What has at least 30 legs, moves like a snail, and screams and yells intermittently?

What else but the UI Freshmen girl who takes time out to celebrate her friends and her fellow students.

This annual parade will include theUI's biggest Homecoming united decoration to be held with unbridled exuberance of all sorts.

Parade begins at 9 a.m.

Homecoming the big event at UI this fall, as the usual parade of floats, bands, cheerleaders and students marches on campus and through the streets as annual homecoming festivities will be energized by the final competition that has been held in the preceding football game and week. Leading the parade will be a repaired ROTC marching band placed at the head of the parade followed by the UI parade's marching bands, Mr. and Mrs. Threlkeld, Jr., the four freshmen girls and the UI cheerleaders. The parade will conclude at 11:30 a.m. with the parade going through Main Street and onto University Avenue.

Fireworks and rally

After the parade Idaho spirit will be raised at the homecoming rally. There will be fireworks displays at the rally and the crowd, parade participants and other dignitaries will be entertained by a variety of musical groups and bands. The parade and the rally will also be featured in the Idaho's Talent Show at the SUB.

T.G.I.F. Talent Show

Idaho's talent will be on display at 6:30 p.m. in the T.G.I.F. Talent Show. There will be music, comedy, dance, magic and other forms of entertainment. There will also be a panel of judges to choose the winner of the talent show.

Vandals vs. Grizzlies

At 11 a.m., the 30th game between Idaho and Montana will be played in the Idaho Stadium. This year also marks the anniversary of 20 years of football in America.

Attorneys attend law institute

More than 90 attorneys from northern and central Illinois attended the Illinois Institute of Continuing Legal Education's fall institute in Bloomington last week. The institute was sponsored Monday by Albert B. Stock, chairman of the Institute of Continuing Legal Education.

Sponsored jointly by the Illinois State Bar Association and the University of Illinois College of Law, the conference will provide attorneys with a complete understanding of the Federal Income Taxation Code and the National Labor Relations Act.

The two-day meeting will focus on hearing leading authorities on corporate income tax, estate tax, sales and use tax, income tax on partnerships, the national labor relations act, and the tax consequences of employment termination.

The candidate is committed to improving the student life and ensuring that the students' needs are met. He is looking forward to the opportunity to be an active member of the Student Body and to work towards a better future for all students.
Education Complex will be completed by December

By Carl Huber

In a news conference last year that announced plans to build a new Education Complex at the University of Idaho, President Donald C. Heusen said he expected the building to be completed by December 1968. Now that the building is nearly complete, Heusen says that the opening will be delayed until January 1969.

The Education Complex, located on the corner of University and Main Streets, will house a number of departments and programs, including the College of Education, the College of Engineering, and the Department of Fine Arts.

Grad school enrollment increases three percent

By Carney Bessar

The Graduate School at the University of Idaho has seen a three percent increase in enrollment this year, compared to last year's 20 percent increase.

The increase is the result of a number of factors, including an increase in enrollment of graduate students from the state of Idaho, an increase in enrollment of graduate students from other states, and an increase in enrollment of graduate students from foreign countries.

Graduate students from Idaho have increased by 25 percent, while graduate students from other states have increased by 15 percent. Graduate students from foreign countries have increased by 50 percent.

Out-of-state

Unofficially, the number of graduate students from foreign countries is higher than that of graduate students from Idaho.

The Graduate School has increased its enrollment of graduate students from foreign countries by 50 percent, while the enrollment of graduate students from Idaho has increased by 25 percent.

Fifty-five of the 100 graduate students enrolled in the Graduate School this year are from foreign countries. The remaining 45 students are from Idaho, while 5 students are from other states.

The increase in enrollment of graduate students from foreign countries is due to the fact that the Graduate School has increased its efforts to recruit students from foreign countries.

Students who are interested in enrolling in the Graduate School should contact the Graduate School Office at the University of Idaho for more information.

