan Kush gave ASU a 3-0 edge.

On the following kickoff the Vandals fumbled on their own one, and even though they recovered it, they were left in horrendous field position. Unable to move against the stifling ASU defense Vandal Bob Cheek booted a punt from deep in his own end zone, and it landed on the Idaho 47.

The Sun Devils took advantage of the great field position and nine plays later "Fast" Freddy Williams scampered 10 yards for a TD. The next time the ASU possession of the ball a long touchdown pass was nullified by an illegal motion penalty and they had to settle for another field goal, a 37 yarder by Kush. They came right back after stifling the Vandal’s offense and sting with a 66-yard Mortensen to Mucker touchdown pass late in the first half and went into the locker room with a 26-0 halftime lead.

The score could have been much more lopsided at the half, but several ASU mistakes kept the scoreboard tally down. The Sun Devil’s fumble back away probably touchdowns twice as he lost the ball on the Vandals one victory. Then there was the bomb to Mucker, which was called back.

The Vandals failed to move the ball and never penetrated ASU’s territory until late in the first half. Four plays into the second half, linebacker Mike Skov dove on a fumble by ASU’s Williams. The Vandals moved the ball forward 12 yards, but stalled. Bill Keity was called on to try a 42 yard field goal, which split the uprights and aborted a Sun Devil shutout.

ASU looked awesome on their next drive, stomping down the field in 11 plays, but a penalty combined with a lightened Vandal defense made them go for a third field goal, this one a 36 yarder. Their next drive was the last score in the game. Once again it was the Mortenson-Mucker combo that opened it up. Mucker somehow pulled in a 37 yard pass on the Idaho 11, despite being double covered. Williams shot into the end zone on short run and the score was 29-3.

Idaho put together one late drive, their most impressive of the game, but it grinded to a halt on the Devil’s 36 yard line with just over two minutes left.

Idaho Coach Ed Troxel thought his squad played well against the team, which was ranked 13th in the nation and defensively ranked 5th in the nation. "We never lost our composure and we played very well in front of about 45,000 partisan fans," he said.

He noted that ASU had some skilled and speedy players and said they made the difference, "We just have the speed they had, but the team to its fullest, especially the defense," he said.

The Vandals leading rusher was quarterback Dave Comstock, who was contained to a mere 42 yards in 11 carries. ASU’s speedster, ‘Fast’ Freddy Williams garnered 109 yards in 17 carries.

The win leaves ASU undefeated with a 4-0 ledger while the Vandals slip to 1-3 record. The Vandals will return home this weekend as they host defending Big Sky champs, Boise State at 1:30 Saturday in the Kibbie Dome. The game will mark the dedication of the newly roofed structure.

New Additions Special
One per customer only

MINSKY'S
Old Fashion Parlour
313 N. Main, Moscow

SANDWICHES
Roast Beef, Ham, Turkey
Club House, Corned Beef, Rubens
Also featuring Chili

50c Off Any Sandwich

coupon for

TACOS
(3 for $1)

TACO TIME

FEMALE STUDENTS:
Applications are now being accepted for contestants for the Miss U of I pageant, Oct. 30.

Deadline is Oct. 13.
Applications available at the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.
I'll take two

Events

Tour seeking 1,400 leaders
Bicentennial, part of the bicentennial celebration, is seeking 1,400 leaders to run the inaugural events in 1976 of the first Trans-America Bicycle Trail.

Leaders will receive food, lodging, and normal tour services as well as a small daily expense allowance.

Over 50 courses will be offered at four major training centers in Oregon, Colorado, the Midwest, and the Mid-Atlantic regions. The seven-day sessions include classroom and field instruction in bicycling technique, safety, repair, group dynamics, touring, special bike and camping skills, and first aid.

In addition to the training centers, courses will be held at the Women's Center of the WSU CUB, room B-7.

* Gay People's Alliance will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Komania House at WSU.
* Duplicate Bridge players are invited to join the Pullman Duplicate Bridge Club. It meets Monday and Thursday night at 7:30 at 1207 Nye St.
* A Republican organization seminar will meet 7:30 tonight in the Gold Room of the SUB. The seminar will have special state and national party speakers, including staffs from the College's and the national party's offices.

Preview 75 can be heart tonight on KJUI-FM 89.3

Classes

OFFERING:
The location of 14 cubic forms containing Uranium 235 nuclides. Material is ready available at location and is not under the control of any government entity or industry. Location is outside of the United States. Each cubic form contains approximately 7 kg of U-235. Nuclides are reacting through proper processing and shining, prior to critical mass configuration can be achieved. Highest bidder will be notified by the press.

Alpha Phi football champions
As a conclusion to the five weeks of women's flag football competition, the Alpha Phi gained the championship after a close run-off with the Delta Gammas.

The champions won 6 points, 4 downs, against the Delta Gamma's 6 points, 3 downs. The game was held in the Kibbie Dome Oct. 2.

Delta Gammas held second place in the flag football tournament, followed by Campbell Hall with third, and the Gamma Phi with fourth.

Campbell Hall gained its position after a 6-0 lead over the Gamma Phis. Some 14 women's teams competed in the flag football tournament, all of them various living groups. 248 different women played 1,046 times during the five weeks, compared with last year's 212 women who played.

Help wanted: Barmaids 20 to 30 hours a week. Apply Jacky's and Hyde's 415 South Main, Moscow 882-4440.

Joseph Smith and his movement original writings for the serious student. Neil Clark, 509-332-8615.

Backpacking and cross-country equipment, down-clothing, below retail prices call 882-1855 ask for David.

For sale: 1972 Barrington Mobile Home 14x44, three bedrooms, two baths. Excellent condition, $8,000.00 or best offer. Call Troy 833-5162 and after 6 p.m. for lease information.

Lead Guitar player needed for top country band. Line include electric, steel, or 7 Weekends gigs. Wages negotiable with experience. (509) 352-5924 evenings.

Reward of a large amount of your favorite beverage for return of information leading to return of Campbell Hall's carpet.

Largest selection house plants, clay pots, potting soil, supplies, open Monday thru Friday 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. The gift shop 12, Pullman Garden Center.

This happened family on earth, the Mother Poland, announces our bid of $2.75 billion Rubles for the sum of 14 cubic forms of U-235 providing they be returned to states and seeds and good soil. Acceptance will be binding 24 hours after boarding the S.S. Minsk and Trench from the Port of Lewiston. Information from the owner to the destination of the cubes will be made un批准 with "Flawless".

For sale calculator: Includes arithmetic, geometric, exponential and inverse functions plus memory. $70.00. Eric 407 South Polk.
CONCERT
SUNDAY
OCTOBER
8th

New Riders Of The Purple Sage

TICKETS:
$5.00 students
$5.50 general admission
$6.50 day of show

ticket outlets:
SUB
Casual World

in the
ASUI-Kibbie Dome
7:30 p.m.

PURE PRAIRIE LEAGUE

Commander Cody and his Lost Planet Airmen