Ombudsman committee not attempting to mollify

In Mike Small

The creation of the Ombudsman Committee by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce was announced last week, following the receipt of numerous complaints, according to Chad Coombe, a member of the Chamber.

Mr. Coombe said the committee was formed as a result of the many concerns expressed by the public over the past several months. The committee is made up of representatives from various organizations and is charged with investigating complaints and proposing solutions.

This committee will have the authority to investigate complaints and issue recommendations to the Chamber, as well as the public. We are committed to ensuring that the public is heard and that their concerns are addressed, Coombe said. We believe that this committee will be an important step in addressing the concerns of the community.

Any complaints or suggestions can be submitted to the committee through the Chamber's website, which is currently under development. We encourage the public to submit their concerns and help us create a more effective system for addressing complaints.

If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact us at 555-1234.
NASA offers internships for graduates of students

For the benefit of our students, the University will offer a number of on-campus internships with NASA. The internships will be available in various fields, including aerospace, engineering, and technology. They provide a unique opportunity for students to gain valuable work experience and gain insights into the world of space exploration. The internships are open to students majoring in engineering, physics, mathematics, computer science, and related fields. The duration of the internships will vary depending on the specific requirements of the project. The internships will be paid, and students will work under the guidance of experienced professionals. The deadline for applications is January 15, and the internship program will run from March 1 to June 30. The applications must be submitted online through the NASA website. More information about the internships can be found on the NASA website.
Editor: The Argonaut—In this series, we consider that the staff of the Argonaut under the editorship of Mike Dobey has been consistent with the criticisms we hold of society and life in America in general; under the consideration that we hold our mission to be of an interest to the ASUI senators who have attempted to build an exhibition of view through their own press.

We understand the support Mr. Kirk and defend his right to present the Argonaut as he can best see fit.

John Orwick

YAF nonsense

There are a few people who, Dr. Kirk and Mr. Dobey, could be considered to be of persuasion. The majority of the people... can be classified as liberal, following or not, not to include Jackson of Liberal, whose views are unappealing of socialism.

Perhaps Dr. Kirk and Mr. Dobey are being aggressive and can be supplied by the YAFSpeakers Bureau. The advice given to the students is to be assessed because their positions are not debased because they are from a higher position. Jackson, whose views characterize as "unodox" or "deviationists," is well-known to him. He is currently known to the University of Southern California as a non-integrated, non-licensed, non-academic person, is interested in the F.I.L.A. program, which specializes in the present of an irregular research group. In the past, Jackson has been observed to be a non-university person, as well as a non-pattern person. The Birnbaum Committee has continued to present the program, despite research conducted on the YAF and its apologists should be subjected to the adequate judges of the liberal community.

It has been here in our society, the young people who are looking for some kind of organized leadership. The two of the Birnbaum Committee presented, referred to as the YAF which demands that many radical students who goes who is being made to the subjective judges of the liberal community.

Dr. Dobey does not declare this, but he would like to be known as a critic of the liberal, left-wing media because it is not known as the meeting of the Birnbaum Committee presented. So he should be subjected to the adequate judges of the liberal community.

Some radical media that exist in our society, the young people who are looking for some kind of organized leadership. The two of the Birnbaum Committee presented, referred to as the YAF which demands that many radical students who goes who is being made to the subjective judges of the liberal community. It is thought here in our society, the young people who are looking for some kind of organized leadership. The two of the Birnbaum Committee presented, referred to as the YAF which demands that many radical students who goes who is being made to the subjective judges of the liberal community. It is thought here in our society, the young people who are looking for some kind of organized leadership.
Environmental understanding

Editor, the Argonaut:

I am deeply impressed by your Editor, Jack Conner, Guest Column, "Environmental understanding." I urge everyone to read it and see how the people of our community feel about the environment. We are the only generation who can save the world, and it must be done in our lifetime.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Gomer apologizes

Editor, the Argonaut:

I have read in both the February 11th and 17th issues of the Argonaut that my name was mentioned in an article, "Gomer," by Dr. Maddox, which I thought was quite good. I am very sorry if I offended anyone, and I appreciate the opportunity to explain.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Facts on the water alarm

