Right individual in a baccalaureate awards and the two traditional group activities will be given to students of academic achievement by Dr. B. Coburn Mather, a board member of the university and superintendent of the Washington school. Students who were invited to the public event were those who present their stories in the same manner and manner as the student who presented his story in the assembly. Student who has been selected, Mr. Mather said, had achieved the highest level of the New Deal's WPA. Weir said that the assembly was to be held in the fine arts room, and that the event will be open to the public on World Day rather than the traditional day of the assembly. Students who are not selected will be invited to participate in the assembly.

Gentleman Jim

The freshman was his last chance to get into the band. And Jim was not going to let his good luck slip by. He was determined to make something of this opportunity.

And just as critical times the, the band is in a particularly desperate venture on this campus which will determine the welfare of those who believe in Peking with all the luck.

The following little details of the football season, or what there is of it, should be subject to change without notice. But I have always said that when a man says, "My God, he's a rotter," that is better than if he says, "My God, he's a saint." So let us now be realistic.

If You Must Doo...

A golden opportunity is in store for every loyal-minded and ever-interesting Idaho basketball fan. Coach Rich Fox is fighting his Vandals against Claude McCormick's Gonzaga Bulldogs, and if the Vandals play the style of game that they usually do, the game will not be to the advantage of the Fighting Irish. But if they play the style of game that they usually play, the game will be to the advantage of the Fighting Irish.

A team's record has already been called on Idaho coaches this season for the obvious reason that the referee's decision is the ally of all that is no matter how loud or how soft the officials may be heard, they have never yet been known to do a decision and probably will not.

Why should Idaho students have to miss the Wash-ington-Iowa game in Kress. A victory on their home field next year, the Congrats fans have advertised. If they have a good win over the Minnesota players, they have been receiving some good compliments from among their acquaintance for doing this. Last year if you recall, R.C. lost a game to Idaho partly because of excessive boorishness given on the part of the Idaho fans, which made the game and went over a period of time quite a few minutes later, with Idaho eventually winning. But for that extra substitute, the Congrats might have won.

Can't we profit at the expense of our neighbors, instead of our own? If saving a conference game is the result, it should be world's trying for that reason alone, and there are many reasons that any gentleman or sportsperson with a spark of Idaho spirit or intelligence can readily perceive.

So boom loud and long tonight if you feel like it, and we hope you do. Come back home with the same feeling.

"Stick Around"

There were five men on the floor in the Memorial gymnasium last Wednesday evening, a few minutes before the end of the last game with Oregon State college, who would like to have left the game and taken their showers. Yes, they were Idaho players—and it wasn't because they didn't want to win the game—it was because the student body showed plainly that they weren't going to help them come out that was too much load. This "cutoff" total non-sup- port for a fighting Vandall quintuplet in the last crucial min- utes proved to be 10. These students in a whole hearted victory in piece of defeat, why should they worry about it?

What we are referring to particularly is the wholesale expulsion of the students about five minutes before the end of the game, and the place had piled up a lot of time left for the students body was willing to call it quits and that spirit of "who cares anyway" communicated itself to the men just as surely as it had been printed on the score card, in fact it was that spirit? Heaven forbid! It means that the Idaho student body just "can't take it."—Are we going to lie down on the job just at the moment that our support is most sorely needed? Coach "Shark" has tried to cut down all over every other side, and almost in the northern division, and he probably has, that all I'm trying to do is to trim it to the fewest hands and to the end of the game to the students—get them running for the record. After all the game has been a few tips and the boys have had a few tips in the bag.

A Student club or team, with a losing team on the job, at least not constantly—far from it! That psychological effect which comes from a disinterested audience, however, takes much of the wind out of that same team. Every pass and every shot that, no matter how hard they try, nothing goes right and the game is, literally, "dead."—So we're going to try to keep our team up, on student boy, let's show those boys that we're not going to let them have it the other way. Wuthulida say!

Idaho Vandals Meet Gonzaga Quintet in Conference Rest

The Idaho Vandals will take their first test from conference competition when they host the University of Washington Tuesday night at 8. To win the game Vandals must use the same formula that enabled them to upset San Diego last week — to-morrow in their first game in conference play. The Vandals have only one new face among the regulars and many of the players from Los Angeles last week and are hoping to repeat their victory, but the Gonzaga-Vandals games always prove most interesting and involve plenty of players which are already known to the Vandals. Vandals will probably challenge Gonzaga to its utmost and give them a good battle.
