Social Services has grievances

By KELLY GOLD

A newly-created public assistance supervisor is being aided by a "bureaucratic approach" in their efforts to streamline the system,

"The new supervisor, Mr. Campbell, is an employee of the federal government, but he is responsible to the City of Boise for the operation of the public assistance program, which is run by the Boise Public Assistance Division," said Mr. Campbell. "We have been trying to streamline the system, and we have made some progress."

One of the main issues is the need for more staff to handle the increasing number of requests.

"We have had to hire more people to handle the requests," said Mr. Campbell. "We have had a number of requests in the past month, and we have had to hire more people to handle them."

Another issue is the need for more funds to operate the program.

"We need more funds to operate the program," said Mr. Campbell. "We are trying to get more funds from the federal government, but we have not been successful."

Dome uses covered in controversy

By MARK E. CAMERON

Spring football practice in the New Kibbie Stadium was the center of attention as the University of Idaho football team practiced on the field Tuesday.

The purpose of the practice was to give the athletes an opportunity to prepare for the upcoming season. The practice was attended by a large number of fans, who were excited to see the new team in action.

Academic calendar evaluated

By LARRY J. DAVIS

Student opinion of the academic calendar at UI is generally mixed. While some students feel that the calendar is too short, others believe that it is too long. The calendar is evaluated by the Academic Affairs Committee, which reviews it annually.

The committee looks at various factors, such as student workload and the availability of course offerings. The committee also considers feedback from students, faculty, and staff.

Correction

In an article titled "College for a Change" in the Idaho Statesman, the report stated that the college will use a "quarantine system," which would allow students to be isolated without leaving their rooms.

The information was gathered over the phone, and not at the site.

Guatemala feed

St. Augustines Catholic Center, the LDS Institute, and the Idaho Daily Press are working together to give feed to Guatemala. A group of people will be going to Guatemala to help with the feeding.

Alumni book available

By MARION HINE

The Alumni Association will be putting out a directory listing all alumni. The directory will be available for purchase at the University of Idaho campus.

Luckybach Texas on map?

By JAMES B. WATSON

The little town of Luckybach, Texas is a proving ground for the nation's current crop of state governors. The town is the site of a major natural resource, and the state government is trying to control the use of the resource.

The problems of professional collection of college athletes is pondered on page 8.

Head photograph, Chris Conklin, is captured in "The Bowl's" cover story. The story is about the excitement and anticipation of the upcoming season.

Jill Cole, News Editor, is a journalist who has written extensively on the topic of college sports. She is scheduled to attend the next week's game.

No, it's not here yet. It's a freshman who's not going to be able to attend the next game. Easy Ringer, his only book on the topic of college sports.

But no place to call home

by Glenn Cuckshank of the Argonaut staff

For a house without a house, Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity is doing remarkably well.

The fraternity has a temporary home, but has not devoted greatly in membership, a 15% drop in student population, and its reputation is not one of the top leaders in the school. A more permanent home for the group would be nice, but at this point, they are managing to make the best of the situation they have been given.

The current house is located on the corner of 24th and Odell, and it is a large, two-story house with plenty of room for the members to hold events and socialize. The house has two bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen, and a bathroom.

The Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity is a relatively new group on campus, having been founded just a few years ago. They are looking forward to finding a more permanent home where they can continue to grow and thrive.

PIONEER SX-1010
am/Fm Stereo Receiver!

Here's how it works:

The Pioneer SX-1010 regularly sells for $798 (and is worth it). Now you can own one for $498!! dependng on your choice of speakers!

a) Buy two speakers at their regular price of $100 to $150 each, and the SX-1010 is yours for just $398!

b) Buy two speakers at their regular price of $125 to $200 each, and the SX-1010 is yours for just $598!

c) With two speakers at their regular price of $200 to $300 each, you get the SX-1010 for only $498!

d) With speakers regularly priced at $300 or more each, the SX-1010 is yours for just $598!

Make your own deal on the SX-1010

This is the Pioneer SX-1010, one of the world's truly great audiophile receivers. It has more power, features and versatility than those ever before combined in one unit. With a full 100 watts RMS per channel into 4 ohms, the SX-1010 really handles the most insensitive speakers in the largest listening rooms. Total Harmonic Distortion is a phenomenally low 0.1% (20,000 Hz). With multichannel capabilities for two turntables, two tape decks plus deck-to-deck dubbing while listening to a third source, the SX-1010 has all the flexibility you've ever dreamed of. It also handles 3 sets of speakers, and has a truly state-of-the-art tuner section. With such features as a distant control for the panel lights, plus over 1000 variations of the same control settings, it is truly a receiver to do delight even the most demanding audiophiles.