Editor, the Argonaut:

I have been informed that someone is creating a "water alarm" in the city. I would like to set the record straight by saying that the water alarm is a false alarm. It was caused by a broken pipe, not by a real emergency. I hope that this information will help to assure the public that there is nothing to worry about.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Religion and the environment

Editor, the Argonaut:

I was very interested in the article "Religion and the environment" by Dr. Leary, and I would like to add that many religious denominations are actively working to protect the environment. We must all work together to protect our planet.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Environmental understanding

Editor, the Argonaut:

I would like to thank the people who have been working to protect the environment. I think that it is important that we all work together to make a difference.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Religion and the environment

Editor, the Argonaut:

I would like to add that the religious community is very involved in environmental issues. We must all work together to make a difference.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

YAF cartoon

Editor, the Argonaut:

I would like to apologize for the YAF cartoon that was published in the February 11th issue. I did not mean to offend anyone with it. I will be more careful in the future.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Students shifted

Editor, the Argonaut:

I was shocked to see the changes in the student body. I hope that the new students will be able to adapt to the new environment and that the community will welcome them.

Sincerely,
[Signature]
Sports

Diseased fans plague Idaho

By Frank Golding

Some of the basketball fans at the University of Idaho have a disease that they seem to be unable to cure. They have been stricken with a disease that has been growing worse as the season has progressed. The disease is called "Idaho Fever," and it is not limited to just Idaho fans. It is also affecting fans of other teams, particularly those of the University of Idaho's basketball opponents.

Intromuls

Phi Delta Theta defeated the Kansas State Wildcats Saturday night by a score of 72-68, in the semi-final game of the annual Phi Delta Theta International Basketball Tournament. The victory advanced Phi Delta Theta to the championship game of the tournament, where they will face the University of Idaho in the final game.

Vandals ready for Bengals

The Oregon University University Tigers will face the Idaho State University team in the semi-final game of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship. The Oregon team is currently ranked 2nd in the nation, while the Idaho State team is ranked 5th. The game is scheduled for tomorrow night at 8:00 PM at the University of Oregon's Matthew Knight Arena.

Vandals State takes Sky championship

Weber State takes the Sky championship by defeating the Idaho State University team in the semi-final game of the tournament. The Weber State team is currently ranked 3rd in the nation, and they are expected to make a strong showing in the championship game.

PEMs help Vandals

The Basketball Association of Professional Men's basketball league announced today that it has awarded a contract to the Vandals for the upcoming season. The contract will provide the Vandals with financial assistance and coaching support to help them compete at the highest level of the sport.

New shipment of velcro-cords and corduroy bell bottoms by CACTUS CASUAL Ribbed and knit shirts, scoop necks, Mickey Mouse print shirts.

Mykleman's

Mykleman's has everything you need for the well-dressed man.

UP GOES GORDON as he takes the bell away from Ohio's Eddie Woods, Alaska's only 15 to turn the trick trying to keep a steady game. Next home game for the Vandals is tomorrow against UCLA.

FOR SALE

1982 MGB with Lucida, white top, automatic top, many other extras. Call 543-9025 or 543-5427.

FOR RENT

Apartment for rent—very nice, many extras, call 543-9025 immediately. Call 543-6277.

FOR RENT

710 W. Pembroke Ave., $450. Owner will furnish all utilities. Most specific Cat or 543-5427.
McFarland recalls Skrbek-Regents battle

ARGONAUT: What is the University's responsibility to students?

McFarland: The University's responsibility should only be to the classroom. You should not feel that it is their responsibility to be taking care of the things that you need to do. If you are doing it yourself, you should be working on your own.

ARGONAUT: Are there any students who are taking advantage of the situation?

McFarland: Yes, there are some students who are taking advantage of the situation. I think it's pretty obvious that there are some students who are simply less interested in the whole concept of a university.

ARGONAUT: Does the Regents (The University of Idaho Board of Regents) treat you as a student?

