1931 YEARBOOK COVER AWARDED NATIONAL HONOR

Wins First Place in Molloy Competition; Prize $200

Word has just been received by B. J. Molloy, publisher of the university's yearbook, The Bovine, that the yearbook cover design by freshman Ernest A. Collins of Twin Falls won first place in this year's national competition. This contest is one in which the covers of all yearbooks from colleges across the nation are evaluated. The covers are judged on the basis of design, execution, and overall quality. The competition is sponsored by the Association of Universities Yearbook Publishers (AUP).

In addition to the first place award, Collins is also being presented a prize of $200. Congratulations to him and the entire yearbook staff for this achievement.

to Sell More Rapidly

Whereas the traditional lesson book covers are used only for one year, the problem of selling and returning these items has long been a concern for both educators and students. Now, however, with the advent of electronic resources, the demand for physical copies has significantly decreased.