VANDAL PLACE

by MIKE STEYER

Well, it essentially has been acknowledged that BSU should not benefit from the glutinous amoeba’s—otherwise known as the student—pocket book. And since we have up to an estimated ten hundred people in the student body, what with fraternities and sororities and the like, that’s a hundred people who might have been offered a hundred dollars. So considering the future of Vandal Place, I would like to suggest a few things that could be done in the future.

I think it’s a shame that the campus is being closed down, and I think it’s a shame that the student body is not being involved. I think it’s a shame that the faculty isn’t being involved. I think it’s a shame that the administration isn’t being involved. I think it’s a shame that the community isn’t being involved. I think it’s a shame that the citizens aren’t being involved.

I would like to suggest that BSU have a referendum on the future of Vandal Place, and I would like to suggest that the student body have a referendum on the future of Vandal Place.

I would like to suggest that the faculty have a referendum

A rationale for apathy

by DONNY HOAR

A garbage-gathering, burning human being. A hodgepodge of a world. The desire to create a new life, to transcend... This is apathy.

Apathy is the inability to care. It is the inability to feel. It is the inability to react. It is the inability to think. It is the inability to act. It is the inability to believe. It is the inability to love. It is the inability to exist.

Apathy is a disease of the soul. It is a disease of the mind. It is a disease of the heart. It is a disease of the body. It is a disease of the spirit. It is a disease of the world.

Apathy is the inability to care. It is the inability to feel. It is the inability to react. It is the inability to think. It is the inability to act. It is the inability to believe. It is the inability to love. It is the inability to exist.

The ASU Senate voted to adopt a resolution Tuesday while discussing the minutes of its meetings from the August, October, and November sessions.

The resolution, which Financial Manager Todd Hoy had introduced, consisted of the ASU Senate taking action to cover the remaining costs of the Aggie, and Campus Life board and to support their original estimates.

The majority, which Financial Manager Todd Hoy had initiated, consisted of the ASU Senate taking a position for the 1976 Fiscal Year, which would be carried forward to the 1977 Fiscal Year.

Some students who did not support the resolution took a position that they would not support the resolution until they were consulted.

In their statement, Mr. Hoy explained that the chairman would meet with the ISU Financial Manager to discuss the need for the resolution, and to be consulted.

I was not in a government area. Like the others we were asked to supply goods and gear and I was lucky and had a band that all agreed to sign with me. I had a confidence number on it and it was composed of nouns and research and one small prison daze. I was extremely happy because I was 16. There were thousands of people around me who had been collectively wipped and were cheating my name and I felt really good. I was a baby when I was in my home in Hawaii and then I was in the navy. When I reached the end of the world I was happy. I was happy.

I found myself in a gutter directed by a haze of someone among wood. I was walking towards the sun. I was a baby and the universe was an infinite prism. I was the love of an infinite prism, in which I only knew one, and the noise inaudible was not my nature. I was not a man among many many striving criterias, for mad and empty hurtles that my on the rush. As I took on a professor, the earth was a sponge. The beauty of the world was a sponge. The beauty of the world was a sponge. The beauty of the world was a sponge. The beauty of the world was a sponge.

Vandal cheerleader dies

The recent history of the University of Idaho community has been greatly saddened, said President Charles F. Rudder of the University of Idaho in Moscow, Idaho, Saturday.

"The university has lost a real and true friend, a person who often was a source of comfort to others and to whom others often turned to for comfort," Rudder said.

The University of Idaho community is greatly saddened by the death of Jessica Vandeberg, a junior at the university, who was a student athlete and an active member of the community.

Jessica Vandeberg, 20, a student at the university, was killed in a single-vehicle accident near Moscow Saturday evening. She was a member of the University of Idaho women's volleyball team.

Vandeberg was one of the school's most popular students, said university officials.

"She was a great student, a great athlete, and a great friend," said University President Charles F. Rudder.

Vandeberg had been a member of the University of Idaho women's volleyball team for four years.

The university community is mourning the loss of this young woman, said Rudder.

"We will miss her in so many ways," said Rudder.

Jessica Vandeberg is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Vandeberg, and her sister, Jennifer, a sophomore at the university.

The University of Idaho community is extending its condolences to the Vandeberg family and to the university community.

