ART ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN STUDENTS

Beginning today, the Department of Art and Architecture of the University of Idaho will be organizing an exhibition of student work. A new feature of this exhibition is that it will be held at the Idaho State Museum. The show will feature the work of students from all levels of the university's art program. The exhibition will be open for viewing from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursday through Sunday. The exhibition continues through the end of the month.

Cross-Towne Readers

A group of students in the University of Washington's College of Architecture and Planning have formed a study group to explore the role of public art in urban design. The group, known as Cross-Towne Readers, meets weekly to discuss recent publications and to share ideas about how public art can be integrated into urban planning.

The Pop Band to Seattle

The University of Idaho Pop Band will be represented at Seattle this week when the Huskies and the Wolverine meet there in our football opener. Undoubtedly there is a question as to whether or not the band is to go, but we believe that it is advisable to send the band because it will be of great benefit to the school and, also, an opportunity will be given the students to see whether or not they have the talent to make the boys into a fine music and appearance will benefit the school, the team, and the students and will have a proportionate effect on the student expenditure. The Pop Band will leave here Tuesday and arrives in Seattle Thursday. Ever since its organization the campus back in the early '78's a large number of students and faculty has made a habit of giving the school good encouragement for the band. The works hand in the best way of the school, and the band performs as a result. It is one of the most popular bands in the Northwest, and the students will enjoy it much more than if it were in the small city of the state.

Able Speaker Brought to Students

Students of the University of Idaho were given the opportunity last week to hear one of the oldest speakers of today, Dr. C. S. Thomas, Dean of the College of Arts, Literature, and Science at the University of Chicago, who delivered the annual address at the University of Idaho, is without doubt one of the most able lecturers and deepest thinkers of the day. Dr. Bochner, who is also a fine historian, has devoted himself to the study of college teaching practices. For five years he has been on the committee which studies and follows the trends of teaching in outstanding universities of the United States. Dr. Bochner, who speaks the language of the common man is able, through a well-told humorous story of incident, to reach the man on the street without falling down to his level. The speeches will be well written on this outstanding, prominent, and significant subject and, as always, when your next income is your final income refers to one passage in Dr. Bochner's address you may be surprised that the one who made the references is a person who really appreciates the efforts of a deep and intelligent speaker.

R. F. C. Aid for Students

President Robert H. Mitchells, of the University of Chicago, is the leader in that group of energetic alumni for loans from Reconstruction Finance Corporation to help students. Fully the idea seems to be gaining ground and being effective.

The proposal has its sound points. Students in its educational value are among a country's best investments. For many of the nation's energetic and ambitious young people it is essential to have specialized work. For the wealthy to pay for the work and few are the cases in which this has not been found. The students are encouraged by better work, they find it rewarding to the forward to the time when they can pay back their benefactors, and their training usually makes them such that they receive aid soon after their graduation. The R. F. C. will be of benefit to the students themselves before establishing such a program.

Tobacco grown in this country are "seasoned" with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece

The answer is very simple: TOBACCOs to taste right in a cigarette need to be flavored or seasoned just as you might season a snack or a pudding. A number of tobacco companies have found that equal the spicy aromatic tobaccos of Turkey and Greece for this purpose. That's why we send 5000 miles for aromatic tobaccos from Smyrna and Smyrna, Xanthi and Cavalli. When blended and cross-blended in just the right amounts with Chesterfield's mild ripe Domestics tobaccos, the result is a rich flavor and a fine fragrance.

Have you tried Chesterfield's seasoned right—taste right? May we suggest you try it.
Sororities Pledged 105 New Women Last Sunday Morning

After a week's entertainment among new friends, 105 new women from across the country have pledged to 11 sororities on the campus. The pledges were members of the following sororities: Delta Delta Delta, alpha chapter, and the new chapter of Alpha Phi at Idaho State College.

Betty Reichling of Phoenix, Arizona, has been made a pledge for Delta Delta Delta. The new chapter of Alpha Phi has its first pledge in Nancy Mann of Seattle, Washington.

A small group of pledges and students were in attendance at the big pledge dinner held in the Liberty Inn.

The evening was filled with music and dancing, and a variety of refreshments were served.

One bright spot on any dark clouded day in professional football is the Oakland Raiders. These boys have been consistent for the past two years.

The first mention to strike Oaklanders was in the 1930s, 1930-31 season, when the Raiders took the field for the first time. The team was established and the first practice was held.

Today, the Raiders are one of the most successful franchises in NFL history. Over the years, the team has won numerous Super Bowls and playoffs.

If you are passionate about football, then the Raiders are your team.

Vandals Preparing For Hard Fight In Seattle Saturday

Breaking up Washington plays Saturday night will be a mam- mmoth defense that is being built by Tom (Babe) Voight, who has been in charge of the line for the past two years. The line is well above average and will make a strong showing against the Vandals.

Coach Coe's defense will be a formidable one, with the line led by tackle John (Doc) Miller and guard George (Chet) Wiberg. The defense will be bolstered by the return of tackle George (Shorty) Johnson, who missed last year's game due to injury.

The Vandals will be looking to disrupt the Raiders' offensive play, and they will have a tough task. The Vandals have a strong defense of their own, with tackle Bob (Buck) Fox and end Willard (Red) Case leading the way.

The game will be a test of both teams' offensive and defensive skills. The Raiders have a potent offense, while the Vandals have a solid defense.
