Campus Party

Elevator Permitted To Campuses 1
After Passing Test

Eleven residence halls of the Idaho College of Education, main campus building, are now open to the public, according to F. W. Clark, assistant director of housing and residence life.

Clark announced that all 11 residence halls are now open for the first time since the beginning of the academic year.

Clark said that the decision to open the halls was made after a thorough inspection of the buildings by the university administration.

The halls are opened from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily, and visitors must sign in at the front desk.

Clark added that the opening of the halls will allow students to visit with each other and engage in social activities.

Students were also encouraged to be respectful of the hall residents and adhere to the university's policies and conduct.

This marks a significant milestone in the university's efforts to create a welcoming and inclusive environment for all students.

President's Letter

Dear Fellow Alumni:

The annual Homecoming for the University of Idaho is Saturday, Oct. 27, just one week away. On that day, we will gather on the oval for the annual Homecoming game, followed by the Homecoming dance."Art and Science" will be the theme of this year's Homecoming festivities.

As the last day of the Fall semester approaches, we are looking forward to the spirit and excitement that accompanies Homecoming. This year, we have planned a variety of events to celebrate the achievements and traditions of our university.

One of the highlights of Homecoming is the Homecoming dance, which is held in the evening on the oval. The dance is open to all students, faculty, and staff, and is a great opportunity to socialize and have fun.

In addition to the dance, we have prepared a schedule of activities and events that will take place throughout the day, including a parade, a pep rally, and a football game.

We hope you will be able to attend and enjoy the festivities, and we look forward to seeing you at the Homecoming dance on Saturday, Oct. 27.

Sincerely yours,

President, University of Idaho

This n That

After having been away on political business for the past week, the Idaho Spirit is coming round. Fortunately, we were able to get a first-hand report of the happenings, which we are now able to bring to the attention of our readers.

Homecoming

Plans for Homecoming and the annual gathering of alumni at the Idaho campus are rapidly taking shape. With committees hard at work on the details of this 1934 celebration, indications point definitely, we believe, to one of the best Homecomings yet.

The Argonaut wishes to supplement the remarks addressed to Idaho alumni by Ralph W. York, alumni association president, by extending an "Idaho Spirit" invitation to every alumnus of the university to attend the 1934 Homecoming, to help us beat the Oregon Webfoots, aid in meeting reunion members of their respective classes and old friends.

Over 2,000 Idaho students, the largest student body in the history of the institution, are looking forward expectantly to the exciting events of Homecoming weekend. That event, always the highpoint of the school year, has every indication of being the peepiest, most spirited yet we have seen.

"End Oregon's Trail," the slogan adopted for the 1934 Homecoming, means just what it says and typifies the spirit with which Idaho is going into the football game with Oregon on October 20. It's the "Idaho Spirit" in another setting. Every Idaho alumnus and every Idaho undergrad in the MacLeay Field when the whistle blows to open the feature event of our Homecoming, and not a seat will be vacant until the final gun is sounded.

We know we can beat Oregon and end that trail of victories alluded to as the "Oregon axe.

Although the game is the highlight of the Homecoming parade of events for visiting alumni there will be other activities of interest to graduates of Idaho. SUPPERS, dances, meetings, and class reunions will fill their time to overflowing. And don't forget the bonfire rally before the game. There is not one Idaho alum who does not vividly remember his first, his second, or even his fifteenth rally bonfire. We urge you to be here Friday to see that Homecoming spirit.

And in parting, alumni, here is something to think of. If you haven't been back on the campus for the last 10 years, or even just the last three or four years, you are due for a surprise. Campus improvements during that time have changed the "hill" until you will hardly recognize it. New concrete roads, acres of green grass, and plots of attractive shrubbery make it a beauty spot of which we are all proud. Try to plan to come back for a visit next weekend. We'd be glad to see you, no fooling.

Even the greatest writers are supposed to feel writing a good deal, and if you ever have to do any writing you know just how bad a time the one of us, who don't aspire to genius, how it suppresses everything," says Douglas S. Jones, 76.

"Improving in English, first or even any energy into writing and a man would make up to heavy physical labor. When I feel played out I smoke a Camel. Camels give me a real snaphook in energy. They are so mild that I can smoke all I want without giving away my nerves."

Youth, too, will like Camel's notchless band of tobacco shoots. Mild — not over the "sweet" — never sour or "sneak," you'll like the smoking note, and you need not bother about it. For with Camel, you will find that steady attention does just joggle the flaps.

HURSE, including the Sigma Chi annual bowl dance at Rook's park and the huge formal dinner, will be held this weekend. Preparations for the dances, however, were probably the reason for the week being so past in a social way. Beta Theta Pi celebrated their senior and sophomores at a dinner, and there was the usual social gathering and dinner party. Sunday the Alpha Chi's were having an informal dinner and party at a private home. Alpha Phi held their Founders' day supper Wednesday.

CREIGHTON

In the manufacture of Granger Rough Cut Pipe Tobacco the Wellman Process is used.

The Wellman Process is different from any other process or method and we believe it gives more enjoyment to pipe smokers.

It gives the tobacco an extra flavor and aroma

It makes the tobacco act right in a pipe—burn slower and smoke cooler.

By steaming and then thoroughly toasting the tobaccos, the moisture is eliminated, the flavors are mellowed and the smoke, with plenty of body, is so satisfying.

By employing a system whereby no tobacco is broken in the process and the smoke is retained the industry and in a way that is entirely unique.

It is a thoroughly genuine, American way of handling tobacco.

We wish in some way we could get every man who smokes a pipe to just try Granger.
