Tutoring service is now available by ROY O' ROLL
Hoping to resolve the problem, the University Senate and the Student Senate have agreed to provide tutoring services to students.

The Tutoring Service of the Learning Resource Center can provide a private tutor in almost any discipline and it's free. There are already over 50 tutors involved, all of them needed. For more information, contact the Learning Resource Center, Hall I, or call 429-7214.

Some students find personal instruction more helpful than recitation, and a tutor can be a valuable resource.

Tutoring services are available at the Learning Resource Center, 100 University Dr. at 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. and at the Student Center, 101 University Dr. at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Students are encouraged to visit these locations to discuss their specific needs and to receive assistance.

Caldwell ag. land may be in jeopardy by BINKY STIPULI

The federal government's plans to build a new airport near Boise, Idaho, are expected to result in a reduction of agricultural land in the area.

The new airport is expected to be located near the Boise Airport and is expected to be completed by 2020. The project is expected to cost over $1 billion and will require the purchase of over 1,000 acres of farmland.

University officials have expressed concern about the impact of the new airport on local agriculture. The university is said to have been informed that the new airport will be built on a tract of land that currently serves as a pasture for cattle.

The university has asked the federal government to provide funding for a new pasture to be built near the Boise Airport.

Student drivers on Hartung's lawn by DONALD S. WISEMAN

A University of Idaho student has been charged with three counts of speeding, according to a press release from the Idaho State Police.

The student, who is a resident of Boise and a sophomore at the university, was arrested on Monday, March 6, following a traffic stop near the Idaho State Police headquarters in Boise.

The student, who was driving a 1995 Toyota Corolla, was stopped for speeding at 10 a.m. on Monday. The student was driving on the campus of the University of Idaho, near the corner of 18th and University Avenues.

The student was cited for driving over the speed limit and was released on the spot.

The University of Idaho has a policy that all student drivers must have a valid driver's license and registration, and that they must be enrolled in a course at the university. The university also requires that all student drivers must maintain a minimum GPA of 2.0.

The student was not eligible for a reduced rate on the fine, as he had been cited for driving under the influence in the past.

The student was scheduled to appear in court on March 13, where he will face the charges.

Tests prove sex drive is lowered by alcohol consumption

by CHRIS DOPPL

How does the drinking of alcohol affect behavior? From personal experience many people say they are confused by the less responsible behavior which can change in character which are often regarded as dangerous, as seen in the report.

But how does long term, or chronic, alcohol abuse affect behavior? This question is the basis of investigation by Dr. U. D. Johnson of the College of Medicine at the University of Idaho and the Biocological Sciences Department, and one of his graduate students, Eugene Fink, a graduate student of Dr. Johnson. Their research also includes studies on the physiology of sexual arousal, which was interpreted as the study of the sexes in research which has been so disturbing in the study of the sexes.

Drugs which vaporize at the sex drive are also called aggression that concerned the researcher.

Mice, a favorite research tool, usually have an estrus cycle that lasts about 4 days. The female mice would be in estrus and no interaction which is the usual source of sexual arousal. In this study, the male mice were studied in the sex drive.

“Who is Holly Near?”

David Bromberg walked into the Sloan Auditorium, and the somber-looking audience rose to give him a standing ovation. His performance was wonderful, and his success was beyond the audience’s expectations.

In the principal roles of Nora and John, Bromberg, as usual, sang and played the banjo. His deft use of the instrument was admired by the audience.

The performance ended with a song dedicated to the memory of Jack Bodey, who had passed away recently. The audience stood and gave a rousing ovation in his memory.

David Bromberg played the Sloan Auditorium audience eight times to a crowd of approximately 100 enthusiastic listeners. His performance and success were beyond even his own expectations.

Bromberg, the well-known singer/songwriter, and his band, which included a tenor sax, a pedal steel guitar, and a fiddle, performed a concert that was truly enjoyed by himself and other musicians. His deft use of the fiddle combined electric guitar and electric piano to create a unique sound that was truly enjoyed by the audience.

Bromberg’s combination of styles, influences, and talents, along with the popular “30 Days on the Road,” he could count the audience from 50,000 people in Nashville to 500 people in a London club.

The evening’s performance was highlighted by Bromberg’s renditions of “That’s Not What I Heard” and “My Own Baby,” which were both greeted with cheering and applause.

McDonald, a first-rate, Curt Cobain, and Dick Foley, asked Bromberg to perform with his band, which included a tenor sax, a pedal steel guitar, and a fiddle, for a special program that opened with the song “Bourbon Street.”

Brantly Keith, with his partner of 20 years and his band, will perform together in an evening of Armstrong and St. Louis.

Other members of the band, including Armstrong and St. Louis, will perform in their own capacity as well as in their own capacity as well.

Dome usage suggestions

Student experiencing problems in making arrangements for the Dome at this time are getting very little help. We were able to talk to Mr. Stamper, however, and were able to get some answers to our questions. When asked how he had been treating us students, we were told that he had been treating us unfairly. "What we've been seeing is that a lot of people are just not using the Dome, and the students are all going to continue to use the Dome," he said.

It seems that the main thrust of the issue is that the Dome is not being used in a way that is educational. He said that the use of the Dome would be increased if there were more educational programs and activities that would encourage the use of the Dome.

We were also told that the Dome is closed to non-athletic events, and that it is being closed for the season.

The president of the university, Mr. Bulger, was also interviewed. He said that the Dome is being closed due to a lack of use. "We have a lot of people who are interested in using the Dome, but we don't have enough people using it," he said.

The president also said that the Dome will be opened again in the future, depending on the amount of use. He said that the Dome is being used for a variety of purposes, and that it will be opened for a variety of events.

Idaho swim is over

Less of restrictions and more swimming and diving characterized the 1979 North Pacific Swimming and Diving Championships held at the U. of U. Swim Center last weekend.

Dickie would like to be in this in the overall swimming and diving meet shown below.

Among the highlights were the success of the 1979 North Pacific Swimming and Diving Championships, held Feb. 24-25 in Moscow, Idaho. The meet was sponsored by the Idaho Vandal Swim Club and the Idaho University Swimming and Diving Teams.

The meet was held at the University of Idaho's Pullman Pool. The meet was the last of the season's competitions for the Vandals. The meet was held at the University of Idaho's Pullman Pool. The meet was the last of the season's competitions for the Vandals.
