Purdue Uncovers Gridiron Flash in Young Texas-Wins From Harvard College Game

Cricket, Running and Passing - Football Followers

On Your Feet

The story of this year's game between the two schools on the gridiron is one of the most exciting in recent years. The game was played in perfect weather conditions, with the sun shining brightly over the field.

The game was a close one, with Harvard leading early on. However, Purdue came back strong in the second half and eventually won the game with a score of 10-7.

The game was attended by thousands of fans, who were enthusiastic and supportive throughout.

The Purdue band performed well, and the crowd was in high spirits.

The game was a great success, and the fans of both schools look forward to future games.

VANDAL VIMS

Vandal football took a leak last week when it was discovered that the team was not as strong as expected.

The team was expected to perform well, but a lack of coordination and teamwork during the game resulted in a loss.

The team's coach is currently evaluating the situation and looking for ways to improve the team's performance.

The game was attended by a small crowd, with most fans staying away due to the cold weather conditions.

The team's next game is scheduled for next week, and the fans are hopeful for a better performance.

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1927

An Idahoatoral

"Sophys"

HE enthusiasm of a sophomore is proverbial and the story of every "good" and "poor". The first plume of the freshman year over, the serious problems of the next three years must be confronted.

Social contacts are not the least of these. Life on the campus and environs is not necessarily "Carol". All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, and the same rule applies to Jills.

David's clothes for both Idaho men and women, are the pinpoints in the gay, changing Picture from Classroom, Security house, Frat House, Halls and Athletic field.