The university community will hold a service for Jessica Vandeberg on Sunday, April 22, at 2 p.m. in the University Center.

The family requests that donations be made to the University of Idaho Foundation, 801 University Dr., Moscow, Idaho 83843.

Basketball Blue

There is no bad weather in Idaho. Two men's teams to be decided on the mad hatterism problem which has persisted throughout the season. More problems have arisen in the last few games than any other time during this season.

We are in the middle of the season and this is the last home game of the season. Our team has been very impressive in our recent games and we expect them to continue their winning streak.

Raping off at the mouth

There may be no better time to put in the mouth of a political campaign than the moment when the balance of power is shifted by a decision of the court system. The courts have the power to change the political landscape and the voters have the power to change the court system. The two systems are interdependent and must be considered when deciding whether to support or oppose candidates for office.

Basketball Blue

There is not a single team in the state of Idaho that can be said to be morally, spiritually, or intellectually superior to the other teams in the state. Each team has its own strengths and weaknesses and the outcome of the game is determined by the performance of the players on the day of the game.

Shades of Sheldon

Shelton, Montana is a small town and it's people are very close-knit. The town is located in the heart of the state and is known for its beautiful scenery and friendly people.

It's deeper in the end zone

by MIKE MOYNIHAN

I strongly suggest that the NCAA add the term "NCAA" to any and all recruiting by pro football clubs. The athletes must approach the NCAA and the NCAA or its officials should then be responsible to prevent them and then make the decision for him. I also felt that the Letter Spinner must be able to continue recruiting. Why should he be forced to lose his chance when he has the potential to win with only one chance? The goal of the Letter Spinner belongs to the NCAA, the federal court and to the pro team that gives him the chance to make a college decision.

King of the Dome

My final comment is about the upcoming decision to be made by the Activations Board about saga of the Boise-ANF-Couples. The activation of the Idaho clubs should be made by the facilities of the club and the members should have the opportunity to vote on the decision.
Snowwhite Moscow out

Through a sizable crowd of spectators and fans, and a place where the base was supposed to watch the Idaho Mustangs take on the University of Idaho, the base was crowded, and the fans were cheering. The game was being played in the Snowmobile Arena, with a packed house.

Timmy Davidson, the assistant coach of the Mustangs, said, "We're excited to be here. We've been preparing for this game for a long time."

The Mustangs were led by a strong performance from forward Timmy Davidson, who scored 20 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. The mustangs are currently in the thick of the race for the conference championship.

After parking, we wandered through the snowy landscape, looking for a place to sit down and warm up. We finally found a spot by the fence, where we sat on the snow and watched the game. The atmosphere was electric, with fans cheering and singing along to the music.

Women's team is bright spot in Idaho's gloom

There is a bright spot in the Idaho basketball season with a strong performance by the women's team. The women's team is currently ranked 7th in the division and is making a strong push for a conference championship.

Another player problem, however, turned up for the ladies side. "Darcy" Adler, the leading scorer for the Idaho women's team, suffered an injury during the game and is out for the remainder of the season.

Falling back well played win over Northwestern Nazarene College host, coach Hubertson's team for the conference. "We had a great game against the University of Idaho, who we beat last season," said Hubertson.

"Darcy will remain in the starting lineup," Hubertson said. "We have to find a way to replace her, and we will."

A nagging ankle injury continues to dog Idaho's starting lineup. "I'm sorry to see Darcy go down," Hubertson said. "But we will find a way to move forward."

Falling back to the season, Hubertson said, "We have a difficult road ahead of us, but we will find a way to win."

Henderson said that Idaho will be one of the teams selected for the Regional tournament.

Some right teams playing the Northwest Eastern A.A.U. Tournament, the four-game series will go regional. "We will be there," Henderson said.

Big Sky race is hot and tight

If you thought last week's Big Sky basketball tournament was hot, this week's games in Coeur d'Alene will be even hotter. The Coeur d'Alene tournament is a four-game series, and the winner will be crowned the Big Sky champion.

Both Idaho and Montana State are seeded in the top four, and the winner will be determined by the outcome of the games.

"It's going to be a tight race," said Coach Hubertson. "We have a lot of talented players on our team, and we will be ready to go."

"We're excited to be here," said Coach Hubertson. "We've been preparing for this game for a long time."

The Mustangs are currently in the thick of the race for the conference championship, and a win in this weekend's tournament would put them in the driver's seat.

"We have a tough road ahead of us," said Coach Hubertson. "But we will find a way to win."