McFarland: I think they do. I think I'm the only one who they treat as a student. They have this whole thing about the Regents being spokesmen for the students, but I think that's just a lot of hot air. I think the Regents are just trying to make money. Look at the museums that are run by the university. They're not run by the students. They're run by people who need to make money.

McFarland: No, I don't think we are something new. I think we are something that is already here. I think we are just trying to make money. We are just trying to make money. We are just trying to make money. We are just trying to make money.

ARGONAUT: What is your position on this issue?

McFarland: I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure.

ARGONAUT: What about the current situation?

McFarland: I don't think there's anything new about the situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation.

ARGONAUT: Are there any students who are taking advantage of the situation?

McFarland: Yes, there are some students who are taking advantage of the situation. I think it's pretty obvious that there are some students who are simply less interested in the whole concept of a university.

ARGONAUT: Does the Regents (The University of Idaho Board of Regents) treat you as a student?

McFarland: I think they do. I think I'm the only one who they treat as a student. They have this whole thing about the Regents being spokesmen for the students, but I think that's just a lot of hot air. I think the Regents are just trying to make money. Look at the museums that are run by the university. They're not run by the students. They're run by people who need to make money.

ARGONAUT: What is your position on this issue?

McFarland: I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure.

ARGONAUT: What about the current situation?

McFarland: I don't think there's anything new about the situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation.

ARGONAUT: Are there any students who are taking advantage of the situation?

McFarland: Yes, there are some students who are taking advantage of the situation. I think it's pretty obvious that there are some students who are simply less interested in the whole concept of a university.

ARGONAUT: Does the Regents (The University of Idaho Board of Regents) treat you as a student?

McFarland: I think they do. I think I'm the only one who they treat as a student. They have this whole thing about the Regents being spokesmen for the students, but I think that's just a lot of hot air. I think the Regents are just trying to make money. Look at the museums that are run by the university. They're not run by the students. They're run by people who need to make money.

ARGONAUT: What is your position on this issue?

McFarland: I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure.

ARGONAUT: What about the current situation?

McFarland: I don't think there's anything new about the situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation.

ARGONAUT: Are there any students who are taking advantage of the situation?

McFarland: Yes, there are some students who are taking advantage of the situation. I think it's pretty obvious that there are some students who are simply less interested in the whole concept of a university.

ARGONAUT: Does the Regents (The University of Idaho Board of Regents) treat you as a student?

McFarland: I think they do. I think I'm the only one who they treat as a student. They have this whole thing about the Regents being spokesmen for the students, but I think that's just a lot of hot air. I think the Regents are just trying to make money. Look at the museums that are run by the university. They're not run by the students. They're run by people who need to make money.

ARGONAUT: What is your position on this issue?

McFarland: I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure.

ARGONAUT: What about the current situation?

McFarland: I don't think there's anything new about the situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation.

ARGONAUT: Are there any students who are taking advantage of the situation?

McFarland: Yes, there are some students who are taking advantage of the situation. I think it's pretty obvious that there are some students who are simply less interested in the whole concept of a university.

ARGONAUT: Does the Regents (The University of Idaho Board of Regents) treat you as a student?

McFarland: I think they do. I think I'm the only one who they treat as a student. They have this whole thing about the Regents being spokesmen for the students, but I think that's just a lot of hot air. I think the Regents are just trying to make money. Look at the museums that are run by the university. They're not run by the students. They're run by people who need to make money.

ARGONAUT: What is your position on this issue?

McFarland: I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure.

ARGONAUT: What about the current situation?

McFarland: I don't think there's anything new about the situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation. I think it's just a continuation of the old situation.

ARGONAUT: Are there any students who are taking advantage of the situation?

McFarland: Yes, there are some students who are taking advantage of the situation. I think it's pretty obvious that there are some students who are simply less interested in the whole concept of a university.

ARGONAUT: Does the Regents (The University of Idaho Board of Regents) treat you as a student?

McFarland: I think they do. I think I'm the only one who they treat as a student. They have this whole thing about the Regents being spokesmen for the students, but I think that's just a lot of hot air. I think the Regents are just trying to make money. Look at the museums that are run by the university. They're not run by the students. They're run by people who need to make money.