TClassic Old Idaho Buildings

MENNIE J. WELLS, Correspondent

In the past, Idaho buildings have been used for a variety of purposes, including as homes, schools, and schools of agriculture. A survey of the history of these buildings has been conducted, and the results are presented in this article. The buildings have been classified into three categories: residential, educational, and industrial.

Hickory, the oldest of the buildings, was built in 1840 as a residence for the president of the university. It has been used as a school building, a hospital, and a work shop. The building is now used as a museum.

The university's oldest educational building, the Main Building, was completed in 1860. It has been used as a school building, a hospital, and a work shop. The building is now used as a museum.

The university's oldest industrial building, the Engineering Building, was completed in 1870. It has been used as a school building, a hospital, and a work shop. The building is now used as a museum.

The initial plans for the telescope are based on the new instrument of the University of Idaho. This is a 15-inch reflector, which is already in operation. The second plan for the instrument is to be a 30-inch reflector, which will be completed within the next five years.
Old Steps Re-live as Memorial To the Pioneer Spirit of Idaho

With these words, Byron, President of the University of Idaho, dedicated the Old Steps to the memory of the pioneers. The old Steps were dedicated in 1880, the year the University was founded. The dedication of the Old Steps was held to commemorate the centennial of the University. The old Steps are a symbol of the pioneers and their spirit of adventure and exploration. The dedication ceremony included speeches by President Byron, the mayor of Moscow, and members of the Student Association. The Old Steps were illuminated by the sun and the stars, creating a beautiful and memorable event.

Hello! Says the Alumni Proxy

Y ou old alumni are aware that as a graduate or former student of the University of Idaho, you have been selected as a member of the most recent Alumni Association. This is the first time this organization has been created on the Island, and the number of members is limited to 500. The Alumni Association is the voice of the University of Idaho, and its purpose is to represent the interests of the alumni and students. Its members are elected by the Board of Regents, and its activities are directed by the Alumni Association Committee.

Scholastic Group Chooses Alumni

The scholastic group chose the Alumni Association as its representative. The Alumni Association is responsible for the maintenance of the University of Idaho, and its members are elected by the Board of Regents. The Alumni Association is an organization that represents the interests of the alumni and students, and its activities are directed by the Alumni Association Committee.

Two Gridiron Games Announced For Homecoming Game and Journey To California University

The Idaho Vandals will again please before middle-weight football fans of the state again this season, and all three will be played during the month of September. Spring practice will begin in Idaho Falls September 15th, and the regular schedule of games will begin September 29th. Spring practice will end October 27th.

At Idaho Falls.

Wednesday, October 27th, 1934, will see the Vandals play against Eastern Washington at the Idaho Union Grounds. Eastern Washington is the home of one of the finest football teams in the Northwest, with a record of 9-1-3 during the past five years. The Vandals will be seeking revenge for their 22-0 loss to Eastern Washington last year.

In Moscow.

Thursday, September 28th, 1934, the Vandals will face the Idaho Polytechnic Institute at the Moscow Grounds. This game is expected to be a close contest, as both teams have strong offenses and solid defenses.

In Lewiston.

Saturday, September 30th, 1934, the Vandals will play against the Whitworth College Blues at the Lewiston City Grounds. Whitworth College is a small college with a strong football program, and this game is expected to be a tough test for the Vandals.

In Boise.

Sunday, October 1st, 1934, the Vandals will face the University of Idaho at the Boise State Grounds. This game is expected to be a close contest, as both teams have strong offenses and solid defenses.

University Cadet Officers Carry All Honors at Opening Summer Camp

A step-up in the 31st annual report of the University of Idaho Cadet Officers reveals that the cadets are showing a steady improvement in their leadership abilities. The report, which was released last week, shows that the cadets are becoming more skilled in their duties and are better able to handle the responsibilities of their positions.

The report also notes that the cadets are working hard to improve their academic performance, and that they are making progress in their studies. The report states that the cadets are also working hard to improve their physical fitness, and that they are making progress in their exercises.