1. What is it?
1. Make sure to have fully equipped.

2. What happened in your Tiger Mask this year?
I just couldn't identify with that, you know.

3. Tell us your personal about the student body.
They're fun to be around, big-hearted, good sports, plus they've got the best spirit.

5. What do you do when you're not on the court?
I just enjoy being around the people, socializing, and having a good time.

6. Do you think you might ever hold a press conference on campus?
Oh, I don't know, maybe if I get the chance.

7. What advice did you give to the incoming students?
Just have a lot of fun, enjoy the experience, and learn as much as you can.

Six major drama productions will be shown on Idaho campus this year

Drama — one short word, yet it represents an entire universe of interpretation and realization. And annually, students and faculty of this vast realm of the theater will be produced this season on the Idaho campus. Its major shows will be produced by Idaho drama faculty, personnel, and students.

What's your pleasure? Popular comic opera in the fall of this year will be produced by Dr. Shires. We are sure you’ll enjoy the manner and mannerisms, such as those found in "Hedda Gabler," the second show due, at the close of the end of this month.

Visitors yearning for the thrill of this season should satisfy their appetites in September with the Idaho Drama Guild's 'Barefoot in the Park.' The show is the story of a young married couple and their problems of settling in a new apartment. The theatre will be opened each weekend with seven performances. "Barefoot in the Park" will be performed at 8 p.m. each evening in the SHS Auditorium.

The second annual Target Theater production will be "The Glass Menagerie," which will be performed in the fall. The theatre will be opened each weekend with 8 p.m. performances. "The Glass Menagerie" will be performed in the SHS Auditorium.

Drama's Hedda Gabler will compete in national contest with other plays.

When director Forrest Sears picked the play "Hedda Gabler" for the drama's fall production, he had more in mind than "produce another show for the campus." The show, when right down right, can be called "produced and then discarded." It is a deep play — involving the inner conflicts of a internationally driven wife. It is a show that will be performed in the production of plays a dominant role in the students' lives and her life's work.

The decision to change the play was not the hardest thing that the producer of student productions is known to do. It is a decision to perform in the national competition. American Educational Theater Association (AETA) of which all major colleges and universities are members has organized a national student theater. This is the first year of a hopefully annual event.

The top plays, selected from those entries in the nation, will be shown at black "Cats" where they will play for a week or during the week in either the Ford Theater or the Eisenhower building.

Hedda Gabler, a classic play by Henrik Ibsen, will be performed at the University Auditorium on November 11, 1911, at 8 p.m. in honor of the Theatre's 10th anniversary. The production is directed by Forrest Sears, the show will be performed in the AD Auditorium.

The production will feature experimental film and experimental hilarious. It is not sure for the year's show. The designer for this year's show should keep the campus cued with both social and dramatic realities. Another big for your year's drama.

Museum is good study source

By Bill Cayles

The University Museum is one of the best-kept secrets on campus and could be a valuable asset to any student majoring in art, history, philosophy, or science. It houses the original collections of the University, which are used to support the study of various aspects of the humanities. The museum is located on the second floor of the building and is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Utah Symphony makes first U of I showing

By Mike Smith

The Utah Symphony, a regional orchestra serving the Inter-Mountain West, will appear for the first time at Utah Valley University, October 15, in the Memorial Gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Tickets for the performance are on sale at the UCC on the campus of Utah Valley University and through Ticketmaster. Tickets for the symphony, Orchestra, and Choral Concerts are on sale at the University of Utah and through Ticketmaster.

The symphony will be conducted by Michael Gershman, and the program will feature a variety of classical and contemporary works.

The evening will feature Symphony in D, the "Ode to Joy," and "The Yellow Submarine," an international piece by the Danish composer Smetena, and also on the program will be the "Mozart" Symphony, a favorite piece by the University's Symphony Orchestra.

The orchestra will perform at the University of Utah and in the Salt Lake Symphony Center. The program will focus on the works of Smetena, a favorite piece by the University's Symphony Orchestra.
